

The Major brings a revue

Major Bowes.

"Sixth Anniversary Revue" features Bowes' amateurs

Lincoln's first stage show in several months will open for a three day run at the Stuart theater Friday, when Major Bowes brings his "Sixth Anniversary Revue" to the local showhouse. Boasting ten of the Major's most talented acts, the 25 person revue contains radio graduates who have been unusually successful on the Bowes radio shows. These include headliners such as Sammy Birch, master of ceremonies a roller trio calling themselves the "Three Flashes" and Ann Bradley, who is billed as an up-to-date version of Sophie Tucker. Trade magazines credit her with having an act that stops the show.
