Great Miler Returns . . . Glenn Cunningham Will Serve As Referee at KU Track Meet

LAWRENCE, March 24.—Dr. Glenn Cunningham, formerly the world's greatest miler, and now director of athletics and professor of physical education at Cornell College, Mt. Vernon, Iowa, will serve as referee at the twentieth annual University of Kansas relays and interscholastic track and field meet, April 17 and 18, Gwinn Henry, director of the carnival, announced today.

Entry blanks are going out this week to colleges and Universities throughout the country, and to all high schools in the state, H. W. Hargiss, University of Kansas track coach, and general manager of the relays, announced today.

Interest Evident.
 A great deal of interest in this year's carnival, traditionally one of the outstanding events of its kind in the nation, has been evidenced by the preliminary correspondence and inquiries which have been coming into the offices of the athletic department here.

Heading the Big Ten conference delegations will be Minnesota's squad of Golden Gophers who will bring 24 men to the relays. Colorado has already indicated that a squad of 12 will represent the Buffaloes, Coach Hargiss said today. With the relays nearly a month away, advance inquiries point to one of the finest fields of contestants in recent years for the games.

Specialties Featured.
 The special events, university class relays, college class and junior college class relay, will again feature the carnival. Early interest manifested indicates a record representation for the college and university events.

The fact that enrollments in the various high school institutes and clinics held this year under university auspices have been heavier than in recent years, is expected to produce a large entry list in the inter-scholastic events, Director Henry said.

Sports Whirl

By Bob Miller

JACK Gunther in his UP column states, "...The USC-UCLA clash might go to Minneapolis or Lincoln, Neb. The question, of course, is whether the alien teams would draw so far from home..." The statement was concluding a suggested proposal to shift the coast games to the midwest to escape the 5,000 limit on athletic crowds... It seems that some of the sport critics on either coast think that it would be a good idea to transfer half way inland and that way the games could play before larger crowds.

FIRST effect of the placing of a limit on crowds was noticed at Stanford... Clark Shaughnessy, Cinderella coach of the Indians, failed to renew his contract and signed at Maryland... At his new job he will be shaking down an estimated $9,000 per year and there will be no limit upon the crowds witnessing his team in action... It was Coach Shaughnessy who pulled Stanford out of their football recession (new deal term) and put them into the Rose Bowl in 1940... That was the year that Kmetovic and company put the Huskers out of commission... He could have asked his own terms that year.

CONSIDERING Gunther's remark concerning drawing power of the teams away from home, it is our opinion that such an arrangement would not fare too badly... At least there would undoubtedly be enough over the 5,000 limit to pay the coast schools to send their teams into the wild and woolly interior... If the Husker institution were selected, 35 to 38,000 would be the top limit here but even 15,000 over the prescribed limit would make the proposal a paying one... Football would be on tap nearly every week end... Minnesota and Pittsburgh are both scheduled to perform on the Cornhusker sod besides the coast teams: this would insure good crowds consistently... And another thing it would definitely set the midwest up as the high lands of intercollegiate football, a place which it now holds in reality but not in name.

EUGENE "Red" Littler definitely proved that he would wind up his senior year in a blaze of glory, provided he can maintain and strengthen a pace which he set on Monday evening... Working out on the stadium track in the great out of doors, Red stepped off a 100 yard dash in 09.8 seconds and he had not given everything to do that... A performance of those proportions merits special mention since it is so early in the season... The Texas relays are to be held this week end bringing together the best from the the country over down in Austin.

NEWTON Copple, Husker wrestler, left this morning for the National Intercollegiate Wrestling tournament to be held in East Lansing, Michigan... He accompanied the Kansas State coach and his entry, Porter... Porter and Copple are the best in the conference, grabbing a co-title in the 145 pound division during the regular dual season... The two drew in their match for the first time in eleven matches that the K-Stater had not won.
