

Gophers Swamp Huskers

Game Husker Team Is Outplayed 54-0

The powerful Golden Gophers of Minnesota ran rough-shod over a small but spirited Cornhusker eleven Saturday before a crowd of 34,000 spectators at Memorial stadium, Minneapolis, who had come expecting to see just that. This is the second invasion from the Big Six that the Gophers have smothered on their way to what may turn out to be a mythical national championship. Last week the Norsemen whipped the champion Missouri Tigers 26 to 13.

From start to finish it was apparent that the green Nebraska team didn't have a chance against the mighty Gophers. Taking the ball on the kickoff, the Swedes smashed their way from their own 39 yard line to "pay dirt" in just about as much time as it takes to tell it. "Red" Williams, Avery and Garnaas then settled down to the steady job of cracking the Nebraska forward wall at will. These husky Minnesota backs pounded away at the tackles and ends for yard upon yard, and at the end of the first quarter the score stood 13 to 0 in favor of Minnesota.

Shortly after the beginning of the second quarter Avery hit the line again for the third Minnesota touchdown, going over from the 13 yard line. Garnaas added the extra point from placement, and the score stood 20 to 0. From here on out, it was catch as catch can, with both the first, second and third strings of Minnesota piling up yards and touchdowns against a hapless Nebraska eleven almost at will. Only the fine kicking of Clark Beaver, Nebraska back, slowed up the scor-

Lt. Leo Tupper Killed in Action In Africa Area

—From The Lincoln Journal.
LT. LEO M. TUPPER.

Lt. Leo M. Tupper, graduate of Ag college in 1941, has been killed in action in North Africa according to word received by his parents at Red Cloud, Neb.

Lieutenant Tupper was prominent in student activities during his four years on the UN campus. He was on the junior-senior livestock judging team, on the honor roll, a member of the ACBC Boarding club, a member of Block and Bridle and a winner of a college scholarship.

Besides being one of the first Americans to set foot in French Morocco, he also took part in the landing at Casablanca and at Gela, Italy. In a recent letter he said: "I also came in on the first day of the Sicilian campaign and, thanks to the army's new duck, I didn't even get my feet wet."

WAA Will Have Party For New Women Soon

WAA will welcome all new women students at a party Tuesday in Grant Memorial from 7 to 8:45 p. m.

Roberta Burgess, social chairman of WAA, is in charge of arrangements for the party. The program will include three numbers presented by Orchesis, the women's modern dance club. Group dancing, directed by a member of the physical education club, will also be a part of the program. Badminton and deck tennis will be available to those not interested in folk dancing.

In holding this party, WAA hopes to help new students to get acquainted with their fellow-WAA members, and with the intramural and sports program offered for their recreation.

Army Education

Christian Science Monitor: When they get out of the army, a lot of American boys will have, among other things, a liberal education on how to can tomatoes, cut hay, pick apples—and, of course, do the dishes.

Miss Arnold Takes YWCA Secretaryship

Introducing Barbara E. Arnold, new secretary of the YWCA.

You'll find her sitting behind the desk over in the Ellen Smith YW office with a friendly smile and a fascinating and wholly natural clipped eastern accent. She's the one with light brown short curly hair and sparkling eyes, who says "Tell everyone to come in and see me—I'd like to see them."

Arriving in Lincoln at approximately 2:30 a. m. her first impression of this locale was a rather damp one. She awoke this morning to the strains of Alouetta and the air corps song by the soldiers. This was something new to her. Although there are service men stationed at DU the singing is an innovation as far as she is concerned. Nine o'clock found her touring Ellen Smith and meeting her associates.

To Tour Campus.

Miss Arnold couldn't say much about a first impression of university since she hasn't as yet seen it but she intends to make a tour of inspection which will include the new library about which she has heard lots. The thing which has made the biggest impression on her to date is the Union building which is one of the best she has seen.

Last year Miss Arnold was co-secretary of the Student Christian Movement, a combined YW-YM, at Denver university, where she worked while getting her masters degree in Social Group Work. In 1940 she received her bachelor's degree from Vassar college, New York but at present she claims New Hampshire as her home state though she has lived in several eastern states.

No New Plans Yet.

She has as yet no plans for the YW formulated but those already worked out will be continued. Miss Arnold hopes that the YW can continue to be a guiding influence on the campus and that even more girls will become interested in it.

ROTC Engineers Return to Campus

From Camp Abbott, Ore., where they have just completed 12 weeks of basic training, these men are now living on ag campus where their records and qualifications for instruction under the ASTP are being checked. It is expected that they will move in Love library within the next few days where they will continue their engineering courses under ASTP regula-
