

The DAILY NEBRASKAN

The Sports Mill

By Bob Miller

Whew, we can breathe a great deal easier now after the contest at Ames is over... It very easily could have ended up Iowa 14-Nebraska 0...

If the team that played at Clyde Williams field Saturday had been defeated, a season comparable to 1938 would have more than likely been the result...

That was the year that Hopp, Rohrig and mates were sophomores and after losing the opener went on to lose the majority of the following contests... There was one difference however and that difference lay in the fact that the squad of 1938 had experienced men liberally sprinkled on first and second teams alike...

The 1941 edition has a first team that is made up of all experienced men except in two positions... The rub comes from the fact that the second unit has no experience to boast of...

Maybe some would think that experience is not important but it plays the major role in a game... Howard Debus illustrates the point well... He has great possibilities as demonstrated Saturday when he was running hard and blocking well...

His trouble came from the lack of experience and he got a good case of fumbleitis which luckily, came at the right time when the Cyclones were in midfield... It would have been bad if those fumbles had come when the Huskers were in the hole...

With the first game out of the way and with a victory under the belt, the team will perk up and there should be no more worrying about fumbles, pass defense...

If, however, like the 1938 team, the Huskers had dropped their first game, it would have more than likely proved disastrous... That the year the team lost five, won three and tied one after the first game defeat...

That's what I mean, everything worked out right to come up with the winning number for Nebraska... Now the work will be to sharpen up the pass defense... Fumbles can be discontinued now to...

Another lucky thing for this team is that they did not have to meet the Minnesota Gophers in the first game as was the case in

Yanks Win, 3-1; Defeat Brooklyn For World Title

They've done it again; The Yanks won the World's Series yesterday afternoon by whipping the Bums of Brooklyn, 3 to 1. This was the fourth win for the Yankees and the Bums had one to their credit, to clinch the world's title for the Yankees. Bonham, the starting pitcher for New York went the route and set the opposing team down with a meagre four hits.

The Yanks collected six, including a fifth inning home run by Tommy Henrich. The only near fireworks came when Whit Wyatt tried to dust off Joe DiMaggio.

Joltin' Joe didn't like it and went forth to tell Wyatt so and in thus doing brought with him the players on both teams. The umpires broke it up to let down the crowd.

The batting order:

|-----------------|-----------------|
| Yankees. | Dodgers. |
| Stern, 1b | Walker, rf |
| Rolfe, 3b | Riggs, 3b |
| Henrich, rf | Reiser, cf |
| DiMaggio, cf | Caselli, 1b |
| Keller, lf | Medwick, lf |
| Dickey, c | Reese, ss |
| Gordon, 2b | Owen, c |
| Gordon, 2b | Coccarani, 2b |
| Rizzuto, ss | Wyatt, p |
| Bonham, p | |

Umpires: McGowan, AL plate; Pinelli, NL first; Grieve, AL, second; Goetz, NL, third.

Library Officials Purchase Unusual Reference Book

Announcement of the addition of a new volume to the campus library is of considerable interest to students and readers of American literature. The book, "The Oxford Companion to American Literature," was placed in the reference department collection on Monday.

The Oxford Companion to English Literature, a similar important classic, has been one of the most popular and widely used references in its field on the campus since 1932. The new book with its aims at comprehensive and historical study of American literature should prove equally valuable, according to library officials. It was edited by James D. Hart and published by the Oxford University Press in 1941.

Coll-Agri-Fun Sets Competition For November 15

The committees on coll-agri-fun, annual skit night for all organized houses on ag campus, are working full time for the presentation of the competition night scheduled for Nov. 15th.

At the meeting Monday evening, it was decided that a member of each organized house and groups wishing participation in coll-agri-fun be present at the meeting of the board, at 5 p. m. Wednesday, room 305, ag hall. The purpose of the meeting is to inform the representatives as to the type of program desired.

the past... By the time the Gopher game comes around I think that it will find a team of Nebraska Huskers ready, willing and able to dish out the football necessary to defeat the northern team...

Scribe Gives Highlights as He Saw Them

... Of Iowa State Fracas

By Norris Anderson.

AMES, Ia.—Old Jupiter Pluvius poured soggy tears on 14,000 drenched spectators here Saturday while the Nebraska Cornhuskers poured two cups of touchdown tea for a 14 to 0 victory over a stubborn Iowa State eleven.

Since Sunday's Daily Nebraskan carried a complete game account by Bob Miller, head curator of this page, we'll pry into the feature side of the fray.

Band Shows Off.

Iowa State's blue and gold be-deked bandmen displayed a novel entrance wrinkle when they marched onto the field in two divisions. Marching at double-quick time, the two divisions joined forces in a semi-circle around the north end of the field for the flag-raising ceremony. Two minutes prior to kick-off time found the Yel-Jax unit, armed with cow bells and bright yellow jerseys, entering the stadium. Yel-Jax members are pledged to promote student spirit, an object they accomplished during the afternoon by tossing corn cobs at silent rooters and razzing the Betas.

Pigskin Presents Difficulties.

Nine fumbles certified Nebraska's difficulty with the wet pigskin... A heavy pre-game shower, paired with a steady downpour during the final ten minutes, made the footing uncertain... Iowa's amazing pass percentage was compiled on short flips from Tipee and Lohrey, whose pitching arms seemed to reveal under the high humidity... Top end on the field was Nebraska's Marv Thompson... Thompson's tight defensive job was appreciated by the Iowa rooters who applauded him when he was replaced.

Hospitality Tops.

Press box hospitality was tops... Hamburgers and fresh coffee were plentiful, delicious, and free... leading back on the field was Nebraskas Dale Bradley... "You can't tackle him," explained a Cyclone line-backer after the game, "His knees fly in four directions when he runs." Herb Von Goetz's sturdy game at guard encouraged Line Coach Lyman... Sophomore Von Goetz had to replace Eddie Swartzkopf, one of 1940's line leaders... Quarterback Tuppee, whole offensive show for the Cyclones during the last period, is a sophomore... Cyclone student rooters served oral razzberries to their coach when he replaced the second stringers with the varsity during the last quarter. All in all, it was a big day for a football game.

Dr. Zeeb Gilman, oldest living graduate of Dartmouth college, celebrated his 100th birthday at Redlands, Calif., on May 13.

Rain Limits IM Activity Monday

The clouds tried their best to keep the fraternity men off the touch football fields Monday afternoon, but his best efforts could not drive the players of two of the contests to shelter. Three other battles were postponed because of wet grounds.

The ATO passing combination of Jim Vanlandingham to Bob Jungman proved too much for the ZBTs. Van threw two perfect strikes to the lanky Jungman to account for two touchdowns. The ATOs were successful in catching a ZBT runner behind the white stripes for a safety to bring the final score to ATO 14, ZBT 0.

The wild passing game of touch was held to the center of the field thruout the game between the Sig Eps and Phi Psis. Only once was either team able to gain pay dirt. The Sig Eps gained the victory by the margin of 6 to 0.

Yearbook Pics Start Wednesday

Fraternity and sorority and junior-senior pictures for the 1942 Cornhusker will be taken at Rudge & Guenzel studios, 13th and N, starting Wednesday, Oct. 1. Prices are $1.25 for fraternities, $2.50 classes, $2.75 combination.

Honorary Chem Group Meets

A report given by Elbert Hatfield on the triannual chemistry convention held this year at Rutgers college, New Brunswick, N. J., will highlight the program planned for the first annual meeting of the honorary chem fraternity, Phi Lambda Upsilon. The meeting will be held tonight at 7:15 in room 102 of Avery lab.
