New parking plan goes into effect

The DAILY W NEBRASKAN Diagonal system Official Newspaper of More Theo 7000 Students

Vol. 40, No. 77

Lincoln, Nebraska

Sunday, February 9, 1941

'Key Largo,' serious war drama, represents 'best play this year'

Whipping last minute plans into shape, Armand Hunter, director of the University Theatre, today made polishing of parts his principle duty as he prepared for the opening on Wednesday of Maxwell Anderson's drama, "Key Largo".

Shown above is a scene from the prologue of the play which depicts five Loyalist soldiers making a last stand at a mountain pass during the Spanish Civil war. From left to right are William Green, Kenneth Miller, Walter Kiechel, Max Whittaker, and Glenn Nelson. They have just learned that the Loyalist troops are retreating, leaving them to a certain death before the oncoming troops of Franco.

First drama.

Theatre to produce a drama during the current season. "Key Largo" deals with the conflict within a man that may result from the conflict in the world itself and is, according to Hunter, "in most respects the biggest production of the year, from

(See KEY LARGO, page 2.)

Another advance in the problem of alleviating the parking problem on the campus will be effected Tuesday morning when 60 degree diagonal parking is instituted on 12th street north to Avery laboratory and on both sides of the segment connecting the two streets on the upper mall, it was announced Saturday by Sergeant Regler and the Innocents parking committee.

Because funds are not available for the painting of diagonal lines traffic directors will help students orient themselves to the new system. Innocents committee members stated that "because there will be no lines painted separating stalls it will take the cooperation of the entire student body to insure success of the plan."

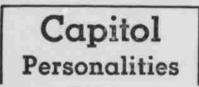

Together with L. F. Seaton, operating superintendent, the Innocents had decided Dec. 13 to initiate diagonal parking on 12th from R north to the athletic field, the south sides of the two streets bordering the lower mall and along both sides of the north and south segments of the upper mall.

Deciding that the expense was too great a modification of the plan is to be used until sufficient funds can be gathered to continue the originally proposed action.

AWS . . . The play represents the first attempt of the Follies committee changes rules; will offer curtain act cup

Several innovations will be made this year when the AWS Ledwigh talks presents its annual, exclusively feminine show, the Coed Follies, Thursday, March 27, Dorothy On obedience White, chairman of the Follies committees, announced yesterday. at recita

For the first time a curtain

A tall, "homespun" gentleman is His name is Joseph T. Knezacek, a newcomer in the legislature. In n Journal. J. T. KNEZACEK. his home town of Ord he is an abstractor of deeds.

Senator Knezacek has the singular honor of being the introducer of the least number of bills during the current session, Only one, L. B. 424, bears .his sponsorship.

His seeming inactivity is, explained by the fact that he believes there is an oversupply of laws on the books now and that many of (See KNEZACEK, page 4.)

Chancellor C. S. Boucher will deliver the keynote address on public education for the inauguration of the Hogg foundation at the University of Texas in Austin, Wednesday, Feb. 12.

Provided for in a $2,500,000 bethe senator from Valley county, quest to the Texas university by the late Will Hogg, son of the fa- will speak at the first university foundation will re-emphasize the 11 in the Union ballroom. desirability of supporting a superior public education program and to support a program of mental hygiene work.

In addition to his inaugural address, Chancellor Boucher will speak informally of problems of the state educational system at Wednesday and conferences Thursday with faculty members. A third conference is tentatively planned with a small group from the Texas graduate school.

Before his inaugural talk, Boucher will be a guest at a dinner given by Dr. Homer Price Rainey, chancellor of the University of Texas.

Future teachers meet Wednesday

All new candidates for teaching positions for the school year 1941-42 will meet with R. D. Moritz, director of teacher placements, at 5 p. m., Feb. 12 in the social sciences auditorium. Students having classes at this hour will be excused to attend the conference.

This is not a repetition of the December meeting and should be attended by all new candidates.

The intrigues and complications of the international situation will be analyzed by M. W. Fodor, famed journalist and foreign correspondent who mous Texas governor, the new convocation Tuesday morning at > Material for his talk, entitled "The Revolution Conquers Europe," comes from his vast knowledge of affairs abroad as correspondent for newspapers in this country. At present, he is an ace member of the foreign staff of the Chicago Daily News.

According to Will McGaffin, a (See FODOR, page 4.)

act cup as well as a cup for the winner of the skits will be awarded. Instead of restricting entries in the show to organized houses, any group of women may get together, plan a skit or curtain act, and try out.

The Coed Follies are climaxed each year by the presentation of the Best Dressed Girl on the campus, who is selected from the girls entered by each house or organization. This time a representative of a downtown store will help select the BDG.

Besides the selection of the Best Dressed Girl, the program includes three parts: the skits, curtain acts, and a model show. Tomorrow letters explaining the deadlines for entries will be sent to all houses. Names of candidates for BDG and models should be turned in by 5 p. m. Friday at Mrs. Westover's desk in Ellen Smith.

Charles Ledwigh, young Lincoln attorney and graduate of the law college, will be the guest speaker at the Cathedral Choir Vespers this afternoon at 5:30 in the Cornhusker ballroom.

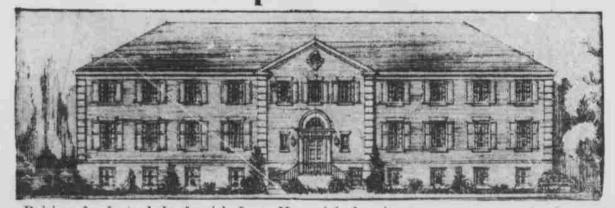

Ledwigh was a member of the varsity band when attending the university and at one time was assistant director. His subject will be "Fountain of Obedience."

The Cathedral Choir, directed by John Rosborough, will sing several special selections during the program, a part of choir's seasonal series of vesper recitals.

Vold gets reappointment

Dr. Lawrence Vold, law college professor has been appointed a member of the Nebraska State Bar association's committee on co-operation with the American Law institute.

Dorm needs furnishings . . . Mortar Boards sponsor drive for funds

Raising funds to help furnish Love Memorial dormitory on ag campus is the project which the Mortar Boards are sponsoring this year, it was announced yesterday by Pat Sternber, president of the Black Masque chapter. The project will be carried on in co-operation (See MORTAR BOARD, page 4.)