If this corner's hunch is right, the air over Memorial stadium on Saturday will be filled with flying footballs. . . Minnesota scored its winning touchdown against the Huskers via the ozone last week. . . in Bloomington, Ind., last Saturday, the Hoosiers threw 35 passes against Texas, completing 19 of the tosses for gains totaling 234 yards. . . If that can be any indication of the type of game Indiana will play on Saturday, then the Huskers are going to have to work overtime to halt the aerial barrage. . .

Hurlin' Hal Hursh is one of the greatest passers in the Big Ten and even rivals Pitchin' Paul Christman of Missouri when it comes to flinging the pigskin. . . The Hoosier ends are sticky-fingered and will bear plenty of secondary watching on the part of the Huskers. . .

There's a 14 year old fullback out Kearney high way by the name of Wayne Sands. . . This is his second season as first string line blaster. . . He weighs 172 pounds and also stars in defensive play. . . Not bad for a young'n, eh? . . .

At San Antonio, Tex., Sunday, St. Mary's college of Texas romped over the 23rd Infantry from San Houston by a 100-0 score. . . The counting catch was that the scoreboard went out of commission. . . The board stops registering at 99. . .

There were seven promising Husker sophomores that saw service with the Gophers Saturday. . . Ralph Whitehead, Allen Zikmund, Willard Bunker, Howard Kelly, Butch Wertman, Vic Schleich and Wayne Blue all were Scarlet-clad beginners. . .

Kansas State gridders took an "ideal" girl poll and brunettes were the choice for first place. . . Blondes (footballers didn't prefer them) were second, while only three Wildcats chose redheads. . .

A week from Wednesday marks the day when the Kansas State basketballers will begin their fall practice. . . The Huskers? . . . Well, you tell us. . .

Nebraska isn't the only team lacking in veteran ends. . . Last year Missouri had the Orf twins, Blaine Currence and Ronnie King. . . They are gone. . . Oklahoma had All-American Frank Ivy and Johnny Shirk. . . They, too, have graduated. . . King, however, died from a tooth infection last summer. . .

Pigskin briefs: There was a drop of 25 per cent in football fatalities last year. . . From 1934 thru 1938, Texas Christian was penalized 223 times while its opponents were fined 222 times. . .

Add sport smiles: The greatest gambler of all time? . . . That was Lady Godiva—she put everything she had on a horse. . . How's this for irony? . . .

Huskers in lengthy workouts; Indiana passes scare coaches

Nebraska's scarlet-clad Cornhuskers are really getting an extra dose of football drills these days. Coach Biff Jones has been sending his varsity elevens thru extensive practices now for the last two days.

Wednesday, the Biffer had the whole varsity squad in uniform and working overtime in an attempt to catch up on the extra duty that needs to be done.

The freshmen, fourth and fifth stringers all absorbed the offensive thrusts of the first three teams in the afternoon workout. Indiana plays were run off with the seconds and the firsts and seconds attempting to decipher them.

Rohrig sparks varsity. In the offensive drills, Hermie Rohrig, co-captain with Warren Alfson for Saturday, was running in great form. His passing was fairly accurate and was sparking the varsity.

Bus Knight was in suit but did not take part in contact work. The senior quarterback is still suffering from an injury sustained last week in the Minnesota battle.

Roy Petsch and Theos Thompson were handling the signal calling duties in the absence of Knight. Mike Francis was taking things easy with a charley horse ailing him and Hank Rohn was doing the fullbacking for the firsts. Wayne Blue was at the same position for the seconds.

Fear Hoosier passes. Freddie Meier, junior, was still at center, while Bob Burruss is remaining on the second team at the pivot post for the Hoosier game.

The Husker coaches are fearing the aerial attack that Coach Bo McMillin and his Indiana Hoosiers will bring to town this weekend. And well they should, as the Hoosiers traveled some 240 yards by the air against Texas last Saturday.

And the last and winning touchdown scored against the Huskers last Saturday was by the aerial route. The Nebraska secondary is going to be worked overtime in this defense department this week, too.

Wednesday's I-M games are crowd pleasers

From the standpoint of close scores and spectacular plays, Wednesday afternoon's intramural football games were definitely crowd pleasers. There were six games played, three in league 1, two in league 2 and the other in league 3. Of these games five were close and the sixth was a walkaway.

In league 1, Farm House won by the largest score of any of the teams, 25-0 from Acacia. As usual it was Don "Houdini" Fitz who was the standout for the victors both offensively and on defense. The Phi Gamma Delta team scored on an intercepted pass to beat the Kappa Sigs, 6-0. Eisenhart did the intercepting and ran the ball back ten yards and a score. Phi Kappa Psi finally broke into the win column by virtue of its victory over Alpha Gamma Rho, 12-6.

The feature game of league 2 between Alpha Tau Omega and Delta Tau Delta was the closest game this season. The Deltas finally won 1-0 in an overtime game, the winners made 11 yards in four plays while A. T. O. could gain only ten. Beta Sigma Psi outlasted Phi Sigma Kappa to win 6-0. Both Phi Delta Theta and Sigma Chi failed to make an appearance in their game.

Beta Theta Pi put down Sigma Alpha Mu 6-0 in the only league 3 game. Thursday's schedule:

- League 3. Zeta Beta Tau vs. Sigma Nu at 4:15.
- League 4. Sigma Alpha Epsilon vs. Delta Theta Pi, at 5:00 p. m.
- Pi Kappa Alpha vs. Sigma Phi Epsilon, 4:15 p. m.
- Theta Xi vs. Delta Upsilon, 5:00 p. m.

Girls' I-M slate

Two soccerball games will be played in girls' intramurals tonight at 5. Kappa Kappa Gamma 1 plays Delta Gamma 3 and Kappa Alpha Theta 4 plays Raymond Hall 2.

Alums over U.S. listen to game

Alumni groups at opposite ends of the nation were among anxious listeners to the broadcasts of the Minnesota-Nebraska game Saturday. The San Francisco Alumni club was entertained by Ruth Jamison and Ray Phelps at a "listening-in" party.
