the social fraternities and sororities with Omicron Nu, home economics sorority heading the list with an average of 3.336. Wilson and Loomis co-operative halls were in the respective fourth and fifth positions, and Sigma Delta Chi follows in the list of non-social groups in sixth place.

Complete ratings of professional fraternities: 1. Sigma Delta Chi; 2. Sigma Gamma Epsilon; 3. Alpha Kappa Psi; 4. Phi Mu Alpha; 5. Delta Sigma Delta; 6. Xi Psi Phi; 7. Phi Delta Phi; 8. Delta Sigma Pi; 9. Delta Theta Pi.

Other organized groups: 1. Wilson hall; 2. Loomis hall; 3. Howard hall; 4. Palladian; 5. Bouton hall; 6. Delian-Union; 7. Raymond hall.

Group average grade ratings in the report are figured by awarding four points to each credit hour carried by members with a grade of 90 or above, three points for grades of 80 to 89, two for grades of 70 to 79, and one for grades of 60 to 69. Incompletes receive zero points, while conditions subtract one point and failures or hours dropped in unsatisfactory standing deduct two points. The total grades hours are then divided by the number of hours carried by the group to secure the group average rating. A rating of 4 then shows that all grades averaged 90 or above, a rating of 3 that grades averaged 80 to 89, a rating of 2 from 70 to 79, 1 from 60 to 69.

After Registration Muddle . . .

Best time for picture-taking is at the beginning of school before students' faces get worried and drawn. Spotted enjoying the sunshine before they enter social sciences to get down to work was this group of fellows. Pictured at right, they are Bennett Clark, George Townsend, Kenneth Peterson, Richard McDaniel and Bill Rist.

The cameramen found UN coeds in for an extra share of registration muddle as they sought to find gym classes to complete class schedules. Caught striving to get matters straightened out (really trying to find just any class in physics they could conveniently attend) is this pretty group of women, above.
