Summer session registration begins today

893 graduates get degrees at commencement Monday

Traditional commencement exercises yesterday morning saw 905 degrees conferred upon 893 persons in the largest degree presentation in the history of the university. Never before has the number exceeded 900. Seventy-three certificates also were presented.

Prepared by the baccalaureate sermon given Sunday in the coliseum by Dr. Albert W. Palmer, president of Chicago Theological seminary, who spoke of "Facing a Stormy Dawn," degree recipients, faculty and administrative guests assembled at 9:45 yesterday morning near Pharmacy hall, marched in solemn procession to the coliseum to receive pigskins and hear Dr. Clarence A. Dykstra, president of the University of Wisconsin, deliver the commencement address on "This Freedom of Ours."

669 Bachelors.

Of the 905 degrees, 669 were Bachelor of Arts, 58 were Master of Arts, and 14 were Doctor of Philosophy degrees. Medicine degrees numbered 76. Sixteen Doctor of Dental Surgery degrees were presented, 45 LL.B.'s and one professional degree of Mechanical Engineer.

In the commencement address, Dr. Dykstra discussed America's chances for saving democracy, called for a spirit of good will as well as faith in democratic principles.

"For the moment it may appear that democracies are on the defensive everywhere in the modern world," said the university president. "Many believe that they are on the run, and that the power (See COMMENCEMENT, page 2.)

Phys ed women hold 40th anniversary meet

Demonstrations, exhibits, dinners and roundtables featured the 40th anniversary celebration of the department of physical education for women Friday and Saturday. The affair commemorated the granting of the first degree to a woman with a major in physical education.

Mrs. A. M. Robinson of Seattle, Wash., class of 1900, who was the first woman to graduate from an American college with a major in physical education, was the department's guest of honor. Another honor guest was Mrs. Fred Williams of Lincoln, also of the class of 1900, who was one of the department's first majors. She presided at the Friday noon luncheon and told the early history of the department at the banquet Saturday evening.

Two-day program.

The two-day program was arranged by Miss Mabel Lee, chairman of the department. Friday's demonstration started sports and corrective gymnastics, and the evening program featured square dancing and a historical skit, "Physical Education, Yesterday and Today," in which costumes of the various periods of the dance were shown.

Membership in cooled Union open to faculty

Managing Director of the Student Union Kenneth Van Sant announced yesterday the opening of special summer session membership to all members of the instructional staff.

Membership cards, carrying all the privileges of the air-conditioned Union's faculty dining rooms, private dining facilities, faculty lounge and committee rooms, may be obtained at the Union desk or by sending a check. Fee for the summer short session is $1, for the long session, $1.50.

Regents split departments; pick faculty

Philosophy, psychology separated; Lancaster given leave of absence

Instruction in psychology and philosophy will be given in separate departments beginning September, 1940, as the result of action by the Board of Regents which met Saturday. The board also approved leaves of absences, made 12 new appointments to the university faculty.

Dr. Arthur Freeman Jenness, associate professor of psychology and special adviser to freshmen, member of the university faculty since 1931, was placed by the regents in the chairmanship of the new department of psychology, effective July 1. Dr. E. L. Hinman continues as chairman of the department of philosophy.

Faculty members who will comprise the department of psychology in September are assistant professors W. E. Walton and D. W. Dysinger, and instructors W. S. Gregory and R. W. Russell. Dr. J. P. Guilford, professor of psychology and director of the bureau of instructional research, will go to the University of Southern California in July as professor of psychology. H. M. Cox, assistant in the bureau, has been named director in place of Dr. Guilford.

Lancaster leaves.

Dr. Lane Lancaster, professor of political science and for the last year chairman of the department, was granted leave for a year. Dr. Lancaster will become visiting professor of political science at Northwestern University in the fall, after teaching in the summer session there this year. Dr. Harold W. Stoke, dean of the graduate college, will be acting chairman of the department.

The new faculty appointments range from assistant instructor to associate professor. Graduate as-

All-state high school music course opens

Instruction, recreation, recitals feature 'camp' here June 12 to July 3

Students in three states have registered for the all-state high school music course sponsored by the university summer school starting tomorrow and continuing until July 3, according to Dr. A. E. Westbrook, director of the school of fine arts. Registrations will be accepted today and up to the opening of classes tomorrow.

Eighteen well-known Nebraska musicians are numbered on the 1940 staff, five of whom are guest instructors. The summer camp is being offered to Nebraska high school students after an interim of two years. A complete instruction (See MUSIC CAMP, page 2.)

Registration for the university's 1940 summer session begins today at 1 p. m. in the coliseum, for both the short session, lasting until July 19, and the long session, which closes August 9.

Students may register until 5 today, and tomorrow from 8 to 12 and 2 to 5. An additional fee of $3 will be charged students registering after the regular registration days and a fee of $1 for each additional week after classes begin Thursday.

Graduate students may register until June 15 without additional charge. No registrations will be accepted after June 20.

Moritz directs.

Under the direction of R. D. Moritz, the 1940 summer session brings 16 visiting professors and instructors to the campus, including Kenneth Bjork, professor of history at St. Olaf college in Minnesota and R. Taylor Cole, political scientist from Duke university.

Students will be permitted to select courses from both long and short session. The maximum number of hours for which one may register is 18 recitation hours per week, three hours of laboratory being equivalent to one recitation hour. Exceptions will be made only by permission of Director of the Summer Session Moritz.

Plan summer music groups

Wishnow, Westbrook lead orchestra, chorus

Summer session students this year for the first time will have the opportunity of playing and singing in a new summer school orchestra and chorus.

Emanuel Wishnow of the music faculty will conduct both the orchestra for adult summer students and the all-state high school ensemble, and Director A. E. Westbrook of the school of fine arts will be in charge of choral groups for both sessions.

Students interested in playing in the adult summer orchestra may receive one hour credit if they choose. Rehearsals will be held Monday thru Friday in the Temple. Any student, whether or not registered in music, is invited to participate in both the chorus and orchestra.

Westbrook plans a choral presentation of Haydn's "Creation," which, as well as the orchestra concerts under Violinist Wishnow, will be open to the public.

Students interested in the chorus and orchestra are required to see Miss Elizabeth Tierney, music adviser, during registration in the coliseum today and tomorrow. First rehearsal of the chorus will be held Thursday at 5 p. m. in Room 315 of the Union.

Advisers notice!

The attention of advisers is called to the following changes in the summer session bulletin: Economics 3 is open to all students, not restricted to freshmen.

English 227 is not prerequisite to 228.

Lab schedule for Botany 1 will be Monday, Wednesday 2-5. Education 52 will be taught by Bryan and Darlington in place of Buckhardt.

The Weather.

Predictions for today indicate a fair sky and rising temperature.
