Corsages To Aid Post War Fund

Unwanted War Stamp Corsages To Be Given To Scholarship Drive

The Student War Scholarship fund will be given a substantial boost at the Military Ball Friday night by the voluntary collection of the war stamp corsages which are to be worn to the Ball.

The Student Foundation, in cooperation with the War Council, will place collection boxes for donations at the head of the stairs leading from the check rooms at the close of the Ball.

Any student who does not wish to place the stamps of her corsage in a personal stamp book is asked to place her corsage in one of these boxes. These stamps will be put towards the $2,500 goal of the War Scholarship fund.

This fund is to be kept in war savings bonds and stamps until the end of the present war, when it will be apportioned and awarded to former Nebraska men and women who have served in the armed forces during the war and who want to finish their college training at Nebraska. The Student Foundation has charge of organizing and promoting fund contributions.

Signal Corps Position Open To Uni Women

Army To Offer Work In Four Signal Phases To College Graduates

Positions for women in four phases of Signal Corps work are offered to college graduates, according to announcement received by the office of Dean of student affairs.

From the general development laboratory of the corps comes the notice that applications for laboratory, field engineering and sub-professional workers are being taken. Requirements for the jobs are that the applicants be between 21 and 35 years of age and have either a B. S., B. A., M. A., or M. S. degree. Salary is $2,000 per year.

Applicants selected will receive training in the Signal Corps laboratories to qualify them for all of the four types of positions offered. Inspection, laboratory experimentation, liaison work and experimental radio work jobs are open.

Represent Corps.

The inspectors will act as representatives of the corps laboratory in defense plants to determine the acceptability of equipment. In the laboratory experimental and development work the women will act as assistant engineers in experimental work conducted in laboratories in Detroit, Mich., compiling reports and memorandums on engineering subjects. Supervisory positions will develop for qualified applicants.

Liaison work will consist of (See SIGNAL CORPS, Page 5.)

Regents Approve Teachers College Music Courses

Authorized by the university board of regents, a department of music education in teachers college will be established by a faculty committee of the teachers college. The state department of education already has approved the plan.

The board of regents also named Dr. John F. Allen, professor in clinical medicine at the college of medicine in Omaha, as acting director of the college of medicine student health department, replacing Dr. John D. LeMar, who is on military leave.

Campus tradition of 34 years will be revived tonight when cadet officers are hosts to the university at their Military Ball in the coliseum. As the first such event of World War II, it will introduce innovations to accompany the wartime tempo.

Highlighting the formal presentation of the Honorary Colonel, Miss Ann Craft, will be a novel theme with an all-army background as a part of the grand march. Miss Craft and Cadet Colonel Richard Arnold will lead the march and the salute to the guests.

Playing for dancers will be Johnny "Scat" Davis, of radio and movie fame and the UN band will be directed, during the march, by Capt. Glenn Miller.

Usually the opening party of the university formal season, the Ball this year ushers in the new "informal" social season, inaugurated this year to augment the university war effort. Corsages have also been banned, but those made of war stamps will be sold to students today. Boxes will be placed in the building so that the stamps may be donated to the post-war scholarship fund after the Ball.

Juniors will wear their new uniforms for the first time tonight. As a part of the ceremonies, the ROTC crack squad will perform. Miss Craft was selected by a vote of the junior and senior officers at a meeting earlier in the year.

The ball committee in charge of Col. Arnold, is composed of members of the brigade staff and additional officers.

The special invitation list includes the following:

- Chancellor and Mrs. C. S. Boucher.
- Gov. and Mrs. Dwight Griswold.
- Mayor and Mrs. Richard O. Johnson.
- Gen. John J. Pershing, Washington, D. C.
- Gen. and Mrs. Frederick E. Uhl, Fort Omaha.
- Gen. and Mrs. Guy Henninger.
- Col. and Mrs. Raymond W. Briggs, Fort Omaha.
- Col. and Mrs. Early E. W. Duncan.
- Col. and Mrs. Sidney Erickson, Omaha.
- Col. and Mrs. R. J. Halpin, Omaha.
- Lt. Raymond H. Ellis, Omaha.
- Miss May Pershing.
- Regent and Mrs. Robert W. Devoe.
- Regent and Mrs. William E. Reed, Omaha.
- Regent and Mrs. Marion A. Shaw, David City.
- Regent and Mrs. Charles Y. Thompson, West Point.
- Regent and Mrs. Frank M. Johnson, Lexington.
- Regent and Mrs. Stanley D. Long, Grand Island.

Five Faculty Members Talk At High School

Hastings Students Hear Profs on 'Career Day'

High school students at Hastings heard talks regarding their status in the war Wednesday afternoon by five members of the UN faculty in their annual "Career Day" program.

Representing the university were G. W. Rosenlof, registrar; Dean Nels Bengston of the junior division; Dr. R. C. Bedell and Dr. W. R. Buller, associate professors of educational psychology; and J. P. Colbert, professor of engineering mechanics.

The UN faculty members advised the high school students to stay in school until they are called and recommended that male students of draft age get in reserves.

This conference was the first in a series in which UN faculty members will advise high school students regarding their status and the war. From time to time the university will send delegations to Nebraska high schools to talk before their student bodies.

War Production Training Classes Have Vacancies

War production training classes in Nebraska, including the class at the university have many vacancies for both men and women, according to Clinton A. Johnson, state director of the United States employment service.

Starting date for the university class has been deferred twice due to lack of trainees. Only 43 percent of the training capacity of the Lincoln area, including the Milford trade school, is being utilized, Johnson said.

Increased use of women in war production work is evidenced by reports received from selected Nebraska firms, he said. In a five month period the number of women employed by these firms rose from 946 to 4,323.

Houses Draw Up Blackout Rules
... At Meeting Wednesday

A list of precautionary rules for dormitories, fraternities, sororities, and organized houses to observe during blackouts and air raids was drawn up at a meeting of all organized house representatives Wednesday night.

With the penalty a $100 fine payable to the federal government, the first blackout rule is naturally to have the entire house dark. No lights that will be in any way reflected or visible from the street may be used during the period of a blackout. An interior room may be "blacked out" with suitable material which can be obtained at the stores downtown. Such a room should be tested for absolute light-proofness by observation outdoors before the actual blackout, however, to make sure that all cracks are closed.

Recommended for permanent

SUMMARY OF RULES.

1. All lights out, unless a room has been equipped with blackout curtains.
2. Obey house wardens quickly and quietly.
3. Keep radio tuned in to a city station for announcements and signals.
4. Do not use telephones unless absolutely necessary.
5. Have two walls between you and the outside if possible. Do not stand in direct line of any glass door or window.
6. Use flashlight only if absolutely necessary. When using flashlights keep beam directed down.

Students Choose 'Abraham,' 'Dear Old Nebraska U,' 'Blue Horizon' For Waring Show

With ballots from all "precincts" accounted for, UN students selected four winning tunes to be played on Fred Waring's program. Over 350 ballots were cast in the general election.

The winning tunes include Abraham of group A, Dear Old Nebraska U of group B, Beyond the Blue Horizon of group C, and Can't Get Out of This Mood in the other selection group.

The selected pieces will be played on Fred Waring's Chesterfield Pleasure Time program a week from today. The famed maestro will present a "Salute to Nebraska University" program over the NBC network at 6 o'clock. The Daily and the Chesterfield organization are co-sponsoring the program.

Composition Varies.

In group A Abraham polled 516 votes in comparison with Everything I've Got and Honeysuckle Rose with 36 votes apiece. Group B found closer competition between songs as Dear Old Nebraska U beat out second place Eventide, 142 to 94. Beyond the Blue Horizon was definitely the most popular

Ag College Again Leads Stamp Sales

War stamp sales passed the $100 mark in yesterday's sales and gave the Union's victory war runner another boost to first base.

Ag college again led the campus in war stamp sales. Its total of $45.10 topped the $24.05 sold by the Sosh booth and the Union's booth's $23.05. Delta Omicron, musical sorority, added to the day's total by selling $20 worth of war stamps in their new booth in the school music. The entire day's sales amounted to $112.
