

Cornhuskers Add Touches For Cyclones

Cornhusker gridmen added final touches to their Iowa State preparations today by practicing signals and studying Cyclone plays.

Top news on the Husker front dealt with the injured right hand of Joe Partington, who shined in his pivot debut against Iowa. Indication was strong that Partington will be forced to withdraw to Forrie Bachman, former Lincoln high all-stater.

Jack Hazen continued to work at the left end post and Bob McNutt was still at Joe Byler's old tackle post. Both performers were upped at mid week. Mentor Presnell indicated that he intended to use a wide range of players in an attempt to find a clicking combination.

Presnell and his staff have spent the entire week supplanting "fumbleitis" with confidence. "If the boys fumble Saturday, it won't be because they didn't try to cure it."

Billy's Effigy Arouses Team

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Oct. 2. "The effigy of Mr. William Hillenbrand was hanging in front of a Butler university fraternity house last week . . .

And therein lies the answer to the bombshell that exploded over the week-end. The procedure, admittedly, was more or less a sight for the Hoosier fans' sore eyes and was a little out of the ordinary. But bombshell or no bombshell, Coach A. N. "Bo" McMillin's gladiators already have begun to dig in for the bigger and better business on hand.

Cards Rally For First Series Win

SPORTSMAN'S PARK, St. Louis, Oct. 2. A line single by Stan Musial, rookie left fielder, in the eighth inning scored Enos Slaughter here today and gave the Cards a 4-3 victory over the Yankees in the second World Series game.

In the first half of the eighth inning, Charlie Keller had tied the game with a two-run homer. Below is an account of the hectic last two innings.

FIRST INNING.
YANKS: Rizzuto walked on five pitches. Krist started warming up in the Cardinal bull pen. Rolfe flied out to T. Moore in short center. Rizzuto stole second. Cullenbine struck out on a curve ball. DiMaggio grounded out, Kurowski to Hopp.
ONE LEFT.

CARDS: Brown walked on five pitches, a rarity for Yankee hurler Ernie Bonham, a good control ball pitcher. T. Moore bunted for a sacrifice hit and both runners were safe when Brown beat the throw from Bonham to Rizzuto at second. Slaughter flied to Keller in left center. Musial fouled out Hasset near the stands. W. Cooper lined a double into right center scoring Brown and T. Moore. Hopp flied out DiMaggio in short center.
TWO RUNS, ONE HIT, ONE LEFT.

SECOND INNING.
YANKS: Keller flied out to T. Moore in short center. Gordon lined a double to left. Dickey grounded out, Hopp unassisted, Gordon moving to third. Hasset grounded out Brown to Hopp.
ONE HIT, ONE LEFT.

CARDS: T. Moore's bunt in the first inning was scored as a sacrifice hit for Moore and as a fielder's choice. Kurowski grounded out, Rizzuto to Hasset on the first pitched ball. Marion fouled out to Dickey. Beazley was called out on strikes.
THIRD INNING.

FOURTH INNING.
YANKS: DiMaggio fouled out to Hopp in front of the Yankee dugout. Keller singled over second base. Gordon lined out to Kurowski. Dickey singled past first base into right field. Keller stopping at second. Hasset flied out deep to Slaughter.
TWO HITS, TWO LEFT.
CARDS: Musial grounded out, Rizzuto

FIFTH INNING.
Bonham walked on six pitches. Rizzuto lined a single into short left, Bonham stopping at second. Rolfe hit into a double play, Brown to Marion to Hopp, Bonham taking third. Cullenbine flied out to Musial in short left.
TWO HITS, ONE LEFT.
CARDS: Marion flied out to DiMaggio in left center. Beazley was called out on strikes. Brown grounded out, Gordon to Hasset.
SIXTH INNING.
YANKS: DiMaggio grounded out, Marion to Hopp. Keller flied to Musial in short left. Gordon was called out on strikes.
CARDS: Moore flied out to DiMaggio on the first pitch. Slaughter sent a high fly on the second pitch to Cullenbine in right. Musial grounded out, Gordon to Hasset.
SEVENTH INNING.
YANKS: Dickey popped out to Hopp on the second pitch. Bonham rolled out, Marion to Hopp.
CARDS: W. Cooper flied to DiMaggio in short center on the first pitch. Hopp liner a single into short right after two called strikes. Kurowski smashed a triple into deep left field, scoring Hopp. Marion bounced out, Rolfe to Hasset, Kurowski holding third. Marvin Breuer, a right-hander, started warming up in the Yankee bull pen. Beazley fanned, swinging at three fast balls.
ONE RUN, TWO HITS, ONE LEFT.
Seventh Inning Totals.

EIGHTH INNING.
YANKS: Rizzuto fanned after fouling three pitches. Rolfe grounded out, Brown to Hopp on the third pitch. Cullenbine bounced a single off Brown's glove. Cullenbine stole second, the second Yank to do so in the game. DiMaggio lined a single into right field, scoring Cullenbine. Keller smashed a home run onto the roof of the right field stands, scoring behind DiMaggio. Gordon fanned on a wide pitch.
THREE RUNS, THREE HITS.
CARDS: Dickson and Gumbert were warming up in the Cardinal bull pen.

Horse Sense

By Norris Anderson (Sports Editor)

Rattle in mouth, this juvenile journalist hitches his diaper and glances at the World Herald sports page. Within the office our news editors frolic in their sandpile, our business manager gurgles from his cradle, and our editor bites furiously on his teething ring.

Our glance carries to Fred Ware's sports column: "I have at hand a clipping from the Daily Nebraskan, the campus house organ produced by pupa-state journalists. The sports editor tires mightily to find a bright side, and his efforts are a little pathetic."

"I hold that it's quite all right for house organs to grind a reasonable amount of propoganda, for the purpose of building institutional moral, but that's not within the province of the news columns of an adult daily, and I hope that the hon. journalism faculty down there persists in making a sharp distinction, for the sake of the profession's future good."

"George Bernard" Ware continues with: "On one thing, the Daily Nebraskan's sports editor is right." Then he proceeds to quote our statement praising Husker mentor, Glen Presnell.

"I only wonder what prompted the young man to bring up the subject. Among all the letters I have received only one was hard on Presnell, Holm and Lewandowski, and the guy who authored it lives in Ohio, and hasn't been any closer than that to Nebraska for a couple of years," use his closing jab.

This "pupa-stage" journalist recalls quite vividly the Ware dissertation on the "jitterbug boys" of 1938 wherein his 'onor roundly scolded the winless Jones boys.

Ware writes with finesse and vocabulary which few sports scribes ever acquire. A 12 cylinder brain of the Ware caliber can function on one cylinder and still digest these facts.

1. Nebraska's Cornhuskers are not a professional team and cannot be criticized as such. Furthermore, they do not play for the Omaha World Herald.

2. These kids didn't "lay down" against Iowa, they simply weren't clicking. A certain amount of criticism is bearable, but an entire story (sans a morsel of praise) is unfair to any amateur ball club.

3. We praised Mentor Presnell because we'd heard too much post-game criticism. If Mr. Ware didn't receive any letters on the matter, it was only that fans didn't consider the matter serious enough to publicize.

Our news editors are fighting in the sand pile, our business manager is pleading for a fresh change, and our editor is choking on his teething-ring—so we'd better draw the curtain. This "house organ" has ground out its share of "propaganda" for one day. For the sake of the "profession's future good," we hope Mr. Ware will make a "distinction," a sharp one.

What's Happening to Our Constitution? is the seventieth of a series of popular, factual, 10-cent pamphlets published by the Public Affairs committee, 30 Rockefeller plaza, New York city.

Widdle Nor-Nor

Pictured above is the itty-bitty sports editor—the Fred Ware rendition. "F. W." calls all Rag staff members "pupa-stages" and positively insists we start putting out an "adult" daily.

Brown was thrown out by Gordon. Hasset making the putout. Moore flied to DiMaggio in deep center field. Slaughter doubled to the right field corner and when Rizzuto missed Cullenbine's throw in to second, the Card outfielder went to third. It was an error for Rizzuto. Musial singled over second scoring Slaughter. W. Cooper flied to Cullenbine in right center.
ONE RUN, TWO HITS, ONE LEFT, ONE ERROR.

Cyclones Stop 'Nebraska' in Practice Play

AMES, Ia., Oct. 2.—Iowa State had little trouble stopping Nebraska power plays Thursday night as the Cyclones had their hardest workout of the week.

"There'll be a lot of difference in smothering our own reserves using Nebraska plays and actually stopping Nebraska," Donels pointed out. "Any team can stop Nebraska Wednesday. It's the work you do Saturday that counts."

Individuals Stressed.

Most of the session was spent in polishing up individual play before turning the regulars loose against the Cornhusker offense. Drill against the variations of five, six and seven man line defenses also came in for attention.

Donels named a total of 29 men for the traveling squad. The Cyclones will leave Ames Friday afternoon and will stay in Omaha that night, continuing to Lincoln Saturday morning.

The traveling squad includes: Ends: Robert Caddock, Walnut; George Harville, Creston; Bill Jahn, Chicago, Ill.; Maurice Ryan, Ames, and Mel Shanda, Belle Plaine.

Tackles: Bob Ash, Ames; Bill Barger, Leon; Dick Caddock, Walnut, and LeVerne McGraw, Sioux City.

Guards: Jim Beneke, Austin, Minn.; Louis Bosnyk, Elgin, Ill.; George Schoel, Waterloo; Don Seibold, Ackley, and Dean Thomas, Des Moines.

Centers: Jack Miller, Sioux City; Burt Shoen, Ames, and Roe Williams, Des Moines.

Quarterbacks: Bob Lechtenberg, Sioux City; Harley Rollinger, LeMars, and Charles Schalk, Iowa Falls.

Halfbacks: Capt. Royal Lohry, Sioux City; Toward Tippee, Des Moines; Ron Norman, Fairfield; George Gast, Osaga; Dave Sharp, Omaha, Neb., and Bob Winders, Toledo.

Fullbacks: Ellis Alexander, Merville; Paul Darling, Estherville, and Vic Weber, Harlan.

Home Furnishing Class Decorates Loomis Hall at Ag

Loomis Hall has been entirely redecorated, with the planning and selection of paper and draperies being managed by Miss Bess Steele's summer school class in Home Furnishing. The effect is lovely, and good experience for the class, as well as a fine demonstration of training given on ag campus.
