Sassy Items

There were no cigars at the Farm House fall party, but there were two pin hangings. Kenneth Messersmith hung his shield on Verna Glenn after a fanfare and during the second half of the dance, that is, after intermission. Don Wielage put his pin on Esther Manion. Randy Pratt got in on the fun by announcing the events. . . . Incidentally, Randy took his little blond friend from high school. . . . Not going steady any more are Pi Phi Barbara Neeley and Alpha Sig Bob Hyde. She has decided that her heart is elsewhere. Could it be it went to the game yesterday? You know how fond of football player she is. . . . The Kappa Kappa Gammas have a tutor for Poly Sci. Will anyone knowing who said tutor is please call the Daily and let us know?

Brand New!

Two new pinnings happened at the Kappa house. Mary Runyan came down to dinner Friday night and wore a Sig Alph pin. She wore it to the SAE hour dance, too. Letting you in on the secret, seems one of the Mills brothers, at least that is who they thought it was, lost his pin and Mary found it. She returned the pin at the dance, so she is again free. . . . The other pin was worn last night for the first time by Pat Catlin. Do you know whose it is? . . . Two Alpha Chi alumni are in town. They are Mary Lee Adams and Beth Schroeder. Beth is no longer wearing Bud Buzard's Sigma Nu star. . . . Billy Bryan, Alpha Phi pledge, had a date with Phi Gam Bud Johnson last Friday. . . . Going to Omaha and we don't mean the ball was Dorothy Stotts of the dorm. She went down for Creighton's homecoming and an added attraction—fellow named Whitey.

It Happens All the Time.

Can't blame Jim Vanlandingham, ATO, for being crazy about Theta pledge Maxine Thomas. There are lots of fellows that way. . . . A rejuvenated romance which dates back to a high school romance is that of Alpha Chi Mary Thorley and Chet McCoy. . . . At the Farm House party were Rodney Rathbone of Baldwin hall and the home town girl, Christine Peterson, with whom he has been going steady for three years. . . . Tommy Hayes was at Broadview Country club, too. He took Barbara Smith. Incidentally, while dancing, and not with Barbara, either, he just suddenly sat down. Oops!

At the Pike.

Artie Shaw drew such a crowd that you couldn't move, hardly. . . . About the most surprising thing that happened was the discovery that Guy Williams, yes the Acacia Williams, is married to Helen Hendricks. They were married May 31 last year and no one found out till Friday when they double dated with five Acacias and their dates. Well, good luck, even if it is a little late. . . . Mary Kierstead is really glassy eyed about that guy from Texas. He comes up, flies were heard, for all the games.

To Omaha for the Ball.

Lots of lucky people went to Omaha for the coronation. Among them were Kappas Patty Meade, Mary Runyan and Shirley VanDecar. Shirley thought she had a date with Beta Bill Schaumberg, but he up and told her he had another date. The rat. . . . Gamma Phi Ruth Cordis went with Bob Love and Alpha Phis Barbara Jones, Marge Martin and Betty Winn went with Betas Johnny Edwards, Harold Salisbury and Bill Schaumberg.

Pheasants.

Kappa Betty Hofb had a pheasant dinner at Haps last night. The pheasants were supplied by George Johnson of Yankton, S. D. Guests from Yankton were Elizabeth Evans, Ruth Lottrop and Bob Schumate. Dates from this campus were Beta Bill Edwards, who ate with Elizabeth; Kappa Virginia Hays and Beta Harry Rinder; Dinny Ford, Kappa, and ATO Perry Fuller. . . . Hear they all had fun and the pheasants were good. . . . Also in the Kappa house happened this little incident. The Kappas were entertaining the Innocents at dinner and Walter Rindin, SAE, Kosmet Klub prexy, etc., was sitting between Susie Woodruff and Phid Hoffman. Years ago a Kappa had broken a date with him so he lords it over them with a little feud (all in fun). When the Kappas sang a Kappa song everyone clapped but Walt, who booted. The rest of the evening was spent in riding poor Walt. They called him names, told him he couldn't ever have any dates in the Kappa house, and the worse—they wouldn't let him have any ciphers. Good thing something funny happens once in a while.

Ak-Sar-Ben Chooses Many UN Coeds

Royalty Wears Red, White and Blue

Eleven students were in the court of King and Queen Ak-Sar-Ben XLVII as the court was presented to members of Ak-Sar-Ben and their invited guests Friday night.

Queen Alice Jeanette Meyer and King W. B. Millard, jr., reigned over the loyal subjects of Quivera in an atmosphere of military red, white and blue. These colors are used in the decorations, lighting and costumes worn by princesses and countesses.

The three students serving as princesses were Patricia Steele Trester, member of Kappa Alpha Theta who attended school here last year, Ann Patrice Prime, member of Alpha Phi who also attended the university last year, and Ann Hyatt Weaver, pledged to Kappa Kappa Gamma.

Eight of the princesses were gowned in white net embroidered in gold and silver sequins centered with crystal teardrops. Miss Trester wore one of these white gowns and wore in her hair a bow of net embroidered in sequins.

The other princesses wore gowns of Victory blue net flecked with Victory blue sequins. Miss Prime and Miss Weaver were attired in Victory blue gowns. On the necklines at the front of the bodices were butterflies made of blue feathers and studded with rhinestones. In their hair they wore matching butterflies.

The princesses wore shoes of the same material and color as their dresses. Each carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses.

Eight university coeds were dressed in the Cardinal red net gowns worn by countesses. On each gown were six dozen ermine tails and each skirt measured fully 22 yards around the three layers. Ermine tails in tiny clusters trimmed the left front of the bodices of the dresses and centered the red net bows worn in the countesses' hair.

Countesses who are attending the university this year are Margaret Kenner, pledged to Kappa Alpha Theta; Eloise Rogers, pledged to Kappa Kappa Gamma; Ruth McClymont, Kappa Alpha Theta; Virginia Way, Alpha Phi, Ann Seacrest, pledged to Kappa Alpha Theta; Sayre Webster, Pi Beta Phi; Alyce Virginia Cunningham; Pi Beta Phi, and Nancy Haycock, Pi Beta Phi.

The countesses carried bouquets of waxy white gardenias which made a striking contrast against the background of their cardinal red gowns.

Costumes worn by princesses and countesses were Nanty originals. The bodices were tight fitting while the skirts were very full and had short trains. For the first time, they showed the new long waisted effect at an Ak-Sar-Ben ball.

The Ak-Sar-Ben coronation being the largest opening of formal season in the middlewest, it attracted thousands of people from Omaha, Lincoln, from all over this section of the country and many university students. All alike were delighted with the magnificent spectacle and many from this group with additional thousands attended the ball last night at which Artie Shaw played and James Melton sang.

National Home Ec Honorary Holds Annual Alumni Banquet

. . . Friday Night

Phi Upsilon Omicron, national home economics honorary sorority, held its annual alumni dinner on Friday, at 6 p. m. in parlor X of the Union. This dinner was given by the active chapter for all alumni members of the organization.

The Phi U pin provided the theme for the banquet; decorations were carried out in gold and white, Phi Upsilon Omicron's colors. Committee in charge of the event consisted of Janice Marshall, Loa Mae Peterson, Florence Hamer, and Maxine Copsey.

Loa Mae Peterson, president of the organization, served as toastmistress. The program for the evening consisted of the prelude, which was given by Florence Hudson; welcome, by the president, Loa Mae Peterson; response, Sylvia Zocholl, last year's Goddess of Agriculture; the main address by Miss Teresa Libershal, who is in charge of the food service at Miller & Paine's; consumer education news, presented by Miss Margaret Liston, instructor of home economics at ag college; the district report, which brought out the fact that this district of Phi Upsilon Omicron chapters must be reorganized in the near future, because of the rapid extension of the club, given by Miss Rose Wanek. The program closed with group singing, led by Retha Edeal.

The organization, as its newest project, will make a contribution to Love Memorial hall, the new ag college women's dormitory. The gift will consist of andirons, screen, and fire tools for the living room of the hall.

With Brilliant Costuming . . .

Graff Ballet Troupe Presents Colorful Impression of Dance

. . . Friday Night

By Preston Hays

The Graff Ballet troupe's presentation Friday night was a colorful example of modern impressionism in dance. Satire, mimicry, drama, emotion, comedy—all were incorporated in the vigorous choreography which was conceived by the principals of the troupe, Grace and Kurt Graff.

Costuming was brilliant, and staging and lighting were expertly handled. The accompaniment of two pianos was effective and mention should be made of the musical score, the large part of which is the original work of Joseph Hawes, one of the accompanists.

Modern, impressionistic, fanciful—the music was brilliant in mood portrayal and appropriately descriptive of the dance forms. As ballet music in the present day tradition, it was impressive, though frequently aimless in thematic material.

Several sections of the program were especially satisfying, the romance number, featuring the Graffs, especially so. A brilliant moment was the surrender of the girl of the streets to death, in the sequence titled "Ode to the Living." In a satirical humorous vein, "Vintage—1912" and "The Garden Party" were enjoyable.
