Glad to Say Hello; Happier to Say G'by

Well, they're here!

The first contingent of soldiers to be stationed arrived on the campus yesterday noon. They, the first of the many groups which will probably be on the campus before the end of this year, we welcome sincerely and with as much sincerity, we say: AND WE'LL BE GLAD WHEN YOU'RE GONE!

We don't mean "you" in terms of you men who have just arrived. By "you," we refer to the hundreds of men who will follow you when you leave for flight training, to the soldiers who will be on the campus until the war is over.

That is why we'll be glad when you're gone, for when you are gone, the war will be over. There will no longer be a need for men to live in a building intended for books, for any of the inconsistencies of war.

So to the fellows just off other campuses who now make their home here, we say welcome.

We welcome you with the hope that your group and our group—the fellows and girls who are still in school—will get along in the best of terms.

And we should, for after all we are all students with common interests only you are in uniform, we in civvies awaiting call.

Welcome to Nebraska! We hope that you learn a lot that will contribute toward making you better fliers, and that somehow or other you will have a helluva good time.

Positive Action Vital

From Kansas State college comes word that the administration there has put the damper on K-State's hopes to participate fully in the new army specialized training program.

In insisting that the women's dormitory not be offered to the army, the official's action, says the Kansas State Collegian may "produce consequences that the school will always regret. Five hundred or more trainee engineers will not be stationed here as a result of the action. Five hundred new army men would be a lifesaver to the school, giving jobs to scores of faculty members and letting many departments continue in a near normal manner."

There has been no evidence of backwardness in the action of Nebraska's administrative officials in regard to the army specialized training program. Altho contracts have not yet been signed, the university has been already approved as a possible site for a unit.

We hope that the positive policy will be continued, that the action taken at Kansas States will not be the pattern for planning here.

We don't think there is much need for

Need Students For Emergency Work for OPA

Students who volunteered for Emergency Relief Work in the registration program of the Student War Council are needed this week as volunteer assistants in the OPA office at Rudge & Guenzel's to help with meat rationing. The office is open from 8:30 to 4:30 p. m. every day.

Any interested student who can give at least two hours consecutive work is requested to call at the Dean of Women's office and to schedule his working period with Miss Ada Westover. The work will consist of filing and filling out forms prescribed by the OPA in the meat rationing, and instruction will be given.

Bulletin VESPERS.

Vespers will be held this afternoon at 5:30 p. m. in Ellen Smith hall.

Poultry Club Shows Motion Picture Exhibit

Highlighting a semester of events of the Cornhusker Poultry club, colored motion pictures will be exhibited to all persons interested Wednesday, March 31, at the Poultry building.

Illustrating "a poultry tour of New England on a modern experimental farm," the show will begin at 7:30 in the evening, announced club officials.

Otopalik Appears For PE Meeting

AMES, Ia., March 29.—Hugo Otopalik, member of the Iowa State college department of physical education for men, will lead an all-day discussion of physical fitness at the Logan high school Saturday.

The work is carried on under the direction of the state department of public instruction. Superintendents, principals and coaches will be in attendance.

Red Cross Office Receives Yarn for War Knitting

Yarn for Red Cross knitting has come in at the Red Cross office. All women who signed up for knitting for war work should call for their yarn immediately at the Red Cross office.

There will be no further notification of the work. Joyce Junge is in charge of knitting.

V... — Mail Clippings

Pat Chamberlin, Censor

V-Mail quotes from an anonymous postcard:

"Censor, you forgot a very important thing in the V-Mail the other day. You forgot to say that DAN BABCOCK is a Sigma Nu." DAN BABCOCK is a Sigma Nu.

The postcard went on to say that DICK McDOUGAL of Brown Palace Co-op also enlisted in the Naval V-5 plan at the same time as Dan. Both men will be transferred to Class V-5, naval aviation cadet, as soon as they reach their 18th birthdays. Then they will begin training as a flying officer in either the Naval Reserve or the Marine Corps Reserve.

JEAN T. LACY has been promoted to the rank of a sergeant at Tinker Field, Oklahoma. He is assigned as a clerk with an air base squadron. While at Nebraska he was a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon.

New pilots wearing silver wings graduated from Randolph Field, Texas include LT. JOHN RICHARD ALLEN and LT. CLIFFORD H. MEIER. They will now receive further instruction in the types of fighter or bombing planes they will fly in combat, and then be ready for firstline duty. Lieutenant Allen was here until '39, Lieutenant Meier attended the university until '41. Lieutenant Meier was affiliated with Phi Delta Theta.

Dwight Wesley Lambert and Kenneth Edward Millard have completed training in the Medical Replacement Training Center, Camp Berkeley, Texas, and were commissioned second lieutenants in the Medical Administrative Corps.

The MAS's, as these officers are called, will take over non-medical functions formerly performed by army doctors and dentists, thus releasing them for purely medical and surgical duties with field troops. The MAC's are assuming supply, training, personnel and other administrative jobs.

concern. We have confidence that UN heads have wisely decided that Nebraska must go all out in the army collegiate war program.

That is the best thing as far as the army and the university is concerned.

Tossing to Be Done

Continuance of the liberal arts after the war seems evident. A statement by W. Prewitt Ewing, national president of the William Jewell college alumni association, contributes something more to think about in connection with the subject.

He said recently: "In 1950 the liberal arts college must have maintained the right to keep the word 'liberal' in its designation. This means the right to toss away what may have become useless and to add meanwhile whatever else has become 'liberalizing' in the education of the youth for a democracy after the end of the war."

There will be tossing to be done on this campus. We hope that it will be done.

bunks complete with new mattress and pillow. Around the walls are wardrobe units containing the hangers which were recently donated by students on this campus.

The second floor matches the first in sleeping arrangements with both the east and west ends devoted entirely to dormitory accommodations. Along the north side is a huge room which is equipped with tables and will be used for study purposes.

The basement provides shower and lavatory facilities. Evidence that the army was going to move could be seen by the large "coke" machines already setup in the basement and by the battery of telephones on the first floor.

Busy from 6-10.

As to the military training that the men will receive, the officers obliged with "just say that they will be busy from six in the morning until ten at night, that should suffice."

They will be under strict "military discipline" and will not be allowed out of barracks except on Saturday nights until 1:30 a. m. and Sundays until 9:00 p. m. The military term for such a set is "open post."

The complete academic arrangements have not been completed but are being formulated at the present by Dean Charles Oldfather and his assistants.

The army is finally "in."

Louise Morley Appears At Union on April 18

. . . 'Young Britons at War'

Louise Morley, daughter of the novelist and poet, Christopher Morley, will appear at the Union Sunday, April 18th, at 8:00 p. m. to speak on "Young Britons at War." Her tour throughout the United States is being sponsored by the Office of War Information and the Office of Civilian Defense.

Miss Morley returned to the United States in January 1943 from a tour of Britain to study first hand the impact of the war upon British youth and to survey to contribution of the young people of Britain to the war.

She became familiar with the work of the women's land army, the air training corps, boys clubs, scouts and guides, factory workers, and all the groups making up Britain's home front.

A graduate of Bryn Mawr in 1940, Miss Morley has been employed as conference secretary of International Student Service. In 1936 she was awarded a trip to Europe as winner of the National High School Contest of the League of Nations and she participated in the World Youth Congress at Geneva.

Navy Changes Requirements For Auxiliaries

The naval personnel bureau has released a revised copy of the booklet, "How to Serve Your Country in the WAVES or SPARS," which contains all the changes made in methods of application, where to apply, length of training periods, educational requirements, types of jobs and assignments, etc.

Some of the changes made recently include: WAVES and SPARS will now be recruited from all navy recruiting stations instead of through naval officers or officer of procurement.

Education requirements have been changed to two years of high school or business school. WAVES and SPARS are now permitted to marry men in their own branches of the service upon completion of indoctrination and training courses. Additional schools have also been opened for training.

ERC Hits Uni Singers,

Tenors and Basses Needed

University Singers suffered when the ERC was called into active duty and now the group needs six to eight tenors and as many basses.

Students who are interested, should go to room 103 in the Temple at 11:30 a. m. Wednesday or see Dr. Arthur E. Westbrook at the School of Music.

Reach Quota In Ticket Sales Of Engineers

Interest in the Annual Engineers' banquet, being held this year at the student activities building at ag college, has been such that ticket sales have reached the quota; because of rationing only 250 tickets can be sold.

As a result of this sell-out, all salesmen in all departments are to turn in their remaining tickets and money to R. L. Marcotte at the Mechanical Engineering office today.
