Chinese know much grief in wartime

NEW YORK CITY—(ACP)—Do you think you're having a hard time with college? If you do, try getting your education the Chinese way.

According to a writer in the Columbia University Spectator, you start off by cutting your food allowance down to 15 cents a week—including all meals. For shelter you can spend 5 cents a week, if you can't find anything cheaper, but you must plan your budget so you don't spend more than $10 in a year, for your entire support—food, clothing, shelter, and books. Dorms hold 30 to a room.

Classes start at 6:30 a. m. That is so that they'll be over by ten when "Japanese visitors" are likely to begin arriving. When that happens you run to a nearby cave, if your campus is lucky enough to have a cave, and classes, if unfinished, continue in there until the bombs stop falling.

Books and college equipment are very little bother. Most of such material was destroyed in the eastern universities. Since then the remainder of your college has travelled about three thousand miles on foot and set itself up in a few old farm houses in the west. Here, the information available comes out of the professor's knowledge, and a few notes and books that were light enough to carry. For recreation you can take turns with your thousand colleagues, playing with the one basketball.

Collegiate Digest offers pay for campus photos

Collegiate Digest, the national roto supplement for college papers is looking for timely, human-interest pictures of events that happen on the Nebraska campus. To all shutterbugs, the magazine offers opportunities for picking up spending money.

Send photos to The Editor of Collegiate Digest, 323 Fawkes Building, Minneapolis, Minn. Payment of $3 for each one used will be made upon acceptance. Good quality gloss prints are essential. Only pictures that are sharp in detail and have good tone quality will be accepted, and action or candid pictures are preferred.

Campus YM plans all man steak fry, outing Friday

A recreational outing and steak fry is planned by the city campus YMCA for all university men Friday night from 5 to 8 at the Hi-Y. Students will meet at Temple and will be taken in cars provided by the "Y."

Touch football and ping pong will feature the recreational program. A discussion meeting is planned and arrangements are being made to secure a speaker by the committee in charge of retreats, of which Carlus Atkinson is chairman.

Arrangements must be made at the office or word be left with Carlus Atkinson before Friday noon by all who desire to go.

Prints of 'Bishop' film available to students

Any student wishing prints of the still shots of "Three Cheers for Miss Bishop" which are posted in the dressing rooms of the Temple theater must sign up in the Temple by 5 a. m. today.

The prints are of different sizes, the smaller size costing 10 cents and the larger size 25 cents. They will be available in the editorial and publicity department Tuesday.

College papers over nation discuss draft pros and cons

(ACA.) The pulse of America's colleges is quickening. It will be an interesting study, when things have returned to a more normal state, to analyze the swing in collegiate opinion during the months when congress was debating and passing the conscription bill.

Comment of the Daily Athenaeum at West Virginia university is typical: "Strangely enough, the consensus on the campus has changed considerably since last spring. Many who were then opposed to conscription are now in favor of the draft." The Athenaeum also observes that American youth has no argument with peoples of any land and would rather spend its energy in friendly rivalry of sports—but youth is ready.

Martin attends meet

Prof. O. R. Martin, bizad college, has been attending a convention of the American Institute of Accountants in Memphis this past week.

the Daily Reveille urges "a vote of confidence to our congressional leaders who finally secured passage of the conscription bill. Why should we not have selective service when the imminent black clouds of war are shadowing every phase of liberty designed by peace-loving peoples?"

At East Texas State Teachers college, the East Texan believes that the munitions makers are now satisfied, and that "they smile as they run their hand in pocket to feel the place that will hold those fat, juicy profits."

But the Texan adds that "from past demonstrations of patriotism on the campus, it is evident that all students will answer the call that they will be glad to defend their country."

While admitting it is "natural enough" that some college men should not favor the draft law, the College Exponent at Mayville (N. D.) State Teachers college warns the public not to "get the wrong opinion of this college youth. The majority believe in military training for the defense of our country. No class of youth is more patriotic or loyal to these United States."

Thus the nation's student youth accepts the principle of conscription, willing to sacrifice when necessary but on the alert to safeguard liberties.
