Boucher, Wenke Broadcast Tuesday

From Lincoln Journal.

CHANCELLOR BOUCHER.
... Broadcasts Charter Day.

Breaking tradition, the university will celebrate its 75th Charter Day on Tuesday without the usual convocation. The only outstanding event of the day will be a 15-minute statewide radio broadcast by Chancellor C. S. Boucher and Judge A. E. Wenke, president of the alumni association.

Boucher Answers Questions.

The chancellor will answer such questions as "Does the army program overshadow the civilian program?" "What types of change will be made in university programs following the war?" "What about shorter courses?" "What is the attitude toward athletics in the postwar period?" and "During the last decade, what has been the most serious problem of the university?"

Since the beginning of classes of the university on September 7, 1871, the university has 59,000 former students and graduates, and has granted

34,512 degrees, according to the January issue of the Nebraska "Alumnus" which signalized the approaching three-quarter mark of the university by publishing a six-page history of the university.

Alums Plan Celebrations.

Many alumni organizations plan to observe Charter Day. The New York Alumni club is planning its Charter Day meeting and dinner to be held at the Henry Hudson hotel. The Kansas City alums plan a dinner at the Green Parrot inn.

Altho Chancellor Boucher left for Chicago last night to attend a meeting of a special committee of the National Association of State Universities, appointed to study some of the major problems of state universities in the war and postwar periods, he will return Tuesday morning in time for observances of Charter Day and the meeting of the Nebraska Foundation.

Miller Award Applications Due March 11

Applications for three scholarships valued at $750.00 given in honor of the late Donald Walters Miller must be submitted to the D. W. Miller Scholarships Committee by March 11. Students of either sex with above freshman standing are eligible to apply.

Recipients of the awards must have shown special or exceptional ability. They will not be selected on scholastic record alone but their aims, character, temperament and financial needs will be taken into consideration. Selection is to be made from undergraduate, graduate and professional colleges and schools of the university.

Application forms may be obtained from the offices of the deans of the respective colleges and undergraduates must file their applications with those deans. Graduate students will file their applications in the graduate office. A letter from the student should accompany each application giving a detailed statement concerning his educational and professional objectives and any further information that the student thinks worthy of special consideration.

Nominations should be in the hands of the college deans by Saturday, March 11. Each of the colleges and schools may recommend two students to the scholarship committee and these must be in by March 25.

Prairie to Campus

Two years after the state of Nebraska was admitted to the Union, the university was chartered. The date was Feb. 15, 1869. The following fall the first classes convened in University hall with a faculty of seven and a student body of 20.

Since the time when the campus was only four blocks of prairie land on the outskirts of Lincoln, 34,512 students have received degrees from the university and more than 59,000 students have been enrolled in one of its various colleges.

Today the campus has grown to about 75 acres and holds membership with some of the highest accredited organizations in the country. There are now 33 buildings on the city campus; the ag campus is 320 acres and had 25 buildings, and the college of medicine in Omaha, which was opened in 1883, has nine buildings.

NU Alums Win Fame.

Among all state universities Nebraska ranks eighth in number of alumni in "Who's Who." The late Leta Hollingworth, professor of psychology at Columbia, delivered the Charter Day address in 1938, and, in her study of "Who's Who," found that Nebraska ranked third in number of graduates listed.

The first student daily publication appeared in 1893... Innocents society celebrated its 40th anniversary last June... the Mortar Board chapter began its history as the "Black Masque" in 1905... in 1918 there were 1,780 trainees assigned to the campus... in October, 1943, 138 professors and department heads were in government or war service... in January, 1942, the Student Foundation was founded... the gates of the old campus fence stand at 14th and R and 12th and R... the greatest rally was in 1923 before the Notre Dame game with a torch-light parade extending from the campus to the Lincoln hotel... until 1907 the university annual, now known as the "Cornhusker," was called "The Sombrero"... there are now 11 colleges and five schools in the university.
