Forthcoming sprint duel between the current two "fastest humans"—Barney Ewell of Penn State and Hal Davis of California—brings to mind Ewell's appearance here at the 1939 A. A. U. meet. He was comparatively unknown then, but he fairly sailed down the stretch in the 200 meters dash to nip Clyde Jeffrey of Stanford, erstwhile "fastest thing" in 21 seconds flat. Previously he had finished third in the 100 meters which Jeffrey won. Davis, just another high school kid at the time, hadn't flashed into prominence.

junior shot and discus events with marks of 52-3 and 153-2 1/4. The next day he threw the discus 159-4 for third in the senior championships.

N. B. C. has given up plans to broadcast the meet, but KFOR will put the finals on the air at different times Saturday afternoon.

Among the other headliners who were here in 1939 is Campbell Kane, the lanky Indianan who has won two national collegiate half-mile championships in a row. He won the junior 800 meters in 1:53 and the next day was second to Charley Beetham, who took the senior event in 1:51.7. Kane at the time looked like "the goods." He's the athlete who went to Indiana to play basketball, but who never got back to the cage game after the track coaches noticed him. Al Blozis, won the
