Class of '44 to take Cornhusker Oath at 11

For the first time in four years a grand march will precede the taking of the Cornhusker Oath by the freshman class in the coliseum today at 11 a. m. When the frosh assemble at the Temple, the Tassels, the Corn Cobs and the freshman band will be there to lead them in the grand procession. The famous Victory Bell of Nebraska tradition will sound the cadence.

Dean Thompson announced yesterday no classes will be dismissed for the freshman convocation, because there are no freshman classes scheduled for Monday, Wednesday, or Friday at 11, and upper classmen do not attend the convocation. In the event that any freshman does have a class at 11 a. m. today—laboratory periods, or the like—he is to be excused by his instructor.

All Corn Cobs and Tassels, and Freshman band members will assemble at the Temple at 10:30 a. m. today to take part in the freshman parade and convocation.

Solemn occasion.

The taking of the oath is a traditionally solemn occasion, wherein the entering students each swear that they recognize their obligation to parents, state, and school for making their attendance here possible; that they will try to maintain good scholastic averages and to make good social contacts; that they will organize their time well enough to include studies, activities, and rest; and that they will be loyal to the university, and its traditions to the faculty, and to the administration.

Ralph Worden, newly elected yell king, will lead the pep sections. Down past social science hall, past the pharmacy building, by the former museum, past Nebraska hall, past Avery lab, and Bessey hall, the class of '44 will march, ending at the coliseum where it will be greeted by administration and faculty officers.

Frankforter gives oath.

Chancellor Boucher, Dean T. J. Thompson, Dean Helen M. Hosp, Coach "Biff" Jones, and Mortar Board president Patricia Sternberg will each address the frosh. Colonel Frankforter will give the Cornhusker oath, and the program (See CONVO on page 2.)

Counselors board fills two vacancies

Betty Pierce, Irene Hollenbeck replace Pris Chain, Jane De La Tour

Coed Counselors welcomed Betty Pierce and Irene Hollenbeck as new board members at the meeting of the group Monday night at Ellen Smith hall.

Made an honorary member was Pris Chain who has become inactive on account of illness. Miss Hollenbeck will assume her duties. Miss Pierce replaces DeLaTour who has accepted a teaching position.

The two new members are now "Big Sisters" and will be counselors to 15 or 20 freshman girls, "Little sisters."

In last spring's election, Miss Pierce and Miss Hollenbeck ran 13th and 14th in the race for the 12 board positions.

Student Willkie boosters to meet in Union Friday

National politics having already been brought to the campus thru the organization of a Roosevelt boosters club, the pro-Willkie students thru their college representative for Nebraska, Betty McGeachin, say they'll bring both sides of the national political argument here at the first uni-Willkie-for-president club meeting Friday at 5 p. m. in the Union. This meeting is not that of a young republican club. It is a Willkie club. Democrats, republicans, anti-third term-ites, everyone is invited. There will be no membership fee. All students are invited.

Youth Foundation director to be here for church week

Warmingham to address Christian leadership group at conference sessions; students may attend

Sale of seats for football starts Monday

Sale of 6,000 reserved seats starts Monday morning at 8 o'clock. Student activity books may be bought in the coliseum at the office of John K. Selleck, athletic business manager.

Norman Harris, editor of the DAILY, will make the drawings for reserved seats immediately after the close of the drive. These will be distributed Wednesday, one week from today. The 6,000 seats are in the first 30 rows of the east stadium between the 20 yard lines.

Students may turn in their money for activity books until 5 p. m. Monday and between 8 a. m. and 1 p. m. Tuesday.

Price of student tickets is $5, and for the general public $10. The tickets admit the holder to all home football and basketball games, track meets, baseball games, wrestling and swimming meets.

Day to head democrats

Interest in national politics took a definite upswing on the campus last night as 40 young democrats met in the Union, founded the University Democratic club, elected officers and made plans for activity during the next month and a half.

Heading the group will be Frank Day, a law school junior, as president. Other officers of the organization are Leo Turkel, Jane Lynn, and Chris Petersen.

Nationally affiliated.

The club bears the authorization of the national and state democratic committees, and is affiliated with the National University and College Democratic clubs.

Bringing the club to this campus was Robert Flory, law school junior, who has been appointed by the democratic committee, as organizer of groups on every campus in the state.

The club will meet every Tuesday evening at 7:30 in the Union. There are no age or sex limitations. All students in the university interested in the democrat party are urged to attend coming meetings.

The weather

According to the weatherman it will continue to be almost topcoat time for his report reads "generally fair and continued cooler for today."

Alfson is nation's best lineman--'Look'

Alfson, Hopp Rohrig named All-Americans

"Nebraska is tipped to win the Big Six title with one of its greatest teams in history," writes sports columnist George Kirksey in the Oct. 8 issue of Look magazine. For the football season of 1940, proclaimed to be the most thrilling football year of the decade, Nebraska is rated as one of the best bets for the first ten teams of the nation and is named as one of the "teams to watch."

Warren Alfson, Nebraska "rock-em-and-sock-em guard," comes into double honors in Kirksey's forecast. He is selected as the lineman of the year and is also starred as a member of the September All-American team. Alfson, who may be remembered as Awgwan "beauty queen" a couple of years back, is also named with Herman Rohrig and Harry Hopp as sure All-American candidates.

In another portion of the forecast, Kirksey names the Iowa-Nebraska game at Lincoln on Nov. 9 as one of the 11 best games to be played in the country this season.

Students will pick records for music set

Union will post list
so listeners may vote
for favorite pieces

Students interested in music will have an opportunity to have a voice in the selecting of new records for the Carnegie music set, Pat Lahr, Union social director, announced today. A classified list of possible purchases for the set will be posted in the music room and will also be printed in the DAILY. Students are asked to leave their vote in the music room, indicating the records they would like to hear on the Carnegie set.

Room open during definite hours.

The music room, which was completed late this spring, will have regularly scheduled hours when it will be open for student use. New features this year will be the harmony hours with student commentators, and a definite schedule for the playing of long symphonies and operas. The Harmony Hours will be held on Thursday evenings at 7:30. When the winter season for the broadcasts of symphonies and operas begin, the music room will be open so that the broadcasts may be heard on the radio there.

Following are the scheduled hours for the music room: 12 noon to 1 p. m., Monday, Wednesday, Friday; 5:30 p. m., Monday through Friday; 7:30 p. m. Monday through Thursday; 3 p. m. Saturday; and 7:30 p. m. Sunday.

'N' book is on sale now

Today and tomorrow, copies of the "N" book, handbook of campus organizations, personalities, and traditions, published annually by the YMCA and the YWCA, will be on sale in the Union lobby. Freshmen may purchase their copies at five cents each; upperclassmen may purchase books for 25 cents.

I-F Council hears committee plan

Members of the Interfraternity Council met last night to hear President Horn outline the Council committee plan for the coming year and discussed rushing violations.

A social committee will replace the Interfraternity Ball committee under the new plan and rushing rules will be in the hands of a new rushing committee. Also included in the plan is a publicity committee. Members of the committees will be named at the next meeting of the Council.

Pub board plans meeting to decide fate of Awgwan

The publications board meets this week to determine the fate of the Awgwan, campus monthly humor magazine. Sigma Delta Chi, national journalism honorary, has been working the entire summer on a reorganization program.

If the reorganization proposal is approved by the publications board, Sigma Delta Chi predicts an unusual type of publication for the coming year. Details of the new magazine will be released later. Subscriptions are now on sale at the Awgwan office in the Union.

garet Krause, speaking for the AWS, "urges all women to attend the addresses."

Miss MacGibbon, an energetic Californian, has been confidential secretary, an automobile editor, and an advertising manager.

Having observed business from both the inner and outer office she set out to advise women on how to get on in the business world. She lectures, writes a syndicated column, and tours the country presenting edifying playlets in big department stores.

Cobs will hold rush smoker this evening

All men students, excluding freshmen and seniors, are eligible for membership in the Corn Cobs, men's pep organization, and are invited to their first smoker of the year to be held in parlor X of the Student Union at 7:30 tonight, Gerald Spahn, president of the club, announced yesterday.

The smoker is to be held for the purpose of pledging sophomore and junior men students and to acquaint them with the activities of the organization.

Corn Cobs is a non-political organization of 16 students chosen from a pledge list of more than 50 juniors and sophomores. Members are chosen according to their record of participation in Corn Cob activities. Colonel C. J. Frankforter, faculty sponsor of Corn Cobs, will be guest speaker at the meeting.

Bingham to speak at YM meeting

Professor L. A. Bingham of the engineering college and member of the university YMCA faculty advisory board will speak on "Why I Came to College" at the first meeting of the campus YM organization tonight at 7:15.

The meeting is the first of a series of Wednesday evening meetings designed to acquaint freshman students and to enable them to become better acquainted.
