Noted Educators Attend AAUC Meeting in Lincoln

. . . 85 Delegates Expected

Approximately 85 delegates and guests are expected to attend the 43rd annual conference of the Association of American Universities on the campus Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week.

Among the distinguished guests who will be present and speak on the program are the following:

General Lewis B. Hershey, director of the selective service syspoints for consideration by the student body.

1. The amendment assures representation on the Student Council in direct proportion to the voting strength of the parties or groups (Article 4, Section 5).

Ratio 5 to 1.

In the last six years 166 Greeks and 30 Barbs have held office on the Student Council. At present 1,550 affiliated students are represented on the Student Council by 28 members, the 3,500 unaffiliated by only seven members. The ratio is 5 to 1. In the last election the barb party polled 42 percent of the votes and received only 20 percent of the Student Council membership. The facts and figures speak for themselves.

2. All members of the Student Council will be elected without artificial restrictions as to class, college and sex. Students have never been divided along these lines.

3. Students of the college of agriculture are guaranteed fairer representation under this plan (Article 4, Section 1).

4. The initiative or repeal of rules for student elections upon petition by the majority of the students will lessen manipulation by the majority party on the Council (Article 9, Section 2).

To Committees.

5. The idea of proportional representation will be carried thru to all committees of the Student Council and committees and boards appointed by it (Article 5, Section 2).

6. Control by faction bosses will be lessened and the chances of individuals and minority groups to gain membership will be increased (Article 4, Section 5).

7. All committees, including the judiciary committee, will be directly responsible to the Student Council (Article 5, Section 2).

8. Manipulation by the party in power will be lessened by the elimination of hold-over members. However, experience on the Council will be assured by the alternation of the terms of members (Article 4, Section 2).

9. Efficiency and successful planning in the carrying out of projects will be assured in a unified council of 20 members (Article 4, Section 1).

10. Vacancies will be filled automatically from the election records rather than arbitrarily by the party in power (Article VI).
