WOMEN

Despite War . . .

Designers Achieve Victory Over 'No Formal' Verdict

. . . For Winter Season

What shall I wear? Sounds familiar, doesn't it?

You'd think with a war going on and all the WPB has done to regulate women's fashions that everyone wouldn't have to worry about what to wear. But no—designers these days are just too ingenious.

WPB limited the yardage in skirts, so we have a slim silhouette—anyway, a silhouette. War workers don't have time to change their costumes after work, hence the very versatile dressmaker suit which is not only a suit but masquerades as a dress too. (Confusing, isn't it?) Then there is the "after five" dress that looks just as chic for dinner and a show as it does for more elaborate occasions.

The designers weren't even stumped when NU issued the edict "NO FORMALS." While every coed on the campus mourned her lost glamour, the designers got to work. Results: a new street length formal that is absolutely guaranteed to make you look every bit as glamorous as any ankle length one ever did. Besides all that, the new formals are versatile as well. Add a jacket and you have a very super street outfit. What more could you want?

Farmers Formal Queen Candidates File Tomorrow

All senior women enrolled in the ag college and who are interested in filing for Farmers Formal Queen must file by Friday noon.

The rules governing the election of the Queen specify that she must have 89 credit hours with an average of 80 percent; she must have carried 27 hours the previous two semesters and must be carrying 12 hours at the time of election; and she must be registered in the ag college.

P. E. Department Tells Swim Time

The physical education department for women announces the fixing of recreational swimming hours. They are:

MW . . . . . 4:30-5:30
F . . . . . 3:30-5:30
S . . . . . 2:00-4:00

Faculty, administration officials and employes as well as students are invited to avail themselves of the opportunity.

There is a charge of ten cents per swim which includes towel and suit. Swimmers will furnish their own slippers and bathing caps.

Education Club Elects Becky Wait President

Betty Marie Wait was elected president of the Elementary Education club for the coming year at a meeting held yesterday. An advisory board composed of Joyce Junge, Darlene Wakeman, and Marcia Woodruff was also chosen.

The club is a branch of the "Association of Childhood Education," a large national organization composed of teachers in nursery, kindergarten, primary, and elementary work. According to national rules, the slate contained three nominees for each office.

The newly elected officers which contain one senior, junior, sophomore, and freshman will meet next week to prepare plans for social and professional events during the coming year.
