Sassy Items

Fellows weren't much in evidence before noon yesterday. The night before they had been out raising well-er-that is, they were having a good old time of it celebrating their successes.

The Phi Gams had all their pledges out yelling and singing, as did the ATO's and Phi Psi's. Know what they are calling the Phi Gam boys these days? Sardines.

Sigma Nu Schofars.

When we asked the Sigma Nus if there was any scandal (?) about their pledges they said they got four Regent scholarship winners and that was indeed a scandal at the Sigma Nu house.

Since everyone is interested especially in the pledges, what they went, and who they go with, we snooped around (via the telephone, tel-a-woman method) and here is what we found out.

Phi Delt plebe Dick Chapin was out with Dodo Schwenker, Tri Delt pledge, who has the cute convertible. Don Beck, another Phi Delt, was one of many who took Merv Kennedy, Kappa, out. She must be a fun girl 'cause she goes with lots and lots of the cute new pledges, including one Homer Sheridan, Beta pledge. In fact, Merv had Homer's blue Mercury convertible Monday night and took the sisters riding while he celebrated with the brothers.

Trio Rival?

The popular Pi Phi trio has a prospective rival in Bill Scribner, Beta pledge. It seems that Bill is a regular jam session all by himself. He beats a mean drum and bass fiddle.

Two Phi Delt's have been giving two Kappas a big rush. Bud King and Eloise Rogers, both of Lincoln.

Society at Last But of the Best

Then there is the social life at Nebraska which isn't hard to find on weekends.

The Military Ball might be called the number one social event of the year opening the formal season when men take their tuxes out of the mothballs and the gals parade in their prettiest evening gowns.

The Interfraternity party may or may not be formal. It is usually sort of a half and half affair. The Mortar Board party, however, is a male's dream come true for that is the time when the treats are on the women.

have been hitting it off and Jack Hupfer was seen with Dorothy Jean Browne.

Incidentally, if the Stephens Sussies return to Nebraska one little girl will find Jack Devereaux, Kappa Sig pledge, awaiting her. Jack attended Kemper before he came here and went with her there.

About an active.

Maybe you are tired of hearing about the pledges so we'll discourse on Bill Edwards, Beta active, for a while. He has recently had dates with Betty Winn, Alpha Phi pledge, and Betty Hoff, Kappa active. Both swell girls, too.

At the YM-YW party Monday night Jean Simmons and Kenny Holland acted as chaperones (?) Jean is a Tri Delt and was Ivy Day queen. Mortar Board and PBK. She attended Harvard this summer. Certainly does seem good to see those familiar faces back on the campus.

At the same party it was said that Mrs. Houghton Furr will attend Radcliff this winter with Jean Simmons. Mrs. Furr is better known as Marian Jones, Theta.

Happy Couple.

Another happy twosome is Mr.

Shower Honoring Bride

Ruth Ann Walker gave a shower last night honoring Mrs. Frank Howard. The bride is the former Ruth Huston, last years president of Towne Club.

and Mrs. Bob Aden. Welcome home.

Betty Malone, last year's beauty queen, has a Delt pin from Bob Weygint. Bob hales from UCLA. Betty will not be in school this year.

Everyone, including me, is tired from all these rush weeks, and the celebrations after, so maybe a nice quiet class room will look appealing tomorrow.

One Woodpecker Menaces Books

A woodpecker flew into the $500,000 Robert Browning collection room of Baylor university's library.

A coed discovered the woodpecker lighting on a $1,500 mahogany bookcase, realized what damage his beak might do, and called for help.

The chase went on for six hours. The woodpecker flew from expensive bookcase to expensive portrait to expensive volume—apparently delighting in the damage he might do to the world's largest shrine of Browningiana.

Finally he wore himself out and collapsed behind a bookcase.

Ag YM Plans Welcome Party

Copenhaver, McNeill Make Arrangements

Ag YMCA activities will get underway Tuesday night at 7:30 in the student activities building on ag campus when Carl Epp, president of the group, welcomes new students at the annual get together.

Games will be led by Ralph Copenhaver, and Gordon McNeill is in charge of the program. Pastors and other religious leaders as well as faculty members will attend the party.

Counselors Give Party for Frosh Tonight

Coed Counselors will entertain all freshman women at their annual party in Ellen Smith Hall tonight from 8 to 9:30 p. m. The evening will be spent playing games and getting acquainted.

Harriet Talbot, president of Coed Counselors, and members of the board will be introduced.

Cornhusker Issues Call For Filings

Editors Anticipate Many Applications for 16 Posts On 1941-42 Annual Staff

Applications for positions on the Cornhusker should be filed today at 1 p. m. in the Cornhusker offices in the basement of the Union. Shirley Russel, editor, announced. Sophomores, juniors and seniors whose courses qualify them for activities may sign up.

Students who desire an editorial position should contact Russel, Larry Huwaldt or Alice Louise Becker. Jack Hogan, David Walcott or Russel will see those interested in the business positions.

Positions to be filled are the administration, student government, junior, senior, publications, beauty, organizations, fraternity, sorority, military, athletics, fine arts, society, index and women editorships. Experienced photographers are also needed.

Staff positions are to be announced the middle of next week, strictly a play party—come dressed in sport clothes," said Jeannette Mickey, president of WAA.

Awgwan Editors Need Cartoonists, Photographers

As work on the first issue of the Awgwan Flash got underway this morning, Jim Lipsey was still looking for photographers and cartoonists. Anyone interested in such work is asked to meet with Lipsey this afternoon at the Awgwan office on the third floor of the Union.

There are still positions open on the reportorial staff, according to Lipsey, and Melvin Tennenbaum, business manager, said that advertising solicitors are also needed.

Campus Leaders Will Speak At YM Stag Party Tuesday

With a program designed primarily to help freshmen get acquainted with upperclassmen and campus activities, the university YMCA will stage its annual stag party Tuesday at 8 p. m. in the Y rooms of the Temple.

After a short "get acquainted" session, there will be talks by campus leaders explaining the various campus activities. Burton Thiel will tell about the activities will a spacious student lounge, a feature which the present library does not have. There will also be a hold approximately 500 and it an auditorium on this floor which is thought that this will be used for many meetings and convocations which have formerly been held in the Temple.

The main loan desk will be located on the second floor. Arranged around it will be additional reading rooms. A browsing room similar to the book nook in the Union will also be on this floor. Most of the staff offices are located on this floor as well.

Fluorescent lighting will be used on the second floor as an experiment. If it proves satisfactory it may be used thruout the building.

Many of the department libraries which are now scattered over the campus will be centralized in the new structure.

A staff room for the members of the library staff will probably be named for Nellie Jane Compton, a former staff member who left a fund, the interest of which will be used to furnish it.

An elevator will be installed to carry books from one floor to another but no elevator service will be available to students.

Dr. Christensen was instructed to make an original project using the material of other states as only supplementary aid. The project is state financed as provided by the legislative bill 462 and the first committee meeting was held September 13.

of the Student Union and Innocents. Explaining the work of the various publications will be Ben Novicoff, business manager of the Daily Nebraskan. Don Steele will tell about the Corn Cobs and Fred Meier will give an account of the athletic program, particularly intramural athletics.

Following these talks, Warren Lyness, president of the university YMCA will explain the purpose and functions of the organization. One of the varsity cheerleaders will be present to lead the songs and yells.

The program is in charge of Henry Marvin and Niels Wooder. Refreshments will be served.
