

AS I SEE IT

The Husker trackmen depart for Columbia, Mo. tonight to meet the Tigers in a dual meet which will be held in the Tiger lair Saturday night at 8:00. The Huskers, fresh from their indoor victory over the Kansas Jayhawkers, last Saturday in Lincoln, will be trying for their second win in as many starts. Coach Ed Weier has indicated that he will use the same men he used last week to upset the Kansas. Here's the wish of the sports staff for another victory, Ed, we are sure that you will bring home the bacon.

Speaking of the sports staff, it consists of, besides ye editor, Dick Dilsaver, last semester's editor and Dan Baker, a discharged serviceman from David City.

It appears to me that it's now or never for Oklahoma's roundball runts. In the Big Six conference race.

Within the next two weeks Coach Drake's tikes should pretty well find out whether they are going to sit in the drivers seat or just ride second class behind.

First the mighty runts clash with the surprise club of the league, Coach Fritz Knorr's Kansas State Wildcats. On Tuesday the 13 of February the runts tackle Phog Allen's Jayhawkers, at Lawrence, and on the following Saturday, the 17th, the runts meet Iowa State at Ames. These games will either make or break the Sooners, and it is my guess that it will make them champions of the league.

Speaking of the K-Staters, for the first time in the 16 year old history of Big Six conference basketball, that a Kansas State team is very much in the championship picture. It is a great tribute to Coach Knorr and his Wildcats to have accomplished this with only civilians especially when three of the teams in the league are using navy personal.

The best business in the post-war world according to almost all the sports authorities will be the aircraft industries. It seems like every college will have a fleet of planes to take all their athletes to the field of battle. The morale of this fable is: Invent a plane with a basketball court in it and make a million.

K-State Bops Tigers, 50-29

Kansas State killed Missouri's hopes and took over sole possession of third place in the Big Six basketball race here Monday night by defeating the Tigers 50 to 29.

The Tigers had a decidedly cold night, netting only two field goals in the entire second half while lanky Dave Weatherby and Bill Schultz, Wildcat forwards, led a 24-point Kansas State barrage after intermission.

Steady shooting by Weatherby, Center Jack Kincheloe and Guard Dick Spencer gave Kansas State a 26-17 margin at the half.

Nine minutes of the last half had elapsed before Harold Weir finally connected for Missouri's first field goal.

John Heimburger shared the only other Missouri two-pointer of the period seven minutes later.

The victory gave Kansas State its third win in the conference against two losses. The Tigers have lost three and won two.
