UN Senate Revises Athletic Eligibility

Unfamiliar to freshmen and very hazy in the minds of many upperclassmen are the eligibility requirements of the university for all extra-curricular activities and the system of points for various activities.

The University Senate, faculty body which serves in an advisory capacity to the chancellor, last week amended the activity eligibility requirements. For all extra-curricular activities each student must be a regularly enrolled member of the university, must be satisfactorily carrying 12 hours, must have completed satisfactorily at least 24 hours in residence during the last two semesters he was registered. Previously the requirement has been 27 hours instead of 24.

Summer Session Counts.

One summer session may be used to meet the hours requirement provided it immediately precedes or follows a regular semester. Correspondence courses may not be counted excepting with the permission of a professor when used to remove a condition or failure in a course.

Purpose of the point system is to regulate and limit the participation in activities so that more individuals may take part. Elsewhere in the Daily are charts of pointed activities for men and women. Points scheduled given for Barb activities were supplied by Roy Byrum and are not official.

AWS Governs.

Governing body for women's activities is the AWS board together with the dean of women. Women's activities are pointed on a scale of 1, 2, 4, and 5 according to the responsibilities and amount of time required. No woman may carry more than nine permanent points at one time. University Theatre and the junior and senior

Farmers' Fair board are termed "floating" points and are counted only at the time of the activity. Including "floating" points, a woman have a total of not more than 10 points.

If, upon taking an office, a woman will be overpointed, she is not eligible for the office. A woman may not change activities excepting at the end of the term of the office. If a girl drops a position in an organization she may not return to the same activity.

Men's Point System.

In cases where an office gives automatic membership in another activity the second activity will not be counted. Points are not awarded for both an office and membership in the same group.

The men's Student Activities board is composed of the president of the Innocents society; the editor of the Daily, excepting when it is a girl; and in this case the business manager shall have membership; president of Student Council; president of Corn Cobs; president of Kosmet Klub; president of interfraternity council; a senior man elected by the Nebraska Independents Association and a senior man elected by the ag executive board. In addition two faculty men are ex-officio members.

Six Points for Sophs.

Sophomores with a scholastic average of 72 percent or above may carry six points an sophomores with lower averages may carry three points. Juniors with 72 or above may have seven points and those below four points. Seniors above 72 may carry eight points; seven if below.

Men, as women, are not pointed for auxiliary offices nor are they eligible if upon taking office they will be overpointed. The men's board has the power to restrict to the established maximum the number of points a student may take in a semester.
