

Coeds' Weekend Includes Dates, Dances, Game

BY NINA SCOTT.

Please don't anyone throw anything . . . a barn dance, a picnic, or a pin . . . that is, unless you want your name in print . . . truth is stranger than fiction . . .

The University club was popular Friday night . . . Alpha Phi's Jean Kolezar and Amy Brown were there with two officers . . . also, Theta's P. Chamberlain, Gerry Anderson, Butch Winter and Jean Rogers around a round table with more of the same . . . Sig Alph "Rick" Steen had a date with KKG Mary Jean Fisher . . . they were seen with DG Kay Detweiler and Lt. Roger Garey, Sig Alph . . . at the same location were Alpha Phi's Jan Campbell and Sadie Hawkins with ATO's Jim Nicola and John Mason . . . all this on Friday night, too . . .

Houses Open Doors.

Open Houses at all of the houses held Saturday afternoon's interests after the big game . . . The Turnpike's popularity has not been forgotten . . .

The Pi Phi Strain twins were out with uniforms too over the week end . . . Friday afternoon having a coke date were DG pledge Patsie Winter and ATO Van Duling . . .

ATO's Have Dinner.

The ATO dinner Sunday will see Theta pledge Pat Colton with Eugene Deeter . . .

What is the story on Jack Yeager giving his Beta pledge pin to Ella Burkett, Kappa pledge???

Congratulations to the brand new cheer leaders and to Bernie Urich who should help them yell us on to victory . . . with malice toward none . . . you love it!

Book Nook News

Two new books, "The Land of Prester John" by Elaine Sanceau and "Mr. Tompkins Explores the Atom" by George Gamow, have been added to the Alcove to interest readers of travel, adventure, science, and history.

For those who read tales of travel and faraway places, "The Land of Prester John" will be especially enjoyable. The story of Prester John, legendary ruler of an undiscovered country, is the story of a region as fascinating to the early Europeans as the mountains of the moon and nearly as inaccessible. Not until the late 15th century did Prester John pass from the realm of legend to assume his place as a potential ally against the Portuguese in Ethiopia. The chronicle is highlighted by fabulous tales of a queen marooned on a mountain fortress approachable only by means of a pulley basket and of a lofty hermitage inhabited only by mummies. "The Land of Prester John" is a book which describes a curious, almost forgotten, bypath of history.

Mr. Tompkins, the modest bank clerk of "Mr. Tompkins in Wonderland," is now happily married and in this book Mr. Gamow takes him and his wife through the processes of learning about the atom. Mr. Tompkins learns the mysteries of atomic nucleus by watching the tricks performed for him by an unusual person who seems to resemble Gepetto in "Pinocchio;" he goes dancing with an atom of chlorine and is annihilated in the encounter with a murderous positron. Through Mr. and Mrs. Tompkins' experiences Professor Gamow translates into everyday language the vast store of information now available concerning the atom.
