

Underclassmen Pictures Appear in '44 Yearbook

For the first time in history a UN Cornhusker will contain individual class pictures of all students enrolled in the university, freshmen and sophomores as well as juniors and seniors.

The pictures at the Miller & Paine Cornhusker photo studio, recently moved just south of the main store, were made during registration for each student according to the alphabetical spelling of last names.

If a card is lost, a duplicate may be obtained at the studio. Fraternity and sorority cards will be filled out at the studio also.

Appointments for the taking of Picture Schedule.

The first group of pictures will be taken from Monday thru Saturday of those students whose last names begin with A and B. The following list is the weekly alphabetical schedule of appointments.

- P, Q and R, Nov. 1-Nov. 6.
- S, T and U, Nov. 8-Nov. 13.
- V, W, X, Y and Z, Nov. 15-Nov. 20.

Students are to fill out the colored cards handed to them during registration and hand them in when their pictures are taken. If Same Pictures.

The same pictures will be used for both the class and affiliated sections of the year book. Class photos alone will be $1.75; fraternity or sorority pictures will be $1.25; pictures in both sections will be $2.75 together.

All sororities must have the blouses which are to be used in their pictures down at the studio on Monday and they are to be left until the last day of appointments, Nov. 20.

Credit to Tassels.

Affiliated people who bought books at registration may give credit to their respective Tassels if the complete list of names from each house is handed in to Bob Henderson, business manager of the Cornhusker, at the year book office in the Student Union.

All Soldiers on Campus Take Daily Nebraskan

All soldiers on the campus will receive the Nebraskan the same as students, it was announced late yesterday by Marjorie Marlette, editor of the paper.

Subscriptions have been purchased from the petty cash fund of the army corps, and officers under Col. J. P. Murphy, commander of the ASTP unit, have made arrangements for distribution.

Under the new circulation system, the Daily Nebraskan was first distributed to soldiers last Thursday and will continue the same today and from now on. Without cost to the men it will be delivered to the library, field house, and foods and nutrition building on ag campus.

With an army page included in the paper at least once a week and an Army Stew column every day, the Nebraskan will be a source of information to both army and civilian students. It will also help to make the army a part of the university student body and keep them in touch with activities on the campus.

The paper is now receiving about equal circulation between soldiers and students, according to business manager Charlotte Hill.

Any soldier may write for the paper during his free time and contributions should be turned in to the editor or to Pfc. Harry Olesker at Love library.

Nebraskans are to be distributed as follows:

Six hundred copies will be delivered to the Orderly Room on third floor of the library, to be distributed in the bunk rooms under the direction of Major Pattison.

Two hundred copies delivered to the Field House by arrangement with Captain Crabill.

Three hundred and fifty copies will go to the STAR Unit in the Food and Nutrition building on ag campus, under the direction of Major Edmison.

Fifty copies will be delivered to Regimental Headquarters in the library, in charge of Colonel Murphy.

Four hundred copies will be sent to the Charge of Quarters Desk in the library, for the Army Air Corps. Captain Whitting is in charge of these copies.

Houses Hold Hour Dances With Soldiers . . . Frats

Hour dances will continue.

Dances may be held with fraternity men on Friday nights and with uniformed men on Saturday nights from 7:30 to 8:30, according to Verna H. Boyles, dean of women.

Men stationed at Love library will be divided into units including the engineering, pre-flight, foreign languages and dental units.

Any group, whether it be sorority or organized co-operative house, desiring to have an hour dance with soldiers must contact Dean Boyles at Ellen Smith Hall, giving the date, the number desired and the unit preferred. Mrs. Boyles will then contact Col. Murphy, who will in turn arrange with the men.

War Council Makes Plans For Semester . . . Monday at 5

Student war council will hold its first meeting of the semester tomorrow afternoon at 5 o'clock in room 315 of the Union. All old and new members are asked to be present, according to council president Pat Chamberlin.

The meeting will be of unusual importance since plans for the semester will be formulated and discussed. Some of the topics which will be brought up will include stamp sales, soldier entertainment, another campus registration of women for war work and Rag Tags.

Organized houses and campus organizations who do not already have war council members are requested to appoint or elect them so that they will be represented in the council.

UN Lincolnette Coeds Register Thruout Week

Girls wishing to become Lincolnettes, an organization composed to help entertain soldiers, will register with Dean Boyles Monday through Friday in the afternoon from 1:30 to 5.

All those registering will make up the university division of Lincolnettes which includes only university girls. These girls will be under the leadership of Verna H. Boyles, colonel of this division of the Lincolnettes.

Hostesses on Campus.

University Lincolnettes will be used at city Lincolnette dances and also as war council hostesses for scheduled dances with army units on campus. The schedule of dances will be announced later.

Time given to Lincolnette activities may be contributed to the three hours of war work per week which is recommended for every university girl by the war council.

Student Activity Ticket Sales Begin Tomorrow

Student season activity tickets will be put on sale tomorrow at the student activity office in the coliseum, according to Ad Lewandowski, head football coach.

These tickets, which sell for $5 plus 50 cents tax, will be usable for all football, basketball and track contests played on the home fields. Students who purchase tickets must present their identification cards at the time they buy the tickets.

No Reserved Seats.

No reserved seats will be sold this year, nor will sections be drawn for organized groups. Mem-

Uni Singers Need Mass Male Voices

Dr. A. E. Westbrook, announced today that there is an urgent need now for male voices in the university singers. Many activities have been curtailed by the man shortage, but there are enough freshman boys and other men on the campus to balance the number of men and women in the singers. Dr. Westbrook said that ten more basses and at least fifteen more tenors are imperative.

Classes for singers meet Monday, Wednesday, and Friday at 11 a. m. on the first floor of temple. If there are men interested who can only attend one practice, Dr. Westbrook requested that they still report to him.

bers of sororities, fraternities, or other groups who wish to sit together must purchase their tickets in a body.

The first activity for which the activity tickets will be usable will be the five home football games played as follows: Indiana, Oct. 9; Kansas, Oct. 23; Pittsburgh, Nov. 13; Iowa, Nov. 20; and Oklahoma, Nov. 27.

Uni Theater Plans Work For Season

University Theater will start this year's activities with an open meeting Thursday, September 30, in the auditorium of the Temple.

Students interested in any phase of theater work, technical or acting, are urged to be present to enable Berne Enslin, the new director, to get acquainted with them. This first meeting will be especially important because the program of plays for the season will be decided on the basis of the number of people interested in participating.

Elect Board Members.

The new student theater advisory board will be elected at this meeting. Members of this board will work very closely with the director and will be responsible for keeping the technical and business end of the theater running smoothly.

Anyone carrying 12 hours, regardless of university standing, may work in the theater this year and there is an urgent call for

Daily Reporters Meet Wednesday

Reporters on the staff of the Daily Nebraskan and those interested in working in that capacity are asked to attend a staff meeting in the Daily office Wednesday night. Exact time for the meeting will be announced in Wednesday's morning Daily.

The meeting is important for all reporters and Marjorie Marlette, editor, requests that all reporters be present.

Guadalcanal Veteran Back On Campus for Football

By Larry Wentz

The war had been officially underway only sixteen days when Jim Chadderdon, in a National Guard unit, was called into active duty. The National Guard was mobilized December 23, 1940, and Jim was sent to Camp Roberts, Arkansas, for training. He was then sent on to Fort Ord, California, which was the debarkation point. Thursday at 2:30 p. m., March 19, 1942, Jim sailed under San Francisco's Golden Gate bridge, and away to what turned out to be Australia. (Jim thought that the girls that he met in Australia were swell but they couldn't compare with our Nebraska fuenes. He also thinks that the university coeds are much nicer than any skirts he saw in California.)

Guadalcanal.

In the process of eliminating Japs, Jim landed on Guadalcanal Oct. 13, 1942. Just as he was coming ashore, and while he was congratulating himself on not once being seasick, he heard someone yell, "Tojo Time!" Everyone began working feverishly at digging foxholes, so he did likewise. No sooner said than done, and just in time, too, because right over their heads, 26 bombers appeared and they tore h— out of that part of the island.

Jim was on Guadalcanal for 90 days and in that 90 days a lot of men lived a lifetime. He was in three major battles, one of which was the "Second Battle of Tenaru" in which 2,200 Japs were converted into "good Japs." An interesting point is, that Ji mlanded before, and left after, Barney Ross. His regiment, the 3rd Battalion of the National Guard, 164th Infantry, fired the first offensive

Jim Chadderdon . . . From bullets to footballs.

Romberg Opens Concert Series Here Oct. 8

Sigmund Romberg, the noted pianist, his concert orchestra and soloists, will officially open the Lincoln Symphony concert season on October 8, 1943, presenting a musical crazy-quilt of grand opera, European operetta, American musical comedy, classics that are popular and popular works that are becoming classics. The last half-hour of the concert will be devoted to Mr. Romberg's own works.

Notables to Appear.

Other notables in the music world scheduled to appear this season are: Angel Reyes, Cuba's foremost violinist, Dec. 9; Braggiotti and Shaw, famed two-piano team, Jan. 13; James Melton, Metropolitan Opera's leading tenor, February 8; and Helen Traubel, one of the few American-born prima donnas, on October 13, 1944. The winner of a student audition held in the spring will appear with the Lincoln Symphony Orchestra on April 18.

Season tickets are now on sale at the school of music office. No single admission tickets for students will be sold.
