

The DAILY NEBRASKAN

By June Bierbower.

Following is an interesting, if not quite accurate item gleaned out of an advance story on the Nebraska-Oklahoma baseball series from the Oklahoma Daily.

"Herman 'Roaring' Rohrig, heavy Nebraska back who proved to be a sensation when the Huskers' gridiron team beat the Sooners, 13 to 7, in the fall, is on the team. Rohrig will probably be in the outfield when the game gets under way. His hitting, according to advance reports, is something short of terrific.

Maybe Hermie is that famous tenth man, or fifth column the baseball team has not been sporting this year.

With two exceptions, every Big Ten track and field record is better than corresponding Big Six marks . . . that one really legal exception is the half mile . . . both records are 1:52.2. . . Glenn Cunningham set the record for KU in 1933; Charley Beetham did it for Ohio State four years later. . . the other exception is in the hundred. . . Hubert Meier, of Iowa State, ran the distance in 9.4 seconds as a veritable gale pushed him down the straightaway. . . there the record has remained despite its unfairness. . . Jesse Owens' mark set in 1935 is also 9.4 seconds.

Owens, one bright sunny day in '35, set three other records. . . he ran the 220 in :20.3; the 220 lows in :22.6, and broad jumped 26 feet 8 1/4 inches in the greatest record breaking performance ever seen in one day. . . Roland Locke's 220 mark in the Big Six made around a half-curve is :20.7 . . . and George Koettel's new full-curve mark is :21.3. . . Welch of Missouri did :23.3 in the lows around a half-curve ten years ago. . . Heye Lambertus' mark around a full-curve is one-tenth second slower. . . oldest record in the Big Ten books is held by Dismond, who ran the 440 in :47.4 for Chicago back in 1916. . . Bob Simmons' Big Six mark is :47.7. . . Don Lash turned the mile in 4:10.8 in 1936 for Indiana. . . that is better than Cunningham's 4:14.3 . . . two-mile marks are 9:10.4 in the Big Ten set by Wisconsin's Mehl in 1938, and 9:29.9 held by Charley Mitchell of K-State and Ray Harris of KU in the Big Six. . .

Baseball team faces strong Colorado in last two games

Dark Horse wins barb softball

Juggernauts bow 10-3 to champs as Essman pitches win

Dark Horse club won the 1940 barb softball championship last night, as they took the final game from Juggernauts, 10-3.

The winners had an easy time all the way through, scoring one each in the second and third, adding three-run rallies in the fourth and fifth, and topping it off with two in the seventh.

Pitcher Ray Essman planked the losers until the sixth, when Bergen and McClure crossed the plate. Nelson scored the only other Juggernaut run in the seventh. Losing battery was Lynch and Schoening.

Here's what Bettie wears in Galesburg

Travelling in a blue and pink tweed three piece suit was Bettie Cox when she left Sunday for Galesburg, Ill., to see the world premiere of "Those Were the Days" and to vie for a trip to Hollywood and a screen test as one of the 12 women chosen in the Radio and Movie Guide magazine's All-American College Queen contest.

She will carry a black patent leather purse, and wear a black sport hat and black and white spectator pumps. Another feature of her wardrobe for the trip is a brown and white dotted silk frock for afternoon, from Ben Simon's. With it she will wear a white straw hat with brown ribbon trim and brown and white "pug-nosed" spectators.

For evening, Bettie will wear a blue chiffon formal with a very full skirt, complemented by gold sandals and white gloves. In Galesburg, she will also wear a blue and brown striped silk jersey sport dress with long, full sleeves.

"American Civilization" is the title of a new major field for study at Wreton college, Norton, Mass.

After a week end of playing baseball in fast company, Nebraska will take on another team that is also going strong come Friday and Saturday.

Oklahoma took the Huskers into camp in two games by scores of 9 to 0 and 5 to 2. On Thursday, the Scarlet dropped a game to the Oklahoma Aggies in an evening battle.

The Sooners annexed the Big Six title in baseball by virtue of the double wins over Nebraska and have only one defeat to mar their season record, that a loss to Missouri.

Colorado will be the Husker foe this week end. It is really out of the frying pan into the fire. With Oklahoma one of the best teams in the south now a memory, the Buffalos appear with an undefeated slate in eight games.

Big 7 champs.

The Buffs are Big 7 champs in the Rocky Mountain area. Last Saturday, Colorado slammed out 16 hits in winning 11 to 6 over Wyoming. The Buffalos starting pitcher was driven to the showers in the fifth, but an able relief hurler came in to stem the tide started by Wyoming.

Paul McClung, cleanup hitter, won the ball game for the Buffs with a homer that cleared the right field with room to spare. Irwin Hendler, however, led the hitting with four safeties in six trips.

From the trip in Oklahoma, the pitching of Sid Held stood out in the series finale Saturday. Sid limited the Sooners to seven hits but his teammates could not score over two runs off the fine Oklahoma pitching.

Maps—

the general map of Europe. Dr. Van Royen was the able supervisor, having lived in Holland for many years. The sketch shows political boundaries, major escarpments, highland areas, fortified centers, fortified belts, secondary fortified belts, zones of potential destruction, first water line (of the Lowlands), and potential water lines. These features are shown in many different colors so as to be easily distinguishable.

Troop positions of the allies are illustrated with green arrows, and German positions by black arrows. With the geographical conditions given, the reason for nazi attacks occurring where they do is easily discerned, and speculation can be made with some reason.

Dr. Bengtson cited the motive for the map was to encourage students to keep abreast of the news, and to help them see what is going on.

Valley, Big Six champions meet as A and M faces NU

Nebraska's Huskers finish the outdoor track season here Saturday, as the Oklahoma Aggies, fresh from winning the Missouri Valley championship invade Lincoln.

The Oklahoma team is not particularly well-balanced, but is strong in certain events. Starring as they won their title in a veritable deluge were Herschel Burrus, Forrest Efav and Don Boldston, the high jumping sports writer.

Burrus won the 440 in :50.2, was second in the half mile, and fourth in the 880. Patillo of the Aggies was fourth in the half mile. Efav, one of the section's greatest runners, won both the mile and two mile, turning in a fine time of 4:29.5 in the mile, when weather conditions are considered.

Contractors give $100 scholarship

Nebraska Building chapter of the Associated General Contractors of America is offering for the first time a $100 scholarship to juniors and seniors in the department of architecture.

The scholarship, to be offered annually, will be given on the basis of high record and financial need. The winner will be chosen on work samples, references, and information with regard to financial need. Eligible students are invited to apply at Prof. L. B. Smith's office in the Temple.

Veazey, and Bowles of the same team placed third and fourth in that event.

Munn good hurdler.

Hurdler Munn had a better time than Bill Smutz as he won the 120 high hurdle race in :15.1. Smutz won here in :15.3. Best man in the sprints for the Aggies is Akers, who placed in both dashes. Metcalf, in addition, was third in the hundred.

Nebraska has a great advantage in field events, though. Harold Hunt went nearly a foot higher than Stewart as both won the pole vault, while Nebraska's javelin, shot and discus men are far ahead of the Aggies.

In a four-way comparison between the Ivy League, Southeastern Conference, Big Six and Missouri Valley conference meets, the final results show those teams finishing in that order in all-around computations. However, bad weather handicapped the last two meets.

Records lead.

The three new records set here were the only marks to lead all other conference meet performances. Herb Grote's javelin mark of 216-4; Ed Wibbels' heave of 160-5 1/2 in the discus, and Sooner George Goettel's :21.3 in the 220 were best made in the four meets.

Next best marks made here were Elmer Hackney's 51-1 1/2 in the shot, and the pole vault effort of 13-5 1/2 made by the Huskers' Harold Hunt, and Missouri's Dick Higgins.
