

Cold May . . .

Wind brings winter coats out of proverbial mothballs

We will all be "Gone With the Wind" if some of the breezes don't subside—many of the students looked as if they were just about ready to take off—and we may add—many winter coats were pulled out of the moth balls. Kappa Sigma Hoffman looked for hers—in vain—and finally ventured forth in one of her sisters, which was a bit on the "too big" side. The "Presidential Special" arrived last night too—with Gracie and her kangaroo.

INITIATION

was held at the Phi Delta Theta house the other night and the new sword and shield wearers are Joe Ryan, Jim Falloon and Charlie Harris.

ANOTHER DIAMOND

is sparkling and it is that of Alpha Chi Katherine Bullock who passed the candy with Bill McConnell. The Sig Eps wandered out too—for they received the stogies from Clint Jurgenson and Fay Irwin.

MANY ARE

wondering about the Sig Alpha pin that Marion Jones was wearing yesterday. The Sig Alphas are very much "in the dark" but some say—'tis from a lad—far-far-away.

AND STILL

the steady twosomes fall into line. The newest—but almost accepted is that of DU Bill Niehus and Theta Louise Leffler. Another very happy couple is Bill Sample, Phi Psi, and Kappa Betty Burgess who have waited so long and are now just "Two Alone." A new pinning is revealed to, and it is that of Tri Delt Ann Krause and Sig Alph Ray Timbers.

THE GALS

will get together—the Thetas and Alpha Phis—for an exchange dinner tomorrow night.

Round Up --

classes who hold reunions every year.

To honor past presidents.

A special table at the reunion luncheon will be reserved honoring past presidents and secretaries of the Alumni association. A large number of these are expected to return.

Colleges celebrating birthdays are the physical education department for women and the college of business administration. The physical education department will celebrate the 40th anniversary of the first degree conferred upon a woman graduate. The bizad college will celebrate its 21st birthday.

Getting under way with the alumni-faculty reunion luncheon Saturday noon at 12:30, the Round Up will be officially concluded Monday, June 10. The Board of Trustees of the University Foundation and other groups will meet after Commencement however.

260 alumni receive uni handbooks

Publication explains purposes, activities of local groups, office

Recently published and distributed by the Alumni association of the university were 260 handbooks for local alumni clubs. These booklets were given to various groups, including the Regents, alumni club officers, and the board of trustees.

The publication is a complete handbook for alumni clubs in regard to operations in co-ordination with the Alumni office and the university. It is intended to aid local clubs, give an exposition of the association's service, and give practical suggestions concerning meetings and purposes of alumni organizations.

Six divisions.

The information is given under six divisions, namely, a short survey, the alumni secretary, the local club, local club meetings, suggested entertainment, and officers and elections.

Explaining the need of local clubs, the book explains "It is generally recognized that the local organization enables the university to reach the alumni most readily and to obtain an effective expression of opinion.

For college students Varsity captures national interest

"Varsity," the college news magazine, a fortnightly-published and nationally-circulated magazine that is growing to be to the "college-ientsia" of the nation what "Time" is to the rest of news-interested folk of the country, hit the stands this week in a flurry of campus news, photographs and features of nation-wide coverage.

Patterning itself on a format similar to that of "Time" and using a style of make-up and type that literally screams "news" from its pages, the newly-born mag has gotten off to a whizz of a start with an amassment of departments such as Campus Headlines, On Athletic Fronts, Radio, Aviation, and Fashion in its fourth issue, which came out May 13.

Established feature.

Established feature of "Varsity" is its "Event of the Fortnight," and in this issue Varsity goes to the Derby with camera and film and returns to bring us shots of lots of fellows and coeds from several eastern schools who were watching and wagering at the annual Kentucky Derby at Louisville.

Of interest to the clothes-conscious coed will be the four-page section of fashion plates, photos, and articles showing off the newest in spring formals and "Bare Knees at the Barbecue Pits," a snappily-written and pictured expose on gals' shorts.

Readers have an opportunity to tear down, to compliment, to criticize, to suggest to, and to generally comment on the periodical to the editor in the Letters section. The theater, men's fashions, travel, coaches, corner, and Feed-box cover other items of news and collegiate goings-on.

With the snappy, spurdy start of this magazine it appears to us that it cannot help but meet with the appreciation and interest of "Betty's" and "Joes" from coast to coast and from Canada to Gulf,
