Comment . . .

A warning to underclassmen: Don't leave all your required courses until your senior year. It's amazing the conflicts that can enter when you have to take so much English and so much science at the same time. Ah, to start all over again!

Consideration of personalities and methods make us wonder why there is such a divergence on the campus, and we mean from fair, forthright attempts at understanding and directing students and their affairs to secretive, snooping ways of discovering things which may or may not be the business of the pseudo-shadow man (or woman).

Congratulations to the new Y president—ahead of time . . . Only why no competition?

Worth remembering to hear is Henry Scott and his fascinatingly different tune picturizations. Humor on the piano this afternoon in the Union ballroom.

Hell and High Water

By Les Glotfelty

In the spring of 1942, Alan Jacobs, ex-editor of The Nebraskan, wrote a column entitled "Eleanor 'n Me." It was a good column. He wrote a little about everything and much about nothing. Any resemblance between his column and mine is purely on purpose. I also write much about nothing, or little about nothing, as the case may be.

In the YWCA election coming up Tuesday, we see that Anne Wellensiek is the only candidate up for president. Which being the case, we shall vote for Anne Wellensiek. No politics, no factions, no nothing to worry about, except the hot-bed of something or other in the Dorm. First they had a fire and that no one knew anything about, and then they didn't have a fire that everyone knew everything about—except who turned in the fire alarm in the first place. I've always wanted to turn in a false alarm, too!

The war council show seems destined to end up like Gone With the Wind, only cheaper, we hope. They finally got it cast (subject to change), they finally got a date set (subject to change), and they got a price, 55 cents (also subject to change). See what I mean? The only thing missing is a name for the presentation. May we suggest "Margin for Error?"

Some aviation cadet with illusions wrote an illuminating article in the latest issue of the AirCorDet, classy little newspaper of the 348th CTD. Anyway, this boy with ideas said that the army needs the honor system. (With this we heartily agree, especially in the case of married men.) The cadet went on to say that cadets could use a little honor because most of them will end up as officers, and "an officer's word is his bond and not to be questioned."

Far be it from us to question the word of an officer and a gentleman, but the Phi Delta house boasts a captain who has given the same line to five different girls in a row on the campus, and every one of them has gone for it. Either the guy is just plain changeable (and that is a woman's privilege), or he has never talked with the above-mentioned aviation cadet.

Case Awards Uni Grad Doctorate In Engineering

The honorary degree of doctor of engineering was recently awarded to Gustav A. Kositzky, graduate of the university college of electrical engineering in 1901, by the Case School of Applied Science. Mr. Kositzky is now chief engineer of the Ohio Bell Telephone company, Cleveland, Ohio.

Society

BY LAURA LEE MUNDIL AND NINA SCOTT.

Five o'clock shadow, pink toothbrush, endurance tests, house maid's knee, exams . . . who cares, when they can go out on "the big party" like the Taus and Delts did Saturday night? But "best" we say no more about that, "young students." Theta President Mary Farrar, stunned the stunning Thetas Friday night with a rock . . . he's Major Bob Marly and the date is Feb. 2 . . . marriage is a fine thing, say DG of last year, Kappy Kellogg and Phi Gam Bob Miller, who sealed the vows today.

Two big deal formals last night were those of the Sigma Chi's at the Cornhusker and then again the one at the DG house. There's such an abundance of news these days, the whole paper would be taken up with it . . . mass picnics, thrilling coke dates, serenades nightly, softly "lit" formals . . . see what I mean.

After a hectic week of packing and unpacking, Gordy Ehlers is now back in school to stay. It seems he was in a hurry to get on active duty, but the naval bureau changed his mind and sent him back to school in the V-12 (S) program for dents. Now Gordy has his own meaning of V-12: "Victory in 12 years or we fight."

At about this stage of this "game we're playing," one begins to wonder precisely what these rings mean in terms of—well, just in "terms"—but another one of those things about which we had "best" say no more.

"Rumor or more than a rumor?" is what might be said of this much talked about engagement of Doug Nelson to an AOPi at Iowa City . . . (and just when the poor boy isn't even here to defend himself, too!) . . . And how's about Bob Havens, whiz kid of Delta Tau Delta, and a certain beauty from Omaha? After a "with all my love" picture like yours, we definitely look for fewer 90's, "Bub."

Have to leave on that one, but have you heard . . . about the moron who thought he was magic and walked around the corner and turned into a drug store . . . and then about the girl who could speak in 18 languages but unfortunately couldn't say "no" in any one of them . . . Great life in college, huh? Bye . . .

Battle . . .

ing confidence as to the outcome of the race.

BUT, overconfidence is the basis of all evil, quoth some disillusioned Nebraskan writer! Remember, dear theater, the odds are with you in the number of men needed, but against you in time required. University Singers have gone all out for recruiting and their big selling point is two hours a week in comparison with the theater's ten to 15 hours a week. Beware, although the chorus has a 50 man quota to fill, they are dangerously close to your tail!

So goes the campus race for civilian manpower. Here's hoping it ends in a tie, with each organization filling its quota. We will wait with anticipation the outcome, which will be witnessed at the University theater Feb. 16, 17 and 18 and at the spring program of the University Singers in March.

"Turn up shirt collars before washing them . . ."

This fella has the right idea—it's just his technique that's a little sour. Shirt collars will last much longer if they are turned up before being sent to the laundry, for then the crease around the top doesn't get such heavy rubbing and consequently lasts longer before fraying.

Another fine point to remember—when you need new shirts, whether military or civilian, buy Arrow. They live up to their fine reputation for lasting wear and perfect fit. Don't forget the Sanforized label, which guarantees fabric shrinkage less than 1%.
