

75 ASTs Win Blue Stars

Awarded to Top Ten Per Cent

Seventy-five members of Nebraska's ASTP have been awarded the "Blue Insignia Star" for having achieved high scholastic honors. These stars were given to those in the top 10 percent academically last term.

The order awarding these insignia stated that the trainees were "reported to the commandant by educational authorities as having achieved an honor status scholastically and having further been commended by their respective company commanders military efficiency. For their meritorious service" they will receive the "Blue Insignia Star."

Army to Find 'Important Jobs For AST Men

AST students, released from the ASTP program in the near future for duty with the Army Service Forces, will not be dissipated on unimportant assignments which do not utilize their skills, it was stated in a recent order from Lt. Gen. Brehon B. Somervell, chief of SOS, concerning the assignment of ASTP personnel.

The order called to the attention of Commanding Generals of ASF Replacement Training Centers where ASTP students are being sent that these men were selected for ASTP training because of their previous education and high intelligence rating. "They have since received varying degrees of training at the college level at a considerable expense to the government.

This group must not be dissipated on unimportant assignments which do not utilize their skills," the order read. "Their potential value to the service as technicians, non-commissioned officers and, in many cases, officers," the order went on to state, "must be exploited."

Dinner Given For Army I-M Court Teams

Finale to a successful army intramural basketball season was staged last night, when the University Athletic department feted the players and coaches of the five army teams with a dinner at the Cornhusker hotel. Members of the champion Company C aggregation, B Company's runnersup, the 348th CTD team, the Field House and A Company were all present, along with their coaches.

Dr. Raymond G. Clapp, director of physical education for men; William H. Browne, assistant director, and A. J. Lewandowski, Nebraska basketball coach, headed the athletic department guests. Other members of the staff who attended the dinner were Mr. Armstrong, Mr. Knight, Mr. Davis, Mr. Beck, Mr. Higgenbotham, Mr. Davis, and Mr. Reid.

Company CO's Present. Other army guests were the commanding officers of the participating units, Lieutenant Smith of Company C, Lieutenant Burglund for Company B, Lieutenant Yoxheimer of A Company, Lieutenant Schaffer from the Field House, and Lieutenant Connors of the Air Corps detachment.

The dinner was held at 7 o'clock, and was followed by informal speeches. The intramural basketball season produced some very good basketball, and revealed much talent in the army units on campus. Competition was close and hard fought all season, with Company C showing the way with a 10-and-2 record in the three round robins.

AST Chorus Holds Concert Sunday Afternoon in Union

Nebraska's AST chorus will present a concert this Sunday afternoon at 3 p. m. in the Student Union ballroom. Donald A. Smith, a music major graduate of Oberlin will direct the chorus, and Robert T. Henry will be the accompanist.

The program will climax several months of nightly practices by the soldiers in the third floor study hall of Love Library, in their own free time. The choir was organized and advised by Sgt. Dayton Smith, formerly on the music staff at the University of Nebraska.

The program will include, "Adoramus Te Christe" by Palestrina, two songs by Bach, "Break Forth O Beauteous Heavenly Light" and "My Chosen King Is Christ the Lord," along with Romberg's "Soldiers of Fortune," "Ye Bands and Braes O'Bonny Doon" by Vogrich, and "I Love a Parade" by Arlen.

Donald R. Frey will be soloist with the chorus in a performance of Grieg's "Landsighting." Both Smith and Henry will also present a group of piano solos. The concert will be open to the public at no charge, and soldiers especially are invited to see the AST chorus in action.

The members of the chorus are: Earl Lampshire, Paul Margelli,
