

Editorial - Comment - Bulletin

The Daily Nebraskan

FORTY-FIRST YEAR.

Subscription Rates are $1.00 Per Semester or $1.50 for the College Year. $2.50 Mailed. Single copy, 5 Cents. Entered as second-class matter at the post-office in Lincoln, Nebraska, under Act of Congress, March 3, 1879, and at special rate of postage provided for in Section 1103, Act of October 3, 1917. Authorized September 30, 1922.

Offices Union Building Day-2-7181. Night-2-7193. Journal-2-3330

Member Associated Collegiate Press, 1940-41. Member Nebraska Press Association, 1940-41.

Represented for National Advertising by NATIONAL ADVERTISING SERVICE, INC. 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y. Chicago Boston Los Angeles San Francisco

Published daily during the school year except Mondays and Saturdays, vacations, and examination periods by students of the University of Nebraska under the supervision of the Publications Board.

Editor Paul Svoboda Business Manager Ben Novicoff

Eleanor'n Me

By Alan Jacobs

We went to the Junior-Prom Friday night. We wore a tuxedo. We're glad that we did. First, because if we had worn tails, we would have been broke. Second, if we would have worn tails, we would have looked like a beetle.

That's what Helen Kelley says.

We were insulted at first, but felt better when Helen told us that every fellow who wears tails looks like a beetle. But that isn't insulting either, she said, because she likes the looks of beetles.

Ever Seen a Beetle?

We forget what beetles like like. In fact, we've never seen a live beetle. But we'll bet the great race of beetles would be angry if Helen Kelley would have told them they look like fellows dressed up in tails.

Webster defines beetle as "any insect of the order Coleoptera, having four wings, the outer pair being stiff cases which cover the others when they are folded."

After comprehensive analysis of that definition we don't see where Pi Phi Kelley sees the connection between a beetle and a man wearing tails.

It's Female Futility.

We suspect her of typical feminine jealousy and maliciousness. She is like most of these women who wish they were men, and because of the futility of their desires spend all of their time caustically criticizing the male.

Kelley may say that men who wear tails look like beetles. We don't care.

We think that women who wear formals look like bed-bugs. And we would rather be a beetle than a bed-bug.

On Other Campuses

By Marsa Lee Civin.

The importance of women in industry as a vital factor in winning the war was emphasized at the University of Kansas with the announcement of special classes in mechanical drawing for women only.

The courses will be sponsored by the United States Office of Education and will deal with mechanical drawing, lettering and blueprints. The courses are being started because of the shortage of draftsmen who have been called into the armed services.

The senior class at Princeton, N. J., has pledged $73,464 in a 20-year endowment insurance policy to the Class of 1942 Memorial Fund. The goal has been set for $100,000 for the 279 senior class members. Only 118 have paid the first premiums.

"Have you ever wondered how your girl friend's waistline compares with other coeds?" asks the Iowa State Daily Student. In order to answer this question the results of the second annual waistline fireside will have to be computed.

Price of admission varies with the size of the waistline in comparison with an "average waistline" which was arrived at by measuring more than 6,000 inches of waists. Proceeds of the fireside will be turned over to the War Chest Fund.

Dr. Grace Sloan Overton, author and lecturer, will appear in a series of lectures on marriage at the University of Texas this week. Dr. Overton is an authority on the problems of youth and family life and will speak every day this week.

The series is being sponsored by the mental hygiene division of the Hogg Foundation. This group has brought to the university one of the foremost authorities on marriage and its problems, having studied extensively in Europe as well as in the U. S.

Potatoes . . .

(Continued from Page 1.)

types of storage—one for the seed which is shipped south and the other for that which they plan to sell in Nebraska. Assisting the experiment station in its studies is the Nebraska Certified Potato Growers Cooperative.

The students who are contemplating showing in the Jr. Ak-Sar-Ben began their preparation in earnest yesterday as many students began to groom their animals and attempted to "get acquainted" with them. According to Frank Messersmith, manager of the show, "the students are really getting into the swing of things and basic preparations of the show are nearly completed." With everyone on this campus interested in making this year's Jr. Ak-Sar-Ben one of the best, it seems quite evident that the show on the night of March 21 is going to be very educational as well as interesting.

YOUR DRUG STORE

- 35c Bromo-Quinine 27c
50c Tek Toothbrush 29c
60c Sal Hepatica 49c
75c Bayer Aspirin 59c

OWL PHARMACY

148 No. 14th & P 2-1068

Bulletin

REVISED SEATING ARRANGEMENT FOR AMERICA AND WORLD WAR II

Table with columns for names, Row, and Seat. Lists names like Allen, Bernice; Anderson, Florence; Austin, Margaret; etc.

Coeds 'Lose Face' To Army Priorities

No war shortage will hit university coeds as badly as that which their face is about to face: A shortage of lipstick. A new need for beeswax, the base for lipstick, has been created by the war, and coeds will have to defer to national defense.

According to Dr. Maurice C. Tanquary, University of Minnesota professor of apiculture, "The beeswax base of cosmetics is being used in increasing quantities to equip the armed forces with everything from axle grease to shoe polish."

There have been substitutes found for the manufacture of paste rouge, eyebrow pencil and cleansing cream, but the price on beeswax has risen to more than double its normal price.

"We had to import African beeswax to meet peacetime needs and now when we need more and imports from Africa are restricted, peacetime uses may have to be curtailed," Dr. Tanquary said.

In other words, gals, start cultivating strawberries; they stain beautifully.

Prom . . .

(Continued from Page 1.)

dience to compose the band for the Prom.

Thirteen men finally appeared ready to give their all for the university and Innocents society. When the leader of the aggregation pulled two clarinets out of a hat and began to play them, students realized that at last they were hearing the mystery band, Jimmy Joy.

All the secrets were cleared up last night, and the Innocents have unpacked their suitcases and turned in their train tickets to Tokyo.

Attendants to the winners were Lois Drake, Maralyn Dale, Jessie Moore, Beldora Cochran, Becky Wait, Harriet Costello, Ruth Iverson, Phyllis Welch, Betty Nichols, Shirley Johnson, Mary Ellen Rob-

- Watson, Warren 6 9
Wentz, Lawrence 6 10
Whitehead, Martha 6 11
Wiggins, Samuel 6 12
Williams, Patricia 7 1
Wilbers, Jean 7 2
Woodworth, Corene 7 3
Wright, Jack 7 4
Verkes, Walter 7 5
Yetter, George 7 6
Yonge, Alta 7 7
Zinfel, Roberta 7 8
Baylor, John 7 9

inson, Lois Scofield, Jack Stewart, Robert Galloway, Ed Milder, Bob Poe, Ren Bukacek, Wally Engdahl, Ray Grimes, Bob Irvin, Marvin Thompson, Jim Selzer, Jay Hoffman, and Jack McPhail.

Miss Craft's train bearers were Wilma Wolfe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Wolfe of Lincoln, and Patricia McDonald, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. McDonald of Lincoln.

Memorial . . .

(Continued from Page 1.)

M. H. Wesen, associate professor of business English.

The program will include music by the University Singers and Myron Roberts, organist. Chancellor C. S. Boucher will preside and the Rev. Dean R. Leland will pronounce the invocation and give the readings. The deans of the respective colleges in which those being recognized by the service taught, will ready the commemorative citations.

Other members of the committee arranging the service are Dean O. J. Ferguson and Dean R. A. Lyman.

Ben Simon & Sons 4th floor ladies fashions. Tailorbrooke. Simon's precision tailleur. 25.00. Includes an image of a suit jacket.

TODAY! 25c to 6 P. M. Thrill to the Beauty of a Saring Chad Goddesses of Love! South of TAMI. Includes an image of a woman.