

Meet a Husker

Randall Salisbury

BY GORDON EHLERS.

Randall Salisbury hails from Elwood, Neb., "Randy" was a top performer in all sports at Elwood High School and continued his fine work at the University of Nebraska.

RANDALL SALISBURY

For four years he battled with the Cornhuskers on the gridiron, playing with some of the best teams in school history. This fall, when things looked tough for Lew's boys, Randy was called upon to fill the center position. This From Lincoln Journal was a fairly large task inasmuch as he had never played the position before, also because Nebraska has always been noted for its strength at the center spot.

It is needless to say that "Randy" did a superb job all season. Those who saw him play this past season are fully aware of the fact that he is one of the best centers in the Big Six conference and a fighting, hard charging, dyed-in-the-wool Cornhusker. "Sals" didn't receive much recognition from the sportswriters this year, but it is the honest opinion of all spectators and coaches that he was the bulwark of the Husker team that did not give up.

Hats off to you "Randy" and here's a sincere vote of thanks to you for all that you have done for us.

Sports Scribe Bids Campus Fond 'Adeau'

True, dear friend, I have muddled,
I have even been . . . befuddled
The army I did in vain eschew.
I have even taken a crack at you.
However, may I be at liberty
To say, you've had a go at me.
I've been called a novice ingenne,
A rotter through and through.
'Tis all right as you can see,
(Though I've never won a spellin' bee)
Cause my skin is thick and tough—
And, I'm off in a hellova huff.

Huskers Open B.B. Season At Iowa Uni

GORDON EHLERS.

The 1943-44 Cornhusker basketball team will get a taste of fire this week end when they meet the University of Iowa at Iowa City on Dec. 10. The Huskers will continue their trip to Chicago and Minneapolis where they play DePaul university and the University of Minnesota.

With the beginning of the basketball season, many fans are already whispering about the "poor little Huskers." Some say that the kids do not have a chance and it is useless to start the season.

Naturally, we do not have the material for a team that we have had in former years, but in this respect we are in the same boat as many of our future opponents. Fans should not set their minds on a grand and glorious season. They should keep in mind at all times that the University of Nebraska is endeavoring to keep alive an athletic program that has

"Schooner Talkin'" was written at the request of Dr. L. C. Wimberly, founder and editor of the quarterly, after several of Shokes' articles appeared in the Daily and Lincoln newspapers. His essay concerns Negro dialects.

In promoting the drive for subscriptions on the campus, a free copy of the Prairie Schooner anthology, being published on Dec. 6, will be awarded to the houses which have at least 30 subscriptions. The progress of the drive will be reported in the Daily.

tial to the health of many, he said.

In such matters as fresh air, exercise and water drinking there are no rules which apply to everyone. Rules of health and hygiene must conform to the individual and not the individual to the rigid regulations which certain persons set up because they happen to apply to them, he concluded.

Since 1932 when Dr. Bauer began as director of the bureau of health education of the American Medical association, he has been co-author of many books, including "Health Questions Answered," "Your Health" and "Contagious Diseases." He is also a member of the committee on health problems of the National Education association and the American Medical association.

Athletics Hit Hard.

War is bad for everyone and athletic teams were hit definitely hard. If we were to give up now, we would only be admitting defeat. By staying in the saddle and riding with the other schools in the same situation, Nebraska University will be ready for greater things in athletics when the boys come back to stay. Now lets all make up our mind to give these fellows the best support possible during the coming basketball season and for all time to come. Remember, don't expect a "world beater" or anything comparable to such—just a gang of kids and their coach doing their very best.
