Sig Chi Drops Corn Cribbers In Finals

BY REX STOTTS.

The finals of intramural basketball found the Sig Chis winning the first place bracket from the Corn Cribbers 25-23 in an overtime game. The Brown Palace defeated the Phi Gams 18-16, the consolation bracket.

Sigma Chi—Corn Cribbers.

In the first half the Sigma Chi team played hard ball and built a big lead over the Cribbers. Half-time found the Sig Chis on top, 17-9.

In the second half the Corn Cribbers staged a scoring drive and closed the gap between them and their opponents. Keller, the Cribbers' tall center, followed the shots of his team mates to lead the rally. The final gun found the score knotted at 23-23.

In the 3 minute over-time both teams played careful ball, waiting for a chance to make a sure shot. In the closing seconds the Sig Chis gained possession of the ball and Tidd scored the winning basket. The final score stood Sig Chis 25, Corn Cribbers 23.

The Brown Palace—Phi Gam game was close all the way. Both teams missed many good shots and had trouble hanging onto the ball. The score at the half stood 7-7.

The Phi Gams gained a four point lead early in the third quarter, but with four minutes left, Nigh, Fiji guard, fouled out. As the Phi Gams had no substitutes they finished the game with four players. The Brown Palace closed the gap and scored a last bucket in the final seconds to cinch the game 18 to 16.

Utah to Replace Arkansas Five In NCAA Meet

Utah university has replaced Arkansas in the National Collegiate Athletic Association's western basketball playoffs, joining Iowa State, Missouri, and Pepperdine college of Los Angeles in the meet, scheduled for Kansas City tonight and Saturday.

Arkansas' withdrawal from the meet early this week had left tournament manager Reaves Peters with but three teams for this week end's games. Peters was set to hold the tourney without a fourth team. But as a last resort he invited Utah to participate, and the Utes accepted.

Iowa Refuses Again.

Utah had previously passed up the Kansas City tourney to participate in the Madison Square Garden invitational meet, where Kentucky eliminated the Utes, 46-38, Monday night.

Utah's acceptance followed closely Iowa university's third refusal to send a team to the K. C. tourney. Peters had asked Iowa already in and out of the meet twice, to reconsider their second refusal. But Hawkeye Athletic Director E. G. Schroeder Tuesday informed Peters that Iowa no longer had a team with which to enter the tourney.

Cyclists Meet Pepperdine.

Peters then contacted the Utes, who agreed to come to Kansas City direct from New York and their unsuccessful participation in the Madison Square Garden tourney.

First round games tonight pit Missouri, third place winner in the Big Six, against Utah, and Big Six champion, Iowa State, against Pepperdine college.
