Anne Kinder Heads Ivy Day Court

ANNE STUART KINDER

Reigning Queen of 1943 Ivy Day Court

Preceded by her court of ten attendants, two flower girls and a ring bearer, the queen of the 1943 Ivy Day ceremonies, Miss Anne Kinder, walked down a white path to her throne on the lawn north of the administration building.

Betty Newman Is Maid of Honor

Reigning over the traditional Ivy Day ceremony yesterday as May Queen was Anne Stuart Kinder, of Lincoln.

Betty Newman of Aurora served as Miss Kinder's maid of honor.

In keeping with the general wartime tone of the campus affairs, the ceremony was shorter than usual and the queen and her attendants were in informal dress. Ivy Day felt the stringencies of war in other ways. For example, the presentation of an Ivy Day poet and orator was dispensed with.

Innocents Tapped in February.

The tapping of Innocents, senior men selected on the basis of campus leadership, was not a part of the program, having been carried out months ago in order that honorees might be chosen and given a chance to serve the order for a brief time before going to the armed services.

Masking of Mortar Boards, women's senior honorary society, took place late in the afternoon.

The ceremony on the lawn north of Administration hall opened with numbers by the university band. The procession to the throne was led by 1942-43 Innocents. Then came the 1943-44 Innocents and the incumbent Mortar Board members. Two representatives of the freshman, sophomore and senior classes and four juniors came next as attendants to the queen.

Class Presidents Plant Ivy.

The maid of honor was next in order and was followed by Bob McNutt, junior class president, and Bob Fast, senior president, who are the traditional planters of the ivy. (The ivy never grows—another tradition.) Then came Miss Kinder to answer the question on the minds of students and townspeople from whom her identity had been kept until this time. Her selection was by vote of women students.

Miss Kinder's dress was of transparent waffle pique with a deep square neckline finished with wide embossed net. The skirt was gored, full at the hemline and molded thru the bodice and hip-line. The hem was also finished with embossed net.

Has Numerous Activities.

Miss Kinder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jean Rollins Kinder, is a member of Pi Beta Phi, Mortar Board, president of Coed Counselors, Tassel, sorority editor of the Cornhusker yearbook, Vestals of the Lamp and the YWCA freshman cabinet. She will graduate this spring from the college of arts and sciences.

Miss Newman, her maid of honor, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Newman. She is a Delta Gamma, Mortar Board, president of the WAA, AWS board, the debate team, University Players, Vestals of the Lamp, YWCA and freshman cabinet and president of Delta Sigma Rho, debating society.

The crown bearer was James Seacrest of Lincoln. The flower girls were Judy Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Williams of Lincoln, and Carolyn Olson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Olson, of Lincoln. Both children are 3 years of age.

The attendants representing the four classes were:

Pi Beta Phi Wins Intersorority Sing

Singing the "Sweetheart of the Wine and the Blue," the Pi Beta Phi won the intersorority sing sponsored by the AWS at the annual Ivy Day ceremony yesterday afternoon. Song leader of the group was Mary Ellen Monnich.

The Kappa Alpha Thetas, under the direction of Margaret Rosborough, won second place in the sing with "Twin Stars." Roma Biba directed the third place winners, Alpha Phi, who sang a medley of fraternity songs. An Air Corps chorus composed of men stationed in Don Love Memorial library concluded the Ivy Day sing ceremonies with "My Gal Sal," the G I song, "Apple Blossoms" and the army air corps cadet song.

Twelve organized women's groups competed for the cup which is given annually to the winners of the intersorority sing by the reigning Ivy Day queen.

The interfraternity sing was cancelled this year due to the loss of a large number of men to the armed forces.
