

Daily Outlines Functions, Activities Sponsored, Officers of Six Prominent Extra-Curricular Organizations Operating on Nebraska Campus

Even in war time, student activity and interest is not limited to the classroom. On the UN campus there are several organizations which serve as an outlet for student energy.

Here is an outline of the organizations which figure prominently in campus extra-curricular activities:

MORTAR BOARD

Mortar Board, the senior women's honorary, marks twelve junior women at the Ivy Day celebration each year. The society honors the high scholastic average, activities-minded women on the campus.

The society sponsors an inter-organization. The Mortar Board Party, an annual vice versa affair at which six eligible bachelors on the campus are presented, is sponsored by this group.

Officers for this year's group are: Dorothy Weirich, president; Susan Shaw, vice president; Sylvia Katzman, secretary; Shirley Phelps, treasurer.

INNOCENTS

The traditions of the honorary Innocents society are perpetuated each spring by the tapping of 13 activities minded juniors. The out-going senior Innocents do the honors at the Ivy Day celebrations.

This group sponsors the Junior-Senior Prom, the selection of cheer leaders and the sale of freshmen caps. They also have charge of the Homecoming Celebration, and the Freshmen Convocation.

The president of this year's organization is Preston Hays; vice-president, Larry Huwaldt; secretary, Max Laughlin; treasurer, Bob Schlater and sergeant-at-arms, Fred Metheny.

AWS

The Associated Women Students is an organization of all women students on campus. The administrative duties are divided among three bodies. The executive board of 14 members is elected each spring by women students; the legislative body is composed of the presidents of all the organized houses; and the judicial body, known as the AWS court tries all violators of AWS rules and enforces the point system for women's activities.

AWS sponsors the Intersorority Sing at Ivy Day. The organization is financed by Coed Follies at which original skits are presented by women's houses. Each house presents candidates for Typical Nebraska Code. The Penny Carnival and the Ivy Day Tea Dance are also fund raisers.

This year the group is cooperating with the Student Foundation in an attempt to get freshmen students interested in activities.

Janet Curley is president of AWS this year.

KOSMET KLUB

Kosmet Klub, men's dramatic society, presents a fall show each year composed of the best original skits by sororities, fraternities and organized houses on the campus.

The Nebraska Sweetheart, who is elected by secret ballot, is presented along with Prince Kosmet.

Usually a musical comedy is presented each spring by an all male cast. A contest is sponsored for the best play and musical score presented and the winners receive prizes.

The Klub also sponsors the interfraternity sing on Ivy Day. A cup is presented to the best singers. A scholarship fund is also sponsored by the group.

Each year 15 new members are chosen from Kosmet Klub workers to replace the graduating seniors.

CORN COBS

Corn Cobs, the UN men's pep club chooses 16 members from a large group of hard-working pledges.

The group cooperates with a large group of campus organizations in drives and publications. The Cobs also sponsor activities independently.

The group is mainly a service organization. Their first duty is to conduct the freshmen tour of the campus. The group plans and leads all rallies when the season starts and sells flowers at the games. They cooperate with the Tassels in presenting the Homecoming Dance. When basketball season starts they lead the cheering.

This year's president is Frank White; vice-president, Jack Hogan; secretary is Max Laughlin, and elected treasurer was to have been Sheldon Kaufman.

TASSELS

The sister organization of the Corn Cobs is the Tassels. The group is also primarily a service organization and like the Cobs cooperates with other groups. They usher at university concerts and convocations at the Coliseum. A Pep Queen is chosen at the Homecoming Dance when it is presented by the Corn Cobs and the Tassels.

Prof Says, 'Come On Depression, We'll Lick You'

AUSTIN, Tex. (ACP). Economic depression after this war can be avoided, in opinion of Dr. C. E. Ayres, University of Texas economist. Dr. Ayres suggests as America's postwar slogan, "Come on, Depression . . . We Licked Hitler and We Can Lick You."

The economics professor said the government's immense spending program will help redistribute the wealth and thus furnish a hedge against depression. Re-designing of industry to produce civilian needs, increased by wartime scarcity, can provide jobs for millions now turning their efforts to war production.
