Rubinstein Sets Zenith In Concert, Interview

BY SAM WARREN.

Hailing the United States as the world's center of musical culture, pianist Artur Rubinstein charmed reporters Monday with a geniality and graciousness typical of truly great artists. "In Europe there are no orchestras that can compare with the Boston and the Philadelphia," he said enthusiastically. "And it is amazing that almost every large town has its own symphony orchestra. It's wonderful!"

Mr. Rubinstein, whose concert Monday night set for Lincoln a zenith on artistic standards, believes that the public turns to great music in war-times for an emotional outlet and for inspiration. "They go as fervently to concerts as they would go to church!" he remarked. "I once gave a series of 26 recitals within seven weeks in Mexico City. The theater was jammed every time with almost the same audience—and do you know what was going on then? A horrible revolt with someone's being killed every day!" On the other hand,

AUF Inches Toward Goal With $1,667

Still lacking about half the money necessary to reach the $3,000 All University Fund goal, AUF workers had collected $1,667 Tuesday night in the second week of the drive, according to Jan Engle, director.

Stating that donating to the AUF is not an organizational matter but a personal obligation for every student on the campus, Miss Engle added that one fraternity voted in chapter meeting that their members would not contribute to the AUF drive.

"When the drive was forced to continue because of lack of student donation, it was hoped that the goal would be reached the first of this week," Miss Engle stated. "Money can be turned into room 313 of the Union from 5 to 5:30 p. m. every day."

Not Donated.

Organizations who have not yet turned in contributions include one sorority, all fraternities except two, and several organized unaffiliated groups. Booths on ag campus and in the Union are still open to take donations from Lincoln students who will not contact in any other way.

Miss Engle asked that all representatives in organized houses and groups contact all members and secure the $2 donations necessary to go over the top.

Organizations Share.

National War Fund, Nebraskans for Servicemen and World Student Service Fund share proportionately in all receipts of the drive.

Organizations who have voted contributions to the All University Fund drive in addition to those previously listed are:

- Tassels, $5.
- Phi Upsilon Omicron, $10.
- Home Economics Club, $10.
- Mu Phi Epsilon, $6.50.

Architects Elect Grimes As Society's President

New officers of the Architectural society, elected Oct. 5, are Charles H. Grimes, president; Tom C. Donald, vice president; Margaret Baker, secretary, and Jeanne Marchant, treasurer.

Also discussed by the organization were plans for a social meeting to be given soon for all students in the department of Architecture.

"In peace-time people look down on arts—bridge parties are more important!" he smiled.

Two Classes.

When people put music into two classes—the classical and the popular—they are making a big mistake, according to Rubinstein. "There are only two kinds of music," he expounded, "good and bad!" As he sees it there (See RUBINSTEIN, page 4.)

Soccer Weather Proves Too Cold For Spectators

It was during one of those cold, bleak, autumn afternoons after the final class of the day when a few of the fairer sex approached us and pleaded with us to go down to a field "just a little ways away" to watch their sororities battle out a game of soccer.

Being soft-hearted and completely befuddled as to what they meant by the term "Soccer," we tagged along with the hope that it might be an event of "You Sock'er and then I'll Sock'er." Anyhow, we dug up our sheepskins and proceeded down Coliseum-way, freezing as we went.

Fem Squad.

Arrived at the field just in time to see the gals come dashing out of the field house as the band was playing the last strains of "Gotta Be This or That." The high-spirited players were clad in their bright new uniforms that consisted of some of the prettiest dungaree pants (guess they call 'em jeans) rolled up to the knees with a bright plaid shirt to top it off. Personally can't see how anyone could play anything in that (See SOCCER, page 3.)

Public Relations Staff Appoints Bruce H. Nicoll

Bruce H. Nicoll, '35 UN graduate, will assume his duties soon as assistant director of public relations at the university it was announced yesterday.

A former Lincoln newspaperman, Mr. Nicoll enlisted in the army in July, 1942 and served overseas in Europe with the Ninth Air Force as a first lieutenant. After two and one-half years in the European theater, he returned to this country in September.

E. Bartley Migrates from Guam To Poli Sci Class in One Month

BY SHIRLEY JENKINS.

"After spending four years in the Air Corps I can't get used to having time of my own" declared Ernest Bartley, new political science instructor. After hearing his experiences during those four years, I can understand why.

On Aug. 30, 1945, Mr. Bartley was on Guam as a staff officer in the 20th Bomber Command with its headquarters on Guam, and one month later he was teaching political science classes at the university. Still on terminal leave from the army, Mr. Bartley will be discharged on Nov. 17.

During the time he was a staff officer on Guam, he was a member of the planning committee which charted the course of the B-29 carrying the atomic bomb to Hiroshima. "That was the best-kept secret I have ever heard," Mr. Bartley stated. The plane which carried the bomb was stationed on Tinian island and there were as many civilians on the island as army men. FBI

Korb Serves As New Head Of Awgwan

Serving as editor of the Awgwan, Ruth Korb, senior, will begin her official duties this week after being elected to the position by the Board of Publications at a meeting Monday night.

Temporary editor of the first issue, Miss Korb was managing editor last semester. President of Theta Sigma Phi, she is a student council representative and was student business manager of the Prairie Schooner last year.

The Board of Publications also approved the temporary appointment of Dortha Rosenberg as assistant business manager of the Nebraskan.

Morrill Hall Displays Paintings Of Lincoln Artist, E. Ellis Ross

On prominent display in gallery B of Morrill hall is a collection of oil and watercolor portraits painted by Barbara Ellis Ross, Lincoln artist.

Also displayed are two other exhibits, 40 etchings by former Lincolnite Huston Webster and a group of aquatints done by Doel Reet and students at Oklahoma A. and M.

Quentin McChristy, art student at Oklahoma, paints an interesting contrast in black and white in his aquatint of a jalopy parked under a street light with darkness edging in all around the picture. Also done by McChristy is a sketch of dark trees against a white background looking weirdly like twisted fingers.

Contrast.

In contrast to the darker sketches in the loan exhibit is the cheerful work of Elaine Kastings in a picture of the sun flooding a chair and the floor in a barn.

Unaffiliated Men Meet To Discuss IM Athletics

All men wishing to participate in athletic contests separate from intramural activity, will meet in the basement of the coliseum at 5:15 p. m., on Monday, October 15. This competition is not open for men affiliated with an organization that is taking part in intramural games.

men were everywhere and in order to keep conjecture down to a minimum, the rumor was started by the FBI that bombs would be dropped from a plane and controlled by radio. The planning committee of which Mr. Bartley, then Captain Bartley, was a member, charted the route the plane would take without having an inkling of the terrific bomb it would drop.

Lead Navigator.

Mr. Bartley was lead navigator on the first B-29 raid on Tokyo on Nov. 24, 1944. Recalling that day as one of the most interesting he'd ever spent, he described the high winds, up to 165 miles an hour, which met them in Japan. After passing over Fujiyama, they flew right over their target and because of heavy fighter interference could not turn to hit it. The bombs were dropped on the wharf area of Tokyo.

In the briefing session before the flight, all crew members were told not to think of dropping a

NRO Announces Student Officers

Temporary student officers of the NROTC battalion have been announced by Captain Methews, commanding officer of the unit. The men, all upperclassmen, are selected on the basis of their scholastic record and leadership qualities.

J. A. Bruner, a junior from Bloomington, Ind., has been appointed Battalion Commander. He served as Adjutant in the Army ROTC unit at Indiana University, and comes to UN from Great Lakes Naval training station.

Battalion Sub Commander is C. A. Jennings. He is a junior from Detroit, Mich., and has been stationed in Yorktown, Va.

Acting as Battalion Adjutant is M. A. Thomas, a junior from Terre Haute, Ind. Battalion Lieutenant is Bernard A. Dickson, a sophomore from St. Paul, Minn. Howard A. Bradley of Canton, O., is acting as Battalion C.P.O. He is a sophomore.

Company and platoon commanders are:

First Company Commander—G. B. Dalrymple; First platoon, K. S. Halsey; second platoon, R. C. Wilkins.

Second Company Commander—B. H. Suits; first platoon, D. E. Wilson; second platoon, P. M. Sackbauer.

Uni Theatre Offers Two Productions

A charming English couple find themselves caught far in debt with no visible means of support, and thereby hangs a tale. The tale is Noel Coward's delightfully hilarious "Ways and Means," a one-act play to be produced by the University Players Oct. 18.

Scheduled for presentation in intimate theater style, as was used in the summer production "Yes and No," the insane twists of fate which enable Toby and Stella to bolster their flattened purses provide excellent exercise for laugh muscles.

Numerous Complications.

Toby, played by Bill Fein, and Stella, Mimi Hahn, finally make their way out of their difficulties, but not before numerous complications are introduced by Olive, Joanne Johnston; Murdock, Don Ashford; Chaps, Rex Coslor; Nanny, Peg Kirschman; Stevens, Bernard Suits; and Princess Elena, Marjorie Ross. Don Kline directs the play.

Another one-act by Coward, "Hands Across the Sea," is scheduled for presentation the same night.

Cast of Second Play.

Directed by Margaret Hunter, the cast for the second play include: Lord and Lady Gilpie, Jean Bernstein and Bob Hastert; Clare, Margaret Huff; Alastair, Dutch Meyers; Bogey, Dede Meyer; Wadhurst, Dean Wells; Mrs. Wadhurst, Dorothea Duxbury; and Walters, John Kormos.

The plays are included on the season tickets now being sold by Tassels, and the public is invited.

Awgwan Editors Foist First Issue On Students Soon

BY GEORGE TIERNEY SHESTAK.

While vainly trying to read the results of the world series in the grounds at the bottom of my morning cup of coffee I discovered that the Awgwan is about to be thrust on the unsuspecting student body. Not Sunday, Monday, but at the end of the week. Mind you this is just a rumor, and (See AWGWAN, page 2.)

Lorraine Abramson, business manager of The Nebraskan, will pay five cents for each copy of the Wednesday, Oct. 3, issue of the Nebraskan. They may be turned in at the office in the Union basement.

talent of Huston Webster for exact details. The vines on the wall, the panels of the windows, the design of the bricks, all are done clearly and carefully. Creating despair is Webster's "Lucinda Davis." Only the white of her eyes and collar relieve the solid darkness.

Versatile is Barbara Ellis Ross who shows paintings including flowers, portraits, landscapes and street scenes. One of the best is "The Bridesmaid," looking strong minded and perhaps a bit envious. In striking contrast to "The Bridesmaid" is pleasant looking "Kitty" with shining eyes and a cheerful mouth.

Home Economics Club Sponsors Picnic Thursday

All home economics students are invited to a picnic sponsored by the Home Economics club, Thursday at 5 p. m. on lower Ag campus, Monica Ann Alberty has announced.

Miss Margarida Davis, the fellowship student on Ag campus from Rio De Janerio, Brazil, will furnish musical numbers as a part of the entertainment.

Tickets costing 35c are on sale in the Home Economics building.

bomb on the emperor's palace. Some officer asked, "What if there is an accident?" and the reply was, "There will be NO accident." As Bartley's plane flew over the palace, he could see it in his driftmeter and the bombardier was shouting for permission to blow up the palace and Hirohito.

V-J day on Guam was a day not easily forgotten by Mr. Bartley, either. In his words "It was a wild celebration" but it was outclassed by the activities on Iwo jima and Okinawa.

10 Missions.

Before being assigned to duties as a staff officer on Guam, Mr. Bartley flew ten missions to Japan. In addition to that first Tokyo raid, he participated in the second and third raids on Tokyo as well as other Japanese cities.

After Iwo jima and Okinawa were taken by Americans, the job of flying was much safer. Losses were light when compared with (See E. BARTLEY, page 3.)
