Christmas spirit prevails: More serenades—more late shopping and more vacation plans . . . Omaha's the popular place to spend the holidays with half the campus moving in to help liven up the parties . . . Alpha Chi Marge Stewart's entertaining Marge Bruning and Polly Jo Taylor . . . They're celebrating New Year's with ATO Ed Butler, Acacia Buzz Dalton and ATO Phil Ford . . . Kappa Jeannie Brown and Phi Delt Chick Thorne will go up for one of the Spinster dances, and, inevitably, Paul Svoboda and Chris Petersen will be whipping to that and other parties of their own . . . But Tri Delt Ruth Denny is having trouble deciding between New Year's in Sioux City or Omaha . . . Saw SAE Jim Griggs shopping for Tri Delt Gibby Edwards' Christmas gift . . .

But Not Too Late.

Late news: Palladians Margie May and Don Dobry have started to steady—except on Friday . . . That's Palladian "state" night when all the members trade dates . . . The Cornhusker staff held the big Christmas party in the office . . . Nothing but popcorn all over the place . . . And a good time was had by all, especially the poker players . . . They've never called it steady, 'till now, but it resembled that for many months . . . We're speaking of the constant dating between Sigma Nu Marley Wolfe and DG Kay De-weiler . . .

Wedding Bells

More news from the Sigma Nu house is the marriage DG Pat Knuth and Ken Ebzery to take place December 27th . . . Something's wrong and no one seems to know just what with the couple of Johnny "Clown of the Basketball Court" Thompson and Theta Barbara Erenesty . . . All over are Phi Gam Jim Lindberg and

Students Plan Gala Parties During Recess

Among the many parties that will keep university students busy this Christmas will be those given during the holiday season in Omaha. Besides the private parties, dinners and teas already scheduled, there are three Christmas dances to be held at the Blackstone Hotel.

Christmas night is the date of the annual given by a group of college girls calling themselves the Spinisters.

On the night of the 26th the younger girls will sponsor the Candy Stick ball, and the next night the alumnae will give the annual Yale ball. Several fraternity dances have been arranged by Nebraska, Creighton and Omaha U. organizations.

Tri Delt Beep True (Just before Xmas too!) . . . Have the big time over the holidays, kiddies, and we'll be checking up on you—come 1942 . . . All's well that prints well . . .

Here's a word . . . R. C.

For all of you students wondering about what become of your Cornhusker pictures . . . you'll find them on the second floor of Miller and Paine's in the photo department—and while you're there why not ask about the services offered? You'll discover that the likenesses you're going to want for gift portraits or application photos and of course, one for that boy in the army or that girl at home . . . will be yours in quality unexcelled—at moderate prices. —Adv.

Eliminating Many Vacations . . . Dartmouth Crowds Program In Keeping with War Effort . . . Seniors Get Degrees Early

Elimination of all post-Christmas vacations and telescoping of the remainder of the college year was the program outlined for Dartmouth college students at a war convocation this week as the historic college at Hanover, N. H., adjusted its curriculum in gear with the nation's war effort.

The accelerated program will release seniors and undergraduates for military or general wartime service by May 10, but Ernest Hopkins, president of the college, warned students that a terrific amount of work is necessary for such a scheme.

The action involves cancellation of the usual week's vacation between semesters, the Easter recess and the Winter Carnival and Green Key, famous Dartmouth social functions.

Final exams will be reduced to one week instead of two weeks, and a simplified Commencement will be held. Details concerning athletic schedules, alumni reunions and other traditional events remain to be worked out, but there are sure to be alterations in present plans.

The entire Dartmouth scholastic setup will be upset with examinations being given on Sundays and in the evenings to save time. Instruction will be packed into a comparatively short period of time but the college officials are acting in an attempt to grant degrees to seniors called for military service before the end of the college year.

Rifle Club Holds Meeting Jan. 6 Naming High Girls
