Big Six Sidelights

BY GENE SHERMAN.

All officials of the meet must be complimented for their fine work—especially the several members of the faculty that served as judges for several of the events.

Dr. R. G. Clapp, head of the university's Physical Education Department was back again as the head official for the pole vault event; Harold Hamil, Dean of the School of Journalism, kept track of the javelin heaves; and Rolly Horney, I-M director, served as Clerk of the Course.

Horney undoubtedly was the best dressed person at the meet. Rolly arrived at the stadium Saturday morning attired in a loud plaid shirt and a "rah rah" hat. The afternoon found Rolly dressed in a smooth sport coat—with the same "rah rah" hat.

Jack Tracey, Missouri dash man, was the hard luck man of the meet. Jack's arches fell just as the morning prelims started, thus making it necessary for the Tiger mentor to scratch him from the entry list.

A detail of "Junior Birdmen" was sent over to the stadium during the morning prelims. Thinking that they too had been entered in the meet, their thoughts were quickly changed when the order was to set the hurdles on the track and to remove them after the event had taken place.

It seemed to us that the "Frosh" took over the meet in grand style. Tom Scofield, high jump winner, is only 17 years old and Mel Sheehan, Mizzou weight star, is only 18.

Scofield usually high jumps over the 6'2" mark and Sheehan easily tosses the discus over 140 feet. Not bad for a couple of kids.

Coach Chauncey Simpson of the victorious Tigers isn't the only person in his family that knows anything about track meets. The Mizzou mentor has a brother who once held 11 world records. This same brother was also member of the Olympic team that visited Hungary a few decades ago.

Keith Parker, Missouri javelin thrower, doesn't confine his talents to track only. The burly Missourian is the state AAU diving champion and one of the most talented musicians on campus. Keith is now considering an offer from band leader Les Brown.

Tiger Bill Blackwell, who tied with Howard Debus for pole vaulting honors, wears football shoes with track cleats attached. This is to save the wear and tear on a couple of weak ankles.

There was more sportsmanship shown on the part of the participants than the spectators yesterday. It was a common sight to see Tom Scofield and Big Elmer Aussieker giving advice to their outclassed opponents. It was also a common sight to hear the spectators give a runner the "ol razzin'" when he was outclassed.

Before the activities got underway, Bob Deindorfer, sports editor of the University of Missouri paper, predicted that the favorite Tigers would chalk up 81 markers. Nice going, Bob.

Gopher Subs Top Varsity

... 6-0
MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., May 6. (Special to the Nebraskan). Jim Jennings, freshman, halfback, scored the only touchdown of the intrasquad football scrimmage yesterday, as the "B" team beat the varsity 6-0.

This is the first time this spring that the varsity has been whipped by the second team.

Harvey Solon, fullback, also made some good runs for the red-shirted scrubs, and Red Johnson effectively limbered up his passing arm to give them their score.

Red Williams, varsity left half, was injured on the last play of the game, and had to be helped from the field.

Track Meet . . .

the meet's big traditional duel, and set up the only record of the day. Missouri raced to the lead after three events Saturday, uncorked a barrage of strength and was never headed. The Simpsonmen dominated the sprints, hurdles, and placed in all but one event—the javelin.

Debus Big Gun.

Iron horse Howie Debus sparked Scarlet competitors by aggregating a total of 14½ points. Big Howie grabbed a discus victory, tied for the pole vault honors, placed second in the shot, the failing to defend his title in the javelin. Wear and tear of an iron-man role showed on the Husker ace who tossed 152 feet 4 inches for his discus victory and vaulted 12 feet 3 inches to tie with Missouri's Blackwell.

Supporting Debus were Bob Bowles with a quartermile second, Al Zikmund with points in the century, and broad jump, Vic Schleich with a shot put second, Jim Brogan with a fourth in the mile, Dick Petring with a fifth in the high jump and Dean Kratz with a third in the 880 yard run.

Freddie Hutchinson, sold to the Detroit Tigers by Seattle of the Coast League for $100,000, yesterday-married his childhood sweetheart, Patricia Finley.

Debus Scores 14 1-2

I-Staters Meet P-F's

AMES, Iowa, May 8.—Iowa State meets its second Navy opponent in two days here Monday when it faces the Pre-Flight nine from Iowa City. The contest will start at 3:15.

The contest, a highlight of the Veishea program, will mark the second meeting between teams of the two schools. Last winter the Cyclone basketball team defeated the Seahawk officers team in a Red Cross benefit contest at Fairfield.

The main attraction for the fans will be the chance to see Bob Kennedy, former third baseman for the Chicago White Sox. Two other stars of the Seahawk nine include Bud Flanders, outfielder, and Bill Welp, catcher, former University of Iowa player.

Coach Clayton Sutherland has not decided on a starting pitcher for the contest but will make his choice from Al Strohbehn, Norm Madson, or Lee Jaspers.

An exhibition of high school art, representing all high schools in Queens, N. Y., was held recently at Queens college.

She's not at the pin-hanging age but you'll love her and the exciting story behind her!

The famed novel is a dramatic bombshell now on the screen!
