

Ivy Day . . .

This year, 13 alumnae of the Innocents society will head the procession opening the ceremonies. No new Innocents will be tapped this year. Appearance of these alumnae, dressed in their traditional red hoods heralds the movement back to normal.

Mortar Boards were first masked on the university campus at the 1905 Ivy Day. "The Order of the Black Masque" seniors choose their successors by placing their masks over a junior girl's head.

Again, all festivities have been telescoped into one afternoon because of the war. Since 1908, until 1942, classes were dismissed on Friday for the celebration and an entire day was filled with various activities.

Daisy Chain.

Adding the daisy chain to the ceremony in 1910, students carried on that tradition. The ivy chain is composed of senior women dressed in white, and the daisy chain is composed of coeds from other classes dressed in pastel colors.

Each year the Mortar Boards choose two freshman, two sophomore, four junior and two senior women as attendants to the May Queen. Pages will be used this year for the first time since 1942 and the entering procession will also include flower girls and the crown bearer.

Junior and senior class presidents, Leslie Glotfelty and Jean Remmenga plant the ivy. Since the ceremonies are being held in the coliseum this year, the two presidents will plant the ivy in a flower pot on the stage, and it will be transplanted to the campus later.

Two more traditions which will return to highlight this year's Ivy Day are in the Inter-Fraternity

Sing and the choosing of an Ivy Day Poet.

Judges for the Ivy Day sing this year will be Mr. Heuman, choir director and an instructor at Northeast high school, and Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Ellsworth. Mr. Ellsworth is the music director at KFOR, local radio station. Mrs. Ellsworth was affiliated with Mu Phi Epsilon, music sorority.

To find simplicity
In life,
Peace rides the winds—
It is God's will,
All pain and restlessness
To still,
"Sweet rush of peace"
Like fairy wings,
The love of those
So dear to me,
So much in life
There is to see,
I must not miss
The gentle things."
This Ivy Day
"In Springtime's arms
We find a perfect peace
From restless thoughts
And all alarms
We find a sweet release."
This plant will climb
Along the wall,
And in its growth
O'er tower us all.
If we fail here
The leaves will fall
As ivy does
Upon the wall.

We plant to show
Winter's release,
Now warmth of friendship
Glow more true
As Maytime's sun rays
Pierce the blue.
Today we rise
Above war's strife
