Sig Eps Take Pioneers; Y Downs Husker Co-op

In the intramural basketball games played Tuesday night, the Sig Eps trounced the Pioneer Co-op, 24 to 10, and the Theta Xi won out over the Sigma Nu-Z.B.T. combination 23-22.

In the games Thursday night, the Phi Gams lost to the Beta Sigs, 20 to 17, while the YMCA swamped the Cornhusker Co-op, 32-9.

Sig Ep—Pioneer Co-op.

The Sig Eps started the game by scoring a basket on the tip-off. The Pioneer Co-op couldn't seem to find the basket and the Sig Eps were getting the rebound off the back-board, and using the fast break to gain a 13-to-5 lead at the end of the half.

The second half found the Sig Eps still scoring on their fast break, and the Pioneer Co-op caging only five points in the last half. The final score stood: Sig Eps 24, Pioneer Co-op 10.

Theta Xi—Sigma Nu-Z.B.T.

The Theta Xi—Sigma Nu-Z.B.T. game was one-sided from the opening minutes until the half-time whistle. The Sig Nu-Z.B.T. combine held a ten point lead at the end of the first half but could not keep it as soon as the Theta Xis opened a basket barrage in the second half. With one minute left to play, the Sig Nu—Z.B.T. held a one point lead. Swiggert caged a shot and the Theta Xis took the one point lead. Before the Sig Nu-Z.B.T. team could bring the ball in bounds, the whistle sounded, with the final score being: Theta Xi 23, Sigma Nu-Z.B.T. 22.

Beta Sigs—Phi Gam.

The Beta Sigs got the jump on the Phi Gams with an opening whistle two-pointer. They held the lead all through the first half by playing the ball carefully and working it in under the basket. The score at the half was Beta Sigs 10, Phi Gams 7.

The second half found the Beta Sigs still scoring from under the basket and the Phi Gams still not hitting. In the last five minutes the Phi Gams gave a final drive, trying to gain the lead, but the Beta Sigs caged four points to end the game, 20 to 17, in their favor.

Kirlin Tops UN Scorers With 14

By Pfc. Mac McKinnon.

Kansas University's navy-spiked basketball squad sank Nebraska's hard-fighting cagers last night, 56-47. Despite the loss of three key men, Coach Ad Lewandoski's team stayed close behind the Jayhawks, and put on a last minute rally that kept the crowd roaring. Al Kirlin's brilliant one-handed shots from all over the court enabled him to take top honors as the Cornhuskers high scorer with 14 points. Leading man for the Jayhawks was Don Barrington, with 21 points.

Moffett sank the first basket of the game, and then after Nebraska had tallied, he swished another to put the Jayhawks in the lead which they never relinquished. At the half, Kansas led 28-19.

Kansas Leads

Both squads turned on the heat in the second quarter, with both Kirlin and Barrington being ejected for fouls in the final minutes. Fast, accurate passing enabled Kansas to get inside the Huskers' close guarding; neither team using the quick-break type of play usually featured in the midwest conferences.

Basketball tournament begins this next week with the contests posted on Monday.

"This ought to be one of the best tournaments of the year because of the great enthusiasm," said Mickey McPherson, WAA secretary.

With three Gamma Phi teams in the contest it looks as if the Phis are out to join the victory parade.

The Delta Gammas with two wins and Raymond Hall with one win had better be prepared to protect their leads. One loss and the team is eliminated.

One wonders if there's any connection between the basketball tournament and the AWS First Aid classes beginning relatively at the same time.

Because the pool was drained, next Saturday will be the last practice day, instead of yesterday, for those who want to enter the swimming tournament.

Cook's Cagers Raze Raiders, Winning 58-30

Cook's cagers copped the cookies yesterday, afternoon in the coliseum, as they rode to an easy victory over A Company's Raiders, 58-30. Ellis Jessen and Bunny Fuller led the scoring with 13 and 11 points respectively, Alman Olivera following with nine.

The Green took an early 15-3 advantage which was never threatened. After the score had mounted to 44-23, in the second half, both teams hit a ten-minute scoreless slump. Half-time score: 33-19.
