

For Picnic Fun . . .

Contrasting chalk white and dark green are the colors Helen Johnson, vivacious DG, combines for this super picnic or study outfit. Her slacks are green gabardine and her jacket is white wool. The silk shirt is a green and white flower-print. Simon's suggest that you wear them for Saturday afternoons by the radio, too.

Coeds Rave Over Jeans, Plaid Shirts

Women Don Angry Colors With Eye-Catching Intent Rag Fashion Edition—BY PAT WELSH.

It seems as if the freshman gals are really all-out for jeans and plaid shirts. All the little frosh co-eds can be seen staggering across the campus from Monday morning 'till Sunday night, wearing jeans and long sloppy shirts, with beautifully contrasting colors of blue, red, yellow, green, and purple.

The girls really don't seem to be very particular as to what length the jeans are. Those fortunate girls with shapely gams wear their jeans rolled above the knees while the more unfortunate souls wear them practically to the ankles.

And the ankle sox worn with the jeans! I think most of them came directly from Men's Sports Department, Ben Simon's. Janey Stroud, Tri Delt, has a luscious pair of orange, black, and yellow sox, worn with her orange and yellow plaid blouse and jeans, and strange to say, she looks pretty keen. Lorraine Rabe, Alpha Phi is really fortunate—her honorable papa owns a men's clothing store, so she can be seen seven days a week, wearing clothes on the more masculine side, everything from shirts to P. J.'s.

Good for Gadding.

Jo Ackrman, Theta pledge, looks pretty O. K. gadding around in her blue plaid shirt and red skirt. Roma Stahl, Alpha Phi, goes in for brown, red, and yellow—all at once, too, while Joan Beckwith, Pi Phi, wears her green plaid shirt with any and every skirt.

They do let up once in awhile, however, and come budding forth in purple sweaters and green skirts, yellow sweaters and red skirts, or some such combination. Anne Stevens, cut little Tri Delt, has a beautiful purple sweater which can be worn with any color and looks super, while Mona Staska, Alpha Xi Delt, goes in for contrasting shades of green.

It seems as if the fellows can't call anything their own any more, for the gals have even acquired cuffsless trousers to their wardrobe. Lorie Weaver, Pi Phi, has a pair of cords, worn, with a scarlet sweater that really looks snazzy. Roberta Anderson, is the proud possessor of some gray and red plaid slacks, which she finds quite handy to wear on Saturday's.

We haven't heard any complaints from the fellows, on these garbs, as yet—so, as long as they can wear them and still look darned cute, let's say, "more power to them!"

Coeds Appreciate Eisenberg Clips

If you are lucky and fortunate enough this Christmas you may find tucked in the toe of your stocking one of those gorgeous Eisenberg clips with earrings to match.

It is probably every girl's dream to have a simple yet striking black dress as the background for these beautiful accessories. This should be a definite "must" in your holiday wardrobe. There is no doubt a style that will be in vogue for some time to come. Why not take a hint, fellows?

priorities you'll have to put up with wet feet for the duration. Rubber boots are as scarce as new tires.

With winter waiting just around the corner the problem of heavy coats comes to mind. Here again

Uncle Sam and his boys have first call and if there is any wool left over from the manufacture of army blankets, etc., Mr. John Q. Public gets it, that is providing he has any money left over from paying his income, luxury, and so on indefinitely taxes, to pay for it.

For my lady there is still a sizable stock of fur coats and wraps in dealers hands but buyers warn us that if the present world conditions continue as they are these coats will be the last for quite a while.

Our worries are over when spring rolls around next year. There is no priority on cotton dresses, and silk hose won't bother us when leg cremes do the job just as well. So if we weather the winter we'll be all right.
