

Socially Speaking

By Jo Durce

It's amazing what dispensing with one lone line of type can do to hash up what is fundamentally supposed to be true...for last night the Kappa-Phi Psi dinner Helen Coyne's interest was Howard Humphreys and it's Anne Craft who's seeing a lot of Homer Rogers...sorry about the hash, people...

More and more are the happy thoughts about Homecoming... Alpha Phi's Pi Phi's and DG's are holding open house after the game and a big deal for Phi Gam's will be that annual Pig Dinner at the Lincoln...strictly stag, darnit...

Corn Cob-Tassel party still keeps the main line of interest in the social line with a few people like DU Porky Nuremberger and Gamma Phi Louise Eppinger, Phi Psi Bob Rydman and Shird Hoffman, KKG; Beta pledge Bob Munson with Theta Phi Shaw...also making plans along with the other millions to be out amongst them...

Friday night some of our very fairest gals will be far away in Omaha...in fact Thursday, Friday and Sunday is going to comprise the Ak-Sar-Ben weekend...

Keeping that record of seeing his lass from Omaha each weekend Norm Harris will be squaring the little red-head around Lincoln come the weekend...

Why, with these lovely summer evenings, doesn't some lovely fraternity or sorority or somebody follow the lovely precedent of the ATO's and Sig Chi's who gave forth on some elegant serenades following the precedent of years...how about that?

Whee, another year, another date...we mean that one of DG Maxine Kingsbury, campus best-dressed, with Kappa Sig Bob Flory...

Law freshmen are getting quite like cow-hands these days won't you agree...surely you've cast your orbs upon the ten-gallon jobs the would-be lawyers are sporting.

its institutions more workable."

To qualify for being an agent in the FBI, named by Hendon as a "great field for adventure," a man must have a law degree or be an accountant with three years of experience. Applicants must measure up to naval qualifications and must be between 23 and 35 years of age. There are also positions open in the FBI for clerical workers, laboratory technicians, and finger print experts.

Fingerprinting, both of law-abiding citizens and criminals, is one of the most technical and involved but interesting activities in the bureau of investigation. "The filing cabinets in our offices,"

Hendon said, "would cover three city blocks and contain fourteen million finger prints. Yet in these fourteen million prints, one of our fingerprint men can find the finger print corresponding to his copy in three minutes." Hendon explained that criminals are never identified by their description or picture in the FBI, but always by their finger prints. No two persons have finger prints alike.

Hendon received his bachelor of arts degree in journalism and his law degree from the University of Montana, and while there was president of the student body. Before he became administrative assistant of Hoover, he was special agent in charge of offices in Des Moines, St. Paul, and Philadelphia.

Boss of stamp sales reveals top salesmen

According to Natalie Burn, in charge of the "N" stamp sale, Catherine O'Connell, Aline Houseman, and Louise Frohlich are the salesmen leading in the drive.

The money from the sale of the stamps is used for the benefit of students thru the activities of the AWS board, such as publication of "The Women," a news sheet put out weekly for all university women. A check-up meeting for salesmen will be held today at 5 p. m., in room 316 of the Union.
