'Every person indispensable' says rabbi

Mayerberg speaks on 'What are you worth?' at Inter-Faith banquet

An individual should be worth more than '98 cents on the hoof F. O. B. Lincoln,' according to Kansas City's most prominent rabbi.

"Every individual is in indispensable personality who gives of himself to the great symphonies of the life that we live," was the substance of the message given last night by Rabbi Samuel Mayerberg, to more than 350 students assembled in the Union for the annual Inter-Faith banquet.

Mayerberg, who spoke on "What Are You Worth," stressed the importance of the service that every individual can give to others and insisted that the most important service was rendered day by day rather than after an individual's death.

Ten foreign students were the guests of the Inter-Faith Religious Welfare Council, sponsors of the banquet. Esther Stuermer acted as toastmistress for the affair. Francis Keefer, co-chairman of the Rocky Mountain region of the World Student Christian Federation, explained the work of her organization. Rev. George Schuster gave the invocation and music was provided by a flute trio composed of Marion White, Ruth Surber and Richard Morse.

Bizad dean heads Maple Leaf club to aid refugees

J. E. LeRossignol, dean of biz ad college, was elected president and Prof. O. C. Collins of the astronomy department was elected treasurer of the newly formed local chapter of the Maple Leaf club at an organization meeting held last week. Purpose of the Maple Leaf club is to provide funds for the help of British refugee children in Canada.

Next Monday noon the local chapter will have a luncheon at the Chamber of Commerce. Anyone interested is welcome. All who are anxious to help the refugees are urged to get in touch with Dean LeRossignol or Professor Collins.

After hearing Barb evidence that Liberal and Progressive factions solicited votes at the polls in Tuesday's election, the judiciary committee of the Student Council in a closed meeting yesterday recommended to the council that a re-election for class officers and the prom committee be held.

Barb votes at ag campus were thrown out Tuesday evening by the judiciary committee after Liberal and Progressive factions had charged the Barbs with infraction of election rules.

The committee's recommendation requested that the action against ag campus votes be rescinded since candidates should have been disqualified rather than votes denied; that votes for all candidates should have been disqualified rather than votes denied; that votes for all candidates except the Prince Kosmet and the Eligible Bachelors should be considered a mis-election. However, (See RE-ELECTION, page 3.)

Awgwan-Flash shows KU trip

Picture magazine makes second appearance today

Pictures of the Kansas migration trip featured the November Awgwan-Flash which makes its second appearance of the year this afternoon.

"If anyone is angry about the pictures taken on the special, it is their own fault," George Frischer, editor, said. "They had a chance to have their pictures eliminated."

A reminder of last year's Awgwan is the Gore section with personality pictures, and jokes and cartoons sprinkled through the magazine.

Also featured are pictures of the homecoming festivities before and after the Missouri game, coverage of a Student Council meeting and shots of motion pictures being taken in Lincoln.

Union bureau offers to find vacation rides

Students wishing rides home over vacations have been requested to register at the Union clearing bureau in the main office of the Student Union. The clearing bureau is a service of the Union which attempts to help drivers and passengers, wishing to share expenses, get together.

Klub to re-elect Sweetheart

Vote at door tomorrow to name winning woman

The Nebraska Sweetheart who will be presented at the Kosmet Klub Fall Revue Saturday afternoon will be chosen at the door, according to a decision made by the Kosmet Klub in meeting last night.

Coming on the eve of the show, the decision of the Student Council judiciary committee to the effect that the election of Nebraska Sweetheart was a fraud, forced the Klub in the interest of securing a candidate truly representative and one elected in a legal election to alter the selection this year. The Klub will request the Council elections committee today to officiate and thereby to insure an election free of corruption.

Prince not reelected.

All candidates will be given complimentary tickets in a reserved section and will be called back stage during the show after the ballots have been counted. The presentation of the Sweetheart will then be made by the Prince Kosmet at the close of the show as planned, by John Mason, presentation chairman.

Inasmuch as the election of Prince Kosmet was not rejected by the Council, the Prince elected in the student election will be the one presented to the school tomorrow. The show will open at 2:30 p. m. with 15 acts and short

Kuklin, partner conga at Union dance tonight

The conga, South American dance illustrated by Mickey Rooney in his last picture, "Strike up the Band," will be demonstrated at the Union dance tonight by Irving Kuklin and his partner. Johnny Cox's orchestra will play for the dance, for which 10c admission will be charged.

Amateurs vie for honors in Union show

Dancers, a Scotch bagpiper, an accordionist, a supersalesman, a singer, and a trio will vie for honors in the Union amateur hour Sunday, in the ballroom at 4 p. m. George Gostas will act as master of ceremonies for the talent contest and will present the prizes of $6, $4, and $2 to the top-ranking entertainers. The contest will be judged by means of an applause meter which will be set up in view of the audience.

"Throne of the Gods," 40 minute feature film, will be added feature after the contest. The film is a record of the ascent of the Himalayan giant, Jong Song, by the Dyrenfruth expedition. Lowell Thomas is the narrator of the picture.

Debate tryouts scheduled for Tuesday, Nov. 19

All men interested in debate should leave their names in room 111 of Andrews hall before Nov. 18, for tryouts to begin at 7:30 p. m. at Andrews hall in room 126 Nov. 19.

At least four men are to be chosen, according to H. A. White, debate sponsor. More will be used if enough debates are scheduled later in the season.

The subject, "Union of the Western Nations," will be used throughout the year, and judges will be chosen from former intercollegiate debaters.

No pub dance tonight

Because of the bad weather, the Publications barn dance which was scheduled for tonight has been called off. Those who have bought tickets will have their money refunded. No plans have been made for having the party at a later date.
