Army Calls Take Three Off Squad

Reserve strength was the chief concern of Coach "Potsy" Clark as he sent the Huskers through workouts this week. With service calls already removing men from the squad, Clark is preparing for any eventuality by working second and third string men intensively so that future squad losses will not shatter the lineup beyond hope of repair.

At the present time the first string consists of Harlan Cranston and Alec Schneider at ends, Bob Williams and Duane Weimers at tackles, Fred Lorenz and Dean Fredrickson at guards, Dick Short at center, backfield men Chick Story, Mack Robinson, Bill Kinman and Phil Young.

Leaving the squad during the week to join the armed forces were Beno Stransky, Hastings; John Dinzole, Omaha and John Nebbia, Omaha. Many NROTC prospects have found their class schedules too heavy to permit them to remain out for practice, and have dropped football.

Bouche Painting Runs In Sept. 2 New York Times

A reproduction of "Jimmy Savo" by Louis Bouche, one of the two Bouche paintings in the Morrill hall collections, was run in the New York Times theater and art section of Sunday, Sept. 2.

"Jimmy Savo" was purchased by the Nebraska Art Association in April and will be on exhibit in one of the Morrill hall galleries this week, according to Dwight Kirsch, chairman of the university art department.

The subject of the portrait to be on exhibit at Morrill hall is little Jimmy Savo, one of the most celebrated comedians on Broadway, who gained fame during the depression by amateur performances and vaudeville acts.

Studied Abroad.

The artist, Louis Bouche, was born in New York City on March 18, 1896. Later he studied art in Paris and New York. Winner of a Guggenheim fellowship in 1933, he is also recipient of the John Sandford Salters medal and a $2,500 Artist for Victory prize. He won the Carol H. Beck medal at the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts annual last year.

Bouche won a national competition to do a mural for the Department of Interior building's auditorium. He has done other murals for Rockefeller Center, the Whitney Museum of American Art, Phillips Memorial gallery in Washington, D. C. and for the International Music hall.

Five Net Courts Ready: Fall IM Tennis Schedule

Starting immediately on a program to recondition campus recreation facilities, Lou Means, director of student physical welfare, announces that five tennis courts south of Bessy hall have been rolled and lined and are available to all students for use.

However, the courts east of the coliseum have disintegrated so far as to be unusable this fall.

With the courts usable, Means plans a fall intramural tennis tournament as soon as plans are completed. The event will be singles competition only, with doubles and mixed doubles tournaments planned for the spring season.

Coliseum Opens Locker Facilities To Men Students

Good news to students with a hankering for occasional athletic workouts in the coliseum is the news that all UN men will have the opportunity to avail themselves of the locker and cage facilities in the basement of the coliseum, heretofore available only to students in physical education classes.

A full time cage attendant will be on duty and any student paying a towel and basket fee of one dollar per semester may make use of the facilities.

This arrangement will be to the advantage of all participants in intramural sports events, for instead of dressing at their houses as was often the case in the past few years, ample space is available right on the spot.
