

War Bond Drive Nets $5,410.75

Proving that soldiers can be patriotic too when it comes to financing the war effort, the AST unit stationed in Love Library contributed $5,410.75 worth of bonds and stamps in a two-week sales campaign which ended last night.

As a climax for the bond drive fifteen $25 war bonds and $12.25 in war stamps were raffled off Thursday night at retreat. Soldiers who did not want to purchase whole bonds bought chances at 50c apiece to the tune of $293.50. The fifteen lucky recipients of the war bonds were: Robert C. Bell, William J. Fahrenwald, Floyd C. Frost, Robert E. Harvey, Richard S. Hay, Ira Hershey, Robert J. Hoover, Donald E. Johnk, William A. Koliago, Alfred M. Laurent, Gordon S. Nordstrom, Frederick C. Ramquist, Edmund D. Stevens, Jr., Charles G. Sucky and Ewell Viggantto. Frank J. Packo drew the war stamps prize.

The $5,000 total does not include the regular payroll allotments for bonds, but $438.75 of new payroll deductions authorized during the drive has been added to the total.

AST Engineers Homeward Bound On 7-Day Leave

For the last month, the A.S.T. barracks have been the center of excitement. Spending was cut to a minimum; uniforms were cleaned and pressed. More hours were passed studying railroad maps than chemistry. All of this meant one thing: Furlough!

Starting at 10:30 Saturday morning, over 400 Army trainees were bound for home. "Home" in this case meant any place—Alaska, Texas or Maine; however, the largest portion went to Chicago and points east on a special train. To most of these cadets, this is their first visit to their home town in over ten months.

This marks the completion of 12 weeks of basic engineering studies, and following the one week furlough, the trainees will begin a new term on Oct. 11.

Dances Entertain GIs

Forty-three Army men of the A and L group last night attended the first two of a series of Saturday night hour dances. Alpha Chi entertained 23 men in uniform while the Alpha Xi's took in 20.

Lasting from 7:30 to 8:30, these dances are planned to afford soldiers and coeds a chance to meet each other and make a date if you talk fast enough, soldier.

Latest marching song for the ASTP. It appeared first in the finale of an Ag college show this summer. Co-authors were Pvt. Ken Rockefeller and Pfc. Walter Stein.

'Soldiers of the ASTP'

"Soldiers of the ASTP"

Words by Pvt. Ken Rockefeller.
Music by Pfc. Walter Stein.
Soldiers of the ASTP
Our battles lie ahead.
Men of skill and daring
The future's hope is sped.
We're lawyers and we're doctors,
We're engineers and such—
Psychologists and linguists,
Soldiers just as much.
Soldiers of the ASTP
Will build a world anew.
Carry on the victory
To keep a peace that's true.
A-S-T-P
Soldiers of the ASTP!

Honor System In C.T.D.

(The following was written by A/S Clarence L. Dunn and is addressed to his fellow cadet aspirants.)

A man without honor is a man alone. He has no friends. He can't keep friends. Sooner or later his faults of character will affect the lives of those who associate with him. The payoff is trouble and here at the 348th CTD it means demerits and more demerits until the Disciplinary Board and possible elimination is reached.

Men, we want an honor system here that will function with the efficiency necessary to win the privileges that we want. There are always those who forget, in their selfish demands for extra privileges, that other men are dying in bullet-riddled planes and filthy, stinking foxholes.

Your attitude and your conduct here will determine the privileges you will or will not get. If you're ever in any doubt as to what you should do, consult the Wing Commander, or any one of the Honor Council or its representatives. These men are working for the Detachment, not against it. Let's get on the beam and make this the sharpest CTD in the country.

women's parts which must be filled. Due to the ruling against freshmen entering activities for the first six weeks, these girls are asked not to attend tryouts. A more urgent plea is made for men to fill the four men's parts. Because of the versatility of characters, there will be unusual opportunities for both experienced and inexperienced students in this play. Characters are:

Olga Kirinske is a Russian girl of about 17 and very attractive. Erna Schmidt is a young "Nordic goddess" with an air of quiet authority and a calm poise, unusual for a girl of her age.

Bingo Hill is an American girl, intelligent and vivacious, and Sally Jackson is also American, definitely from the south, slightly bored, and very concerned with her appearance.

Felice Renoir is French, petite and bubbling over with enthusiasm, and the sixth girl is Marion Curwood, an English girl.

Gretchen Linder and Mrs. Hunter are the supervisors of the boarding house. Miss Linder is a woman in her mid-thirties, who always appears efficient and collected. Mrs. Hunter is a smartly dressed woman of about forty. She is good looking and gentle.

A/Student Loses Memory; Loses Girl at Same Time

In deepest sympathy with A/S R. H. Hill we herewith print his tale of woe. He, in case you have forgotten, is the boy who posed as a model for Bell Telephone.

Two weeks ago he was injured in the head while playing basketball and suffered a temporary lack of memory. While being assisted back to the library a pretty girl started to speak to him but Will just looked at her dumbly.

He vaguely remembers that she came from Oklahoma City—and that's all he does remember.

We don't know if this is all a figment of his imagination, but after telling us just how much he wanted to see her again, we couldn't help but try to aid him. So will the girl from Oklahoma City please leave her name and telephone number in the Nebraska office?
