Draft-

(Continued from page 1.) present himself for and submit to registration at such time and place or places, and in such manner and in such age group or groups, as shall be determined by rules and regulations prescribed...

Some are exempt. It should be pointed out that all (except "cadets of the advanced course, senior division, Reserve Officers' Training Corps or Naval Reserve Officers' Training Corps") are required to register but may not be required to report for duty should they be called in connection with the drafting of men for training, during the academic year 1940-41. Section 5 (f) provides that deferment of induction for such training and service may be granted until the end of the present academic year but is no event later than July 1, 1941.

The act, furthermore, provides that deferment is provided on the basis of dependents, physical, mental, or moral deficiency and for "those men whose employment in industry, agriculture, or other occupations or employment, or whose activity in other endeavors, is found to be necessary to the maintenance of the national health, safety, or interest."

Any person between the ages of 18 and 36 shall be afforded an opportunity to volunteer for the period of training and service (12 months) prescribed in this Act. Foreign students (male aliens) must register, but only those who have declared their intention to become citizens are eligible for service.

Ministers must register.

"Ministers of religion, and students who are preparing for the ministry in theological or divinity schools shall be exempt from training and service (but not from registration) under this act.

Any person "who, by reason of religious training and belief, is conscientiously opposed to participation in war in any form" is not required, subject to approval of his claim, to be subject to combatant service but is subject either to non-combatant service or to "work of national importance under civilian direction."

The date of registration is set for Wednesday, Oct. 16. Polling places will be located conveniently on both the downtown and agricultural college campuses and will be open from 7 in the morning until 6 in the evening except that a registration polling place to be set up in the student union building and in the student activities building on the agricultural college campus will continue to be open until 9 p. m.

Elsewhere in this issue of the DAILY is reproduced a copy of the registration card which must be filled out, so that registrants may study in advance each of the items.

Dr. Rosenlof, also director of admissions and university examiner, has been sworn in as chief registrar for all polling places to be set up on the Nebraska campuses. He will be assisted by both students and faculty members. Each person is sworn in for the duration of this period of registration and will be required to verify to the best of his knowledge the truthfulness of the answers given by all registrants.

Scrap Irony

LEERS AFTER FEARS It is our sincere desire to journey by way of mind into that strange land which borders on insanity, see what's there and then manage to return. Speculation on the matter brings forth "Leers After Fears."

The jungle was calm by the light of the moon; five hundred green lice and a yellow baboon sat combing their hair and sat sitting and sitting and sitting. Yes, the jungle by night was a quiet old place till an obscene abstraction named Mungus adjusted his frame to the fungus...

This fungus, you see, had long loved a toad that lived in the swamp by the ChenkiO-fuh Road. and it's quite an distraction to meet an abstraction when you're loved by and love, above all others, a passionate toad on the ChenkiO-fuh Road.

So the fungus was griped and who could blame her when Mungus attempted to frame her. Her honor more dear than the peace of the jungle for honor's most important to growths that are fungal "Attack, arson, murder, and help" she bawled, quite galled, and the fiend who had mauled her escaped in a bustle and flurry to catch the last train for Pondicerny (wherever in hell that is).

Once more was the quiet supreme—The fungus just sighed and went back to her knitting: the moon, the baboon, and the lice that were green sat sitting—and sitting—and sitting.

Peace council meets tomorrow

Conscientious objectors, interested in the probable effects of the draft law upon themselves, will be able to get information on their status at a special meeting of the Nebraska Peace council, Monday at 7:30 p. m. at the Vine Congregational church.

Schultz gave four talks on museum last week

C. Bertrand Schultz, assistant head of the museum, completed his fourth speech this week on Thursday night before the Boy Scout Court of Honor. He lectured at the Second Baptist church Sunday, at the University of Omaha Monday and before the Lyons club Thursday noon. Museum work was the general topic of each speech, and he showed colored movies of the museum's field work in western Nebraska to illustrate them.

Run, walk, fly, but get there!

Nebraska's Cornhuskers come home this morning. If the time right now, while you're reading this, is before the arrival of the train from Minneapolis, it would be a fine gesture to run, ride, walk, or fly to the depot and greet the major and his 36 boys who upheld the Cornhusker spirit in Minnesota yesterday.

No, we didn't win. When we do, we're happy and grateful, and when we don't we're sad. But the Jones boys did their best, we're certain. That's all we ask of them no matter who or where they play.

Cornhusker spirit never demands that we win every game. Cornhusker sportsmanship prevails whether we win, lose, or draw. We're proud of the team, we're proud of the game they played yesterday. Let's show them that by giving them as rousing and enthusiastic a welcome this morning as the one we'd give them had they won.

New photo service supplies faculty with costly equipment

Photography has emerged in an important role on the campus since the advent of a new visual education service in operation since July 1. Supplying photographic equipment for use in supplementing needs of teachers, the new service occupies newly built quarters under west stadium. Newest and most expensive purchase is photomicrographic equipment for enlarging slide specimens up to 2,500 times.

Faculty members are encouraged to use photography in every possible way. Already ordered are accessories for photography by ultra-violet and polarized light. Several high grade cameras, miniature and larger, are available to the faculty at a small rental.

Appoints board. Chancellor Boucher appointed a board of visual education to set up policies for the service. Dr. K. O. Broady is chairman and Prof. R. F. Morgan executive secretary.

Other members are Dr. E. A. Gilmore, Dr. H. W. Manter, Prof. L. B. Smith, and Dr. R. W. Frantz.

Professor Morgan, director of the service, began his photographic work in aviation during the World war. He has had pictures displayed in salons all over the world.

In the service's quarters are rooms for developing, printing, and enlarging negatives.

Service is useful.

Ways in which instructors can use the service include photostat copies of classroom material and enlargements and reductions of charts and maps. Colored lantern slides and projectors are furnished by the department.

The service is equipped for individual portrait work and group photographs. As many as 50 can be included in a picture. Indirect lighting is used.

Any instructor who wants instruction in the use of cameras will be assisted by the service.

Flying school is part of air corps

Under the supervision of Capt. L. F. Wykert, the Lincoln Airplane and Flying School will become a division, in part of the Army Air Corps Mechanics school and will soon be training 100 enlisted men to be special mechanics in Uncle Sam's army.

Tomorrow 20 men will report to begin their schooling and every other week after that a similar number will report until the personnel reaches 100 men. Each man will receive a 24 week training period.

This special school is one of 14 soon to be in operation. The nearest school is at Kansas City, while the closest western school is at Oakland, Calif. These schools were established because government schools could not fill the demand for army mechanics.
