

Pearce show features WTOC singer at 6:30

Baritone, W. O. King, jr., will be the special guest of the "Al Pearce and His Gang" show tonight over KFAB at 6:30. The show will be presented with an eye on the coming Thanksgiving Days—both of them.

W. O. King, jr., is the popular singer of Columbia's station WTOC of Savannah, Ga. He also is a staff announcer there. King is another of the young local radio stars to whom Al is giving a nation-wide network hearing.

The two-piano team of Bill Jordan and George Kent make another guest appearance on the show, this time getting into the seasonal spirit by playing their own special version of "Turkey in the Straw."

Al, himself, with Artie Auerbach, Dick Lane, Arthur Q. Bryan, Joe Forte, Margaret Brayton, Wendell Niles and Carl Hoff will provide a comedy harvest as they prepare for a super-Thanksgiving dinner.

"Elmer Blurt," the low pressure salesman, tries his hand at selling squash pies and turkeys.

Hoover to discuss foreign situation at 8:30 tonight

Herbert Hoover will give his views on the foreign situation and its effect on the United States in a special broadcast over the CBS network tonight at 8:30. The program will be carried locally by KFAB.

Hoover's talk will originate at Vassar college in Poughkeepsie, N. Y., where he is to address the student body and faculty. The former president of the United States was invited some time ago to deliver this address by Dr. Henry N. MacCracken, president of Vassar.

To accommodate this broadcast, two other scheduled Columbia programs have been switched to later periods on the calendar.

"Seems Radio Is Here to Stay"—Norman Corwin's verse-drama, Columbia network's contribution to the National Association of Broadcasters' observance of radio's 20th anniversary, moves from 9:30 to 10 p. m., and "News of the World"—reports from Columbia's correspondents abroad, moves to 10 to 11:15 p. m.

Arthur Lake, who plays Dagwood in the "Blondie" series has actually done something that usually happens only in comic strips. He forgot to lace his shoes one morning when hurrying to a rehearsal—and jumped out of them when trying to beat a traffic light.

ROLL CALL

It isn't very often that Hollywood's top flight stars donate their time to put on a program backing a particular cause, but when they do, their programs have the reputation of hitting the greatest listening percentages on the air. What will probably be one of the best programs of that type this year will be broadcast from coast to coast next Sunday from 12:30 to 1:30 p. m. in the interests of the annual Red Cross roll call.

First of the series of roll call programs was heard last Sunday. Stars lined up for the second program next Sunday are: Amos 'n' Andy, Edgar Bergen and Charlie McCarthy, Martha Tilton, Benay Venuta, Lionel Barrymore, and Bob Hope.
