Daily, Lincoln Theater Run 'White Cargo' True-false Test

. . . This Week

"I am Tondelayo," says Hedy Lamarr in "White Cargo" and by the way she says it, girls, hang onto the boy friend!

The Lincoln theatres corporation with The Daily Nebraskan is running a true-false contest concerning the news surrounding this movie. The questions follow and it is worth a guess at the answers just to see Tondelayo.

To the first ten who turn in correct answers to the business office of the Daily will be given two passes to see the movie which starts at the Lincoln theatre on Monday.

Questions.

1. Clark Gable has the male lead in "White Cargo."
2. Hedy Lamarr wears a "lurong" in this show.
3. "White Cargo" has been playing on theatre boards for the last 19 years.
4. Spencer Tracy at one time had the role of Witzel.
5. Fay Holden (today's Ma Hardy) had the role of Tondelayo once.

6. The play was presented in New York off and on for 22 years.

7. Customers in South Africa paid $5.00 each to see it sitting on barrels.

8. The first thing Hedy says is, "I am Tondelayo."

9. Walter Pidgeon is the first male actor to play one of the leads in Hollywood.

10. White Cargo was presented by three different companies in Berlin.

New Safety Course Starts Here Dec. 28

Two Week Class Open To Civilian Personnel

Safety training of civilian personnel in the service of supply will begin at UN December 28 under the direction of the safety section of the internal security division of the seventh service command.

About 60 people are expected to enroll in the two week course. One representative will be selected from each war department service of supply camp, post and station in the command.

After graduation these representatives will establish safety groups and programs at their posts. Included in the course will be the study of injury sources, appraisal of safety performance, layout and arrangement, mechanical safeguards, hand tools, electrical hazards, fire prevention, industrial health, first aid and medical facilities, traffic, and nutrition.

Square Dancing Classes Close With Party Tonight

Square dancing classes will close tonight with a series of dances called by Mr. and Mrs. Danielson, instructors of the class. The final class will be a dancing party for all the students who have been attending the square dancing classes throughout the fall and winter.

Texas Profs Find Fossils 'In Heart of'

BURKVILLE, Tex. (ACP). In pasture gulleys near this east Texas village, scientists have found fossil remains which link this area with the geologically important Miocene period of about 12 million years ago.

Dr. C. J. Hesse, assistant curator of the Texas A. and M. college museum, who, with Dr. F. E. Turner of the same school and Dr. H. B. Stenzel of the University of Texas, visited the area recently, found the fossils.

Horses and Beavers.

Dr. Turner found the lower jaw of a fossil horse and Dr. Hesse discovered the skull of a fossil beaver.

The animal was related to the beaver, Dr. Hesse said, but was larger and had many points of difference. However, even in the far-off times of the stone age, it probably lived in the streams and built dams of trees as our beavers do today.

Ag College Holds Annual Campus Holiday Program

The traditional Christmas program at ag college will be held Wednesday, December 16, at 8 p. m. Sponsored by the Ag executive board, this program is presented annually by students at the activities building.

Dr. O. H. Werner of teachers college will speak on the subject, "Christmas Meditations, 1942." The program also includes the traditional candle lighting ceremony, organ music by Myron Roberts and parts of the Messiah presented by the Ag college chorus under the direction of Mrs. Altinas Tullis.

Zonta International Plans $500 Amelia Earhart Prize

. . . For Aeronautical Coeds

An annual $500 scholarship in honor of Amelia Earhart, for the encouragement of graduate study by women in the field of aeronautical engineering, has been established by Zonta International, spokesmen for the international organization of executive women have announced.

The scholarship will be awarded to a woman on the basis of health, character and ability. It may be used in any school approved by the Zonta committee, the preparatory work to be such as required by the school where the applicant intends to register.

Prerequisites.

In some schools an undergraduate course in general engineering or a major in mathematical physics may be accepted as prerequisite for graduate work in aeronautical engineering instead of the undergraduate course in the same subject.

For further information and application blank, letters should be addressed to: Miss Jeanette Lempke, Sovereign Refining Co., 777 No. Washington St., Saginaw, Mich., or Miss Mamie Eppler, 2325 Lipscomb St., Fort Worth, Tex.

Terms of Grant.

1. A scholarship of $500 will be awarded each year to a

Just Twenty Five Cents . . . Tickets for War Council's Variety Show Go on Sale

. . . "Red Hot and Blue"

Ticket sales for the all student variety war show to be given by the War Council on Tuesday, Dec. 22 began yesterday as manpower representatives checked out tickets at the beginning of the drive.

"Red Hot and Blue" will be presented for one night and the proceeds will be turned over to the War Council so that the organization can continue its work of supplying Cornhuskers in the armed services with a variety of diversion.

Puts Out 'Rag Tags.'

The tickets sell for 25 cents, of which three cents goes to the government and the remainder to the fund for the Council. The latter will use the money to put out "Rag Tags," a monthly publication, sent to men in the service.

Organized houses each have a representative selling tickets and a district system has been set up to handle barb sales.

Student Varieties.

The show itself will be along

YW Holds Freshmen Mass Meeting At 5 Wednesday In Ellen Smith

YWCA will hold a mass meeting for members of freshman commission groups Wednesday from 5 to 6 o'clock at Ellen Smith hall.

The meeting is a fun-get-together occasion and the freshmen will be in charge of entertainment and plans. Mary Ann Matoon will be master of ceremonies, Pat Curry will lead the singing, and Ann Wadder will play the piano and help with the entertainment.

Refreshments consisting of apples and popcorn will be served.

with the annual Union Christmas party along the same lines as the War Council sponsored "High Jinks" which last year captured student favor. The committee of judges selected acts from 13 organized houses to participate in the show.

Tickets will be on sale until the night of the show and at the door. Since "Red Hot and Blue" is being presented in conjunction with the annual Union-sponsored party, free refreshments will be served after the show.

War Division Assigns Two Officers to UN

Assignment of two officers as assistant professors of military science at the University of Nebraska, was officially announced Friday by the War Department, from Washington, D. C.

Major Marvin E. Edmison, infantry, of Ft. Benning, Ga., will replace Major Lee Chatfield, infantry, who is being sent to Camp Wolters, Texas. Captain Leo W. Pinard, field artillery, Camp Forrest, will replace Major Edward T. Whiting, field artillery, who is being sent to Fort Sill, Okl.

Both transfers are the result of the annual fifty-percent replacement plan of ROTC instructors now in effect in the United States. It is believed that these two transfers will be the final changes for the remainder of the year.

Christmas Vesper Services Tonight

Christmas Vespers will be held tonight at Ellen Smith at 5:30 p. m. It will be a candlelight service with Jean Larson, Dorothy Mohr, Virginia Branting, Mary Bonebright, and Alleen Finney carrying the candles. Corene Woodworth and Bessie Hiebsenthal are the readers.

Kirsch Leaves For New York On UN Art Trip

Prof. Dwight Kirsch, chairman of the department of art, left Wednesday for New York City on his fifth annual trip in the interest of the university art galleries.

Enroute he stopped in Chicago, where he attended several art meetings and viewed several exhibitions. Kirsch's oil-tempera painting, "Mainstreet Crossing" is included in one of the showings.

In New York City, Kirsch will make arrangements for loans of painting and sculptures that will be included in the Nebraska Art Association's fifty-third annual exhibition to be held in March, 1943, in Morrill Hall.

Among the galleries which Kirsch will visit in New York are exhibited two paintings by faculty members, an original terra cotta sculpture entitled "Summertime" by Thealtus Alberts and a water color "Snow on the Woodpile" by Mr. Kirsch.

Kirsch plans to return to Lincoln December 21, stopping at Columbus, Ohio and Terra Haute, Indiana on the way.
