

Grinnell falls to UN aquatic team, 52-33

By Bob Miller

Nebraska's sophomore swimming team advanced another step toward an undefeated season by defeating Grinnell, a non-conference team, 52-23, in a dual meet in the coliseum pool Friday afternoon.

Coach Pete Hagelin watched Les Oldfield, outstanding sophomore, crack the pool record of 1:05.5 in the 100 yard backstroke, a record that Pete, himself, held until Friday. Oldfield's new record is 1:04.6 and will be placed in the pool record book.

Another of Oldfield's accomplishments in his pet event was the breaking of the Big Six record in the 150 yard backstroke in the team's first meet. The time is unofficial but the present mark is doomed to fall in the league championships.

Edwards shows class

Bill Edwards, letterman, was another Nebraskan who stood out in the meet. In his specialty, the 50 yard free, Edwards came within one-tenth second of the Big Six record while beating his teammate, Tom Woods, in 24.2.

Grinnell was able to capture only one first in the meet and that was in the 100 yard freestyle. Bob Stewart was the Grinnell swimmer who made the grade.

Lambert takes first

In the 220 freestyle, Cliff Lambert, recently added to the team, came through and won the event for his first win in college swimming. Incidentally, this was Lambert's first meet and his presence will help the squad materially in the freestyle events.

Spectator interest in swimming is beginning to grow as was noticed by the fact that there were more spectators on hand and the interest that they generated was better than at the first meet against Carleton. This growth is of valuable aid to the team and students can help the team by attending all home meets.

Three meets on deck

The Huskers have a big week ahead of them and it will see the first dual meet with conference competition. Three meets are scheduled and will be held on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday. The first of the three is a dual meet with Kansas State on the first date in the coliseum tank. Next comes Iowa State and then Oklahoma on Saturday. All meets are free and will be held in the afternoons.

Cagers prepare to meet Kansas Stop Engleman

Nebraska's giant Cornhuskers and a Kansas team, whose main trouble has been trying to handle big men, clash at Lawrence Monday night in an all-important Big Six basket ball game.

It will be the Huskers' job to not only stop Kansas but Howard Engleman as well. This All-American forward has been flirting with a 20-point game average in conference play this season.

Son Bob on hand.

In addition to Engleman, the Huskers will have to bottle the scoring of Coach Phog Allen's son, Bob Allen. The only other consistent point-maker on the Jayhawker squad is Son Bob and he does the "quarterbacking."

A victory for the Huskers

Bramson leads Sammy win in frat basketball

Sigma Alpha Mu paced by Bob Bramson, freshman forward, was the high scoring outfit in intramural fraternity basketball Thursday night. The Sammie quint outplayed Zeta Beta Tau and took advantage of several breaks to raise their score to 21-6. Bramson accounted for 12 of these points and was the outstanding player of the evening.

Farm House broke into the win column by virtue of its hiding of Beta Theta Pi, 20-11. Warren Gableman for the winners and Stan Huffman of the Betas were the high scorers with 6 points apiece.
