

Huskers Nudge K.S., 54 to 47

Artman, Kirlin Star; Aggies Bid Too Late

Led by Al Artman's 18 points and the outstanding defensive play of newcomer Al Kirlin, Nebraska's Cornhuskers bopped Kansas State by a 54-27 count at the coliseum Tuesday night to notch their first conference victory of the season.

The KsStaters jumped away to an early lead, holding a 13-6 margin after nine minutes of play, but the Scarlet pulled to a 14-14 tie on baskets by Artman, Nelson, and Hollins and a brace of free throws by Kirlin. With Artman and Kirlin leading the way the Huskers built a 23-16 half-time margin.

Aggies Rally.

Artman sifted thru the Wildcat defense for set-ups time and again as the second period opened, and the Huskers ran their lead to 40-21 after six minutes had ticked off. Kansas State began to close the gap, however, and when the game ended the Scarlet margin had shrunk to 54-27 under the withering rally staged by the Aggies.

The two Al's, Artman and Kirlin, were easily the best for the Huskers, who showed more scrap and drive than at any time this season. Gish led the Wildcat scorers with 21 markers.

Second Guessing

With the start of the second semester, Coach Ad Lewandowski is juggling his Cornhusker cagers in hopes of a change of luck. The victory-starved Huskers have been bolstered by the addition of Al Kirlin, ex-Northeast High ace, and Coach Lewandowski has revamped his starting line-up to make room for big Al. Another tall boy, Bert Gissler, has checked out basketball togs and is looming large in Lew's plans for the rest of the cage campaign.

Both Kirlin and Gissler shine on the gridiron as well as the court. Al was an all-state end last season at Northeast High, and big Bert, whose 6'7" height bars him from the armed forces, was a regular Husker wingman in the grid season just past. Kirlin was also outstanding as a track and field performer while at Northeast.

Oklahoma's Sooners and the Cyclones from Iowa State clash at Norman this Saturday in what may prove to be the most crucial game of the entire Big Six cage campaign. Neither the Sooners nor the Cyclones have been defeated in conference play and both have met and defeated some of the top teams in the Midwest on their non-conference schedules. The game Saturday should be a real set-to, with both squads realizing that a victory may well clinch the conference crown for them. Sticking my neck out a bit, I'll pick the Sooners to trim the boys from ISC. (I'm going against the advice of my best counselor in this choice—Mabel thinks the Cyclones will win a breeze.)

ODDS AND ENDS: The Major Harris C. Andrews cited in recent press dispatches as head of photo intelligence at an advance air base in the South Pacific is the same Harris Andrews who played tailback on Husker grid squads in the late 1930's. Andrews is remembered by Husker fans as one of the best passers in recent Nebraska football history.

The Hawkeyes of the University of Iowa continue to lead the Big Ten title chase and rank as one of the top clubs in the nation. Led by Dave Danner and Dick Ives, the Hawks edged past Indiana's Hoosiers for a twin victory last week-end. The double victory ran the Iowans conference win-string to six straight.

Return of Kratz Ups Cinder Squad Hopes

Husker track stock took a sudden rise this week with the word that Dean Kratz, sole returning letterman, will not be lost to the armed forces. Slated for induction, Dean failed to pass the physical because of defective vision and and consequently will be available for the indoor season.

Kratz, who will run both the quarter-mile and the half-mile in indoor competition, is rounding into form and has several speedy quarters to his credit in recent work-outs, with 53.2 his best recorded time to date. Third-place winner in the half-mile in last year's Big Six outdoor championships, Kratz is a sure point-getter for the Scarlet.

The work of Norval Barker, frosh hurdler, has brought further smiles to the face of Coach Ed Weir. Barker, who has yet to taste intercollegiate competition, is showing exceptionally good form, according to Weir. An 8.1 flight of 60 yard highs has featured Barker's work-outs.

Hollins Shows Promise.

Lavern Curry, quarter-miler, and Buzz Hollins, who is working out with the shot-put in addition to handling his cage-squad duties, also show promise, says Weir. With more grooming, both boys should develop into point-getters.

Fijis Trounce YMCA; Husker Co-op Wins

In intramural basketball January 20, the Phi Gams defeated the Y. M. C. A. 34-18, and the Cornhusker Coop. defeated the Beta Sigs 24-14.

Phi Gam-Y. M. C. A.

The game was close all through the first half. The Phi Gams were playing slow and deliberate ball. The score at the half stood 12 to 12.

In the second half the Phi Gams started to click and the baskets rolled in. They played a fast game, passing the ball in under basket and making short set shots. The final score found the Phi Gams in the lead, 34 to 18.

Cornhusker Coop—Beta Sigs.

The Cornhusker Coop. soon took the lead in their game with the Beta Sigs. The score stood 14 to 8 in favor of the Coop. at the half.

The Coop. widened the margin in the second half, while the Beta Sigs scored but six points. The final gun found the Coop. on top, 24-14. Roberts of the Coop. led the scoring with 10 points.
