

Grid Movies To Be Shown At Coliseum

... Friday Night

A football movie, featuring the highlights from the top collegiate games of the 1943 season and complete pictures of UN's tussle with Stanford in the 1941 Rose Bowl game, is scheduled for the coliseum this Friday, March 24, at 6:45 p. m. The show will be open to the public free of charge, according to Ed Weir, under whose direction the program is being held.

Pictures of Rose Bowl contest, in which the Huskers yielded to Stanford's Pacific Coast conference champions 21 to 13 after a bitterly-fought game, will be supplemented by scenes from the Tournament of Roses parade, colorful pre-game spectacle in which the UN varsity band held a featured spot. The Rose Bowl game pictures will cover the entire contest, while the shorter collegiate highlights reel will feature outstanding bits of actions from the nation's top college games of the 1943 season.

Coach Weir announced that spectators will view the programs from the south balcony of the coliseum.

Handball Tourney Starts This Week In I-M Competition

A handball tourney will be held from March 20 to 31. Matches can be played anytime between the above mentioned dates.

Rules for tourney:

1. Each organized house must play one doubles match and two singles matches.
2. Each organized house should make arrangements with its opponents as to time of play.
3. Handballs will be furnished in the cage, but players must have their own gloves and other necessary equipment.
4. All results must be turned in at the cage in the coliseum. A chart will be posted there for results of matches.
5. Points will be given for each match won.

There is a strong possibility that an intramural swimming meet and also a track meet will be held in the very near future. All houses should voice their opinion in regard to these events as soon as possible.

Second Guessing

with Harold W. Andersen

Husker Head Coach Ad Lewandowski regards the recent state high school basketball tournament as a heartening indication that UN athletics will be able to carry on despite the war. Lew's reasoning proceeds along these lines: Among the hundreds of splendid young athletes who participated in the tourney, there were a great many who will wish to put a year of college behind them before they become old enough for service in the armed forces. Of these youths, Lew reasons, many will choose to attend UN, since the majority of Nebraska high school athletes have always displayed a keen desire to attend their state university and play with Husker teams. Thus, in Lewandowski's eyes, UN teams can continue to depend on athletes from the high schools of Nebraska to keep Scarlet and Cream colors high, despite the war.

We see eye to eye with Lew on this matter. There seems to us to be no reason why the traditional fine crop of athletes from the high schools of the state should not continue to enroll at the University each fall. With these youthful athletes seasoned by a sprinkling of draft-deferred veterans—as was the case with this year's football, basketball, and indoor track teams—UN should continue to field fighting athletic teams, teams which bring nothing but credit to the University, no matter what their won-lost records.

We agree with Lew, too, when he says that a great share of the credit for the high caliber of UN teams through the years belongs to the high school coaches of the state. The high school coaches, says Lewandowski, annually turn out a crop of skilled, well-trained athletes.

Few of these youths, of course, are completely ready for collegiate competition, but they have the necessary background of fundamentals upon which Husker coaches can build. Upon Nebraska high school athletes and their coaches, thus, concludes Lew, rests much of the future hope of Husker sports.

Minnesota Teams End Winter Slates

MINNEAPOLIS.—Three Minnesota teams have completed their winter schedules with all boasting better than average success for the season's efforts.

Coach Niels Thorpe and his swimmers duplicated their record of last year by finishing the season undefeated in dual competition. The Gophers scored victories over Lawrence, Wisconsin, Iowa State and Iowa in order and placed third in the Big Ten championships held at Evanston, the same position won last year.

Outstanding performances were turned in by the three lettermen, Sam Solhaug, Don Fraser in the swimming events and Verne Ruostalainen in diving. The latter went through the season undefeated in dual competition and placed second in the conference meet. He undoubtedly will add to his laurels when he competes in the National Collegiate meet to be held at Yale the latter part of March. Coach Thorpe predicts that he has an excellent chance to finish among the first three in this top attraction of the year for collegiate divers.

Hockey Draws Fans.

Gopher tankmen compiled a season point total of 190 points to 145 for their opponents.

Coach Larry Armstrong and his hockey team were forced to forsake collegiate circles this season in order to arrange a schedule. Because of existing travel conditions and restrictions it was impossible to schedule schools, that in the past have appeared against Minnesota in the ice sport. As a result, names of old friendly rivals such as Michigan, Illinois, Dartmouth, Yale and Michigan Tech were absent from the list of opponents.

To compensate for the scarcity of intercollegiate rivalry the Gophers played a schedule consisting of two Canadian teams, the St. James Club of Winnipeg and the Port Arthur Griffens, a team composed of navy men serving aboard the H.M.C.S. Griffen. To round out the schedule for the year the hockey team took the ice against three Minneapolis Park League teams composed of former professional and college stars.

A season record of six wins and five losses was compiled in playing this tough competition, making this the 13th year that a Minnesota hockey team has finished the season with better than a .500 average.
