

Kampus Kaperings

Marian Cramer

Run for your lives

the campus isn't safe these days what with the Engineers and Lawyers a feudin' on the downtown campus and the farmers tubbing all the unsuspecting souls not wearing the required overalls and cottons on ag campus. Both of these affairs have a big climax. The Engineers elect their queen at a ball Saturday night, while those at ag will do their dancing Saturday as the Goddess of Agriculture, Sylvia Zochol, rules over the festivities.

Formal dancing

is the keynote of the evening Saturday when the Delta Sigs have their spring party at the Broadview Country Club. Chio Gloria Hansen will be there with Joe Flemming, Alpha Phi Pat Purdham with Dale Te Kolste, while three of the fellows are importing Stephens "Susies" for the occasion.

New pinning occurs between Alpha Chi Jane Jordan and Sigma Nu John Dean. This recalls the fact that only a week ago Bob McNutt placed her on the eligible list for a possible "Sweetheart of Sigma Chi." Too bad, Bob!

THE CLOTHES LINE

Toni McQuistan,

Theta of "Red Demon" fame, unable to make up her mind to which orchestra she would rather attend last night, decided to hit a happy medium and go to both Ray Noble and Woody Herman. Her escort was Bill Smith.

Returning from a trip to Kansas City last Sunday, Kappa Barbara Simpson brought back news of DU Bob Green, whom she had gone to see. He is returning to this campus for the DU formal and for Jimmie Lunceford, and will escort Barb to these affairs.

Spring swishes

in the new arrivals in formals at Simon's. Feminine fabrics, gay and appealing colors surround you with the season and help to make evenings glamorous. Can't you picture yourself dancing in a crinkley crepe flowered formal—spring colors with a white background. There is a ruffle at the bottom and one around the square neck. The sleeves are short and puffed. The waist is high fitted with a gathered bodice, and down the front are black velvet bows to make the spring flowers more cheerful. Underneath you'll wear a net skirt to make the dress flouncy and feminine. If you want to seem coy and somewhat old-fashioned—like the girl his Dad married, you may dance in a flowered gingham with net background for the skirt. Sewed to the net are multi-colored stripes. The knotted bodice, and the short puff sleeves will bring forth an admiring glance, and the fitted high waist will give you that appealing look.

After Ivy Day,

you'll want a rest among the trees and bushes, and such things, so may we suggest a certain corner along the south fence of Penn Woods, that girl you've been studying with in the library, and a quart of Fairmont's ice cream. We wouldn't exactly say the ice cream is more important than the girl; but we know it will be that final touch to make your picnic very successful. You can find Fairmont's at most drug stores—pick it up on your way out, or call and have it delivered—it's as far away as your phone.

The warm seas, gentle breezes, and waving palms are all in the new cocoanut hats, to envelop you in their charm and to make you feel like a native maiden with a new sarong. They have large brims, which together with the natural color set off your face with verve. Maybe you'd like to beam forth from an off-the-face number or a pert bonnet. Whatever the style you'll find an especially flattering hat at Nancee's, 133 So. 13.

Thorne Smith is away again over the hills of fantasy, displaying his Rabelaisian humor in a roaring picture now at the Varsity. It's a "must" for a date this week-end—a real "date" picture for a hilarious evening. You'll see Jack Benny's ace laff getter Rochester too worried to even wonder what happened to the gas man. Then there are Joan Blondell, Roland Young, Carole Landis, and Billie Burke. Remember it's at the Varsity, the theater students like.

After graduation . . .

and marriage bells you'll want your home to reflect your good taste, and surely your table is an important part of your home. Fine Sterling carries with it the same unquestioned authority as other authentic works of art . . . you'll want to visit Gardner's, 1220 "O" St., before you buy.

More and more

you'll see college fellows dropping in on Simon's men's department . . . second floor, and browsing among the spring arrivals. We saw a group clustered around some Scott Barrie Hollywood sport coats, exclusive at Simon's. It's superfluous to go into detail about the coats, because they're well known to every discriminating college fellow, but if you haven't stopped in at the department lately make a point of doing so this afternoon after the activities of Ivy Day. You also see some new shades in slacks, and a full line in tans, browns, gaberdines and flannels—leaders this season.

There'll be plenty of spectators—both looking at you and on your feet if you're wise and visit Simon's fourth floor shoe department. Here are striking hump-toed ones in blue and white, black and white, beige and white worn by popular Chi O's. When you're looking at shoes in Simon's you'll feel at ease and enjoy the suggestions of the staff of salesmen—college style conscious all of them.
