Golden Opportunity . . .

The drive to rid the campus of dandelions is rolling in high gear. Well-planned and well-organized, the clean-up campaign was launched Wednesday when a letter explaining the object and organization of the drive was dispatched to the presidents of the various houses on the campus by a special Student Council committee.

The campaign is well under way, but it is still very much in the critical make-or-break stage. The plans are laid, but the actual digging has hardly begun. The responsibility for the success or failure of the drive now rests squarely on the shoulders of the students, working through the organized houses.

Students thus are faced with a rare chance to combine beautification of the campus with a lot of fun. It would be highly regrettable if they failed to take advantage of the opportunity.

We Repeat!

Every semester The Nebraskan receives many excellent Letterlips which it cannot publish because the writers failed to sign their names. A recent letter praising the dandelion campaign, for example, could not be published because the writer used a pen name.

To clear up the obvious confusion on the matter of anonymous letters, The Nebraskan states once again its long-standing policy: No letters-to-the-editor will be published in The Nebraskan unless they are signed with the writer's legal signature. The Nebraskan adheres to this policy on the principle that any person desirous of airing his views in the columns of a newspaper should have the moral courage to identify those views as his own.

On Friday, April 20, Ernest Harrison, of the school of music faculty, was a judge for the state-district II contest in Fremont.

Ragged Edges

BY NINA SCOTT.

The edges certainly are ragged . . . frayed would be more like it . . . when people don't even know what they're doing or what other people are doing, its time for investigation . . . guess the scouts will have to be let loose . . . FBI meaning Foolish Betas Incorporated . . . They're the ones who don't even need hunting dogs . . . they just scream MUSH ad excelsior from there . . .

A new "Little Girl so Tender and True" is Gamma Phi Jody Lehman who has climaxed a steady since September affair with DU Nelt Freisenborg by letting him pin his pin on her . . .

Yellow Weeds Leave.

Today is the day those stinkin' yellow weeds leave their cozy campus homes and weigh in to judge who will be the Dandelion Queen and King . . . California has its Roses and Nebraska to be ingenious has its precedent . . .

The BQ's standing for PLENTY are to be presented tonight at the dance . . . according to Myra Colberg . . . Towne club is having a dance tomorrow night . . .

Intrafraternity dance yet! Three Gamma Phi's with intentions of dancing are Shirlee Hammond, Mavis McMurray, and Donna Eilers . . . Their inviters are DU Jim Tagader, Sig Ep Don Munson, and Lt. Roy Gean . . .

They deliver the goods!

"Tanker out of control on port bow," the lookout telephones to the officer on the bridge. Ever alert, this merchant seaman and his mates transport mountains of materials to every battle front. In spite of fog, storms and the enemy, they are delivering the tools of Victory.

Until the day of Victory comes, our job at Western Electric is to keep on producing vast quantities of communications and electronic equipment to aid every branch of our wartime services. In this work, many college graduates—both men and women—are serving their country well.

Buy all the War Bonds you can—and keep them!
